GANG MURDER OF REFORM ACE STUNS DETROIT

Green Threatens Bayonet Rule.

Detroit, Mich., July 23.—[Special.]—This city faced a threat of military rule tonight following the gangster assassination of Gerald E. [Jerry] Buckley, militant radio political crusader.

Buckley was shot to death by three gunmen in the lobby of the La Salle hotel early this morning, a few hours after he had exultantly announced the results of yesterday's recall election in which Mayor Charles Bowles was sent out of office by a vote of 120,863 to 89,907.

Buckley had campaigned vehemently against Bowles from his radio rostrum. He was the eleventh man killed by gangster bullets in Detroit during the last 19 days.

Latest Developments

The latest developments in the case tonight were:

1. Gov. Fred W. Green arrived here by plane and ordered all state police in Detroit to investigate the killing independently of the Detroit police. The governor was in conference with Adjt. Gen. John S. Hersey of the Michigan National Guard and announces that "if necessary, I will call out the state troops and bring them to Detroit to stop these assassinations.

2. Three men were held by the police in connection with the Buckley killing. One, Angelo Luecchi, found hiding in an elevator of the hotel shortly after the shooting, is suspected of being the "finger man" for the three assassins who surrounded Buckley and shot him to death as he sat reading a paper. The other two are Jack Klein, a motion picture operator, who was sitting beside Buckley when he was killed, and a third man whom the police refused to name. These two were being held as material witnesses. In addition, police are tonight seeking a woman whose name they know, who is supposed to have telephoned Buckley to bring him to the "spot."

Police Head Blames Blackmail.

3. Police Commissioner Wilcox announced this evening that he believed blackmail was the direct cause of the murder of Buckley. Wilcox said his opinion is backed by an affidavit from a bootlegger who swears he paid Buckley $4,000 for protection. Another man, according to the commissioner, remarked that "Jerry Buckley is going to get his in a few days."

4. Paul Buckley, brother of the slain man, and former assistant prosecuting attorney, said Jerry Buckley was killed because of the part he took in campaigning for the recall of Mayor Bowles. Still another theory held that he was killed to eliminate him as a witness against the assassin who murdered William Cannon and George Colina, Chicago racketeers, in front of the La Salle hotel July 3. Buckley saw that killing.

5. The Detroit city council authorized a reward of $5,000 for the capture of Buckley's slayers and the instigators of the murder, demanded a shakeup in the police department and sharply criticized the record of Commissioner Wilcox. It was expected the reward total would be augmented greatly from other sources.

6. Commissioner Wilcox stated that, beginning immediately, the police will use the mail fist as never before, that every blind pig will be closed; every known gangster will be thrown into a police cell, and that "law violators in Detroit will get the damnedest cleaning in the city's history."

Complicates Special Election.

7. Buckley's assassination was regarded as a disastrous blow to Mayor Bowles in his campaign for reelection about a month hence. He is an automatic candidate under the operation of the recall law. It was conceded in all quarters that the murder of Bowles' principal critic immediately following the recall of the mayor would tend to further weaken Bowles. Meanwhile, the forces behind yesterday's successful recall election were endeavoring to line up all the reform strength behind Alex J. Groesbeck, three times governor of Michigan, as a candidate for mayor. Mr. Groesbeck recently announced his candidacy for the governorship, but intimated tonight that he might be induced to change his plans and run for mayor. City officials were investigating the legality of holding the special mayoralty election Sept. 9, the regular state primary election date, as a means of saving the expense of a special election. In the interim Bowles will continue in office.

How Buckley Died.

Buckley was shot to death less than two hours after he had given his final news of the recall election over the

AMERICA LOSES ONE OF HER GREAT PIONEERS OF THE AIR

2 ON YACHT SHOT BY COAST GUARD; NO LIQUOR FOUND

Woods Hole, Mass., July 23.—(AP)—Coast guard patrol boat 2387 fired upon the yacht Marge off Bourne early today, wounding two of the six men aboard her. Frederick Stone and Daniel Conway, both of New Bedford, received machine gun bullet wounds in the legs. The Marge, owned by Howard Jackman of Salem, was held here pending orders from Boston on a charge of rum running and the men released.

Widely differing versions of the affair were given. Stone, one of the wounded men, declared the patrol boat had flashed its searchlight on the yacht and opened fire with the machine gun without further warning. He said he was a passenger on the Marge, which had just passed through Cape Cod canal bound from Gloucester to New Bedford for repairs.

"It might well have been another Black Duck case," Stone said. "There was no warning, except to flash the light before firing. We had no rum aboard, nor had we had any."

Commander F. A. Nichols of base 18 here expressed regret that the two men were wounded, but asserted the Marge was well known as a rum runner to the coast guard and every effort had been made to halt the craft before firing on her.

GIRL VANISHES DURING SWIM IN LEMONT QUARRY

County highway policemen of the Willow Springs station were dragging the waters of an abandoned quarry near Lemont early this morning in the belief that Miss Catherine Obrenski, 18 years old, 25 West 119th street, was drowned while bathing there last night.

Miss Obrenski, and three friends, Miss Mildred Simmons, 1 West 112th place; Edward Cole, 12041 South Normal avenue; and another youth, went to the quarry early in the evening. Miss Obrenski was not a good swimmer and stayed near shore, while the others went into deeper water. When they returned a short time later the girl had disappeared. Her clothing still lay where she had left it on the bank.

Cole notified Lieut. Carl Wolf of the county highway police, who went at once to the scene. Cole said he thought the girl might have been kidnaped by prowlers, but Lieut. Wolf believed she had stepped off a rocky ledge under water and perished.

Two Convicts Seize Foreman's Auto; Escape

Two convicts, working with a construction crew outside the state penitentiary walls at Stateville, near Joliet, escaped yesterday in an automobile belonging to the foreman. Arthur Dill, 31 years old, sentenced in 1932 from Chicago to ten years to life for robbery with a gun, and Chester Davis, 25 years old, sentenced from Du Page county in 1927 for burglary, are the men who escaped. Both were trusties.

Death Cuts to One Loneliest 5th Av. Family

New York, July 23.—Special.]—Mrs. Rebecca Wendel-Swope, 87, died last Sunday in the summer home of the Wendels at Quogue, L. I., leaving to the last of the six Wendell sisters, Ella, who is 80, an unbroken real estate accumulation of two centuries.

The estate has grown in value to more than $100,000,000 since the first John Wendel left the fur business at the same time as did the first John Jacob Astor, and laid upon his descendants the duty of never buying anything but choice new York real estate and never letting it go.

Mrs. Swope was the only one of the six sisters to escape from this duty as construed by their only brother, John Gottlieb Wendel. He opposed marriage for his sisters on the ground that would disperse the accumulated property and put it under other names than Wendel.

Brownstone Home Stands Still.

He built the four story brick and brownstone house which has stood at 5th avenue at 39th street since 1856. It stands there now as it was built. Lighted by gas, without telephone, dumbwaiter, radio, or phonograph. Shuttered outside on 5th avenue, it has a dusty look that has caused it to be pointed out from sightseeing buses as the "house of mystery."

Beside the house is a yard, enclosed in a high brick wall. It is used only as exercise ground for the Mandel house pets. Surrounded by skyscrapers, this piece of ground alone is valued at $5,000,000.

Arrested Youth Aged There.

To the few who have known the life which went on inside the house it was no other mystery than arrested youth for six sisters who were taught that they must not waste or dissipate their stewardship and that publicity is demeaning. They continued to wear the round sailor hats that were popular in their teens in the '60s and '70s and to make their own clothes without the aid of a sewing machine, always in black, with full skirts cut for hoops. They wore them until shabby. Their brother did not encourage their going to church and he seldom entertained.

Even Rebecca did not decide to oppose him until late in life; then, despite his violent opposition, she married Prof. Luther A. Swope, the son of an old New York family. Thereafter John Wendel discouraged his sisters from going to church.

The only other rebellion occurred in 1899, when Georgiana, at the age of 50, ran away from the country home where the five remaining sisters went with their brother to spend the summers. She appeared at the Park Avenue hotel. The brother had her committed to the psychopathic ward in Bellevue and then had her pronounced insane by a sheriff's jury. She was later released by a writ of the Supreme court declaring her commitment unconstitutional. She sued her brother for $50,000, but the suit was settled out of court.

Two of the sisters, Josephine and Augusta, died before John, whose death occurred in 1915. The administration of his estate revealed that he had, with the consent of his four surviving sisters, carried the titles to all the Wendel property, then valued at about $80,000,000, in his own name.

Mary, Georgiana, and Ella turned to their married sister, Mrs. Rebecca Swope, who seemed to them to have enough of their brother's strong will to qualify her as his successor. She thereafter carried the titles to all the property in her own name for her sisters. In 1925 Mary died. Last year Georgiana died.

Surrounded by the precautions against public notice which her brother had impressed on all his sisters, Mrs. Swope's death last Sunday was not announced, nor was her interment on Tuesday in Trinity cemetery on Washington Heights.

GERMAN FLYER OFF IN TINY PLANE ON FIRST LAP TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 24.—Wolfram Hirth, Germany's premier glider enthusiast, took off at 7 a. m. today on the first lap of his flight to America. A heavy rain was falling. The gas tanks had been filled last night. A tiny hitch in the motor which has bothered Herr Hirth for the last six weeks had been straightened out. Experts examined his carburetor with a set of mirrors and remedied a weakness.

ANTHRAX, ANIMAL DISEASE, CLAIMS A HUMAN VICTIM

John Bloch, 48 years old, 1227 Holt street, a grocery clerk, died last night of anthrax after a one day's illness. His death puzzled physicians. Anthrax, a virulent, febrile disease of cattle, sheep and horses, is rare among humans, except those working in wool or hair or handling the hides of infected beasts.

Dr. J. J. Kearns, coroner's physician, said he did not remember having had an anthrax case before. He was curious as to how Bloch could have contracted the disease. The store in which he worked deals in nothing that could communicate it.

OLIVER RETAINS OFFICE DESPITE PRISON PENALTY

Gets 18 Month Term and $12,500 Fines.

Gene G. Oliver, sentenced yesterday to 18 months in prison for federal income tax evasion, does not face immediate ouster as a member of the board of assessors because of his conviction, according to legal opinion last night. The belief was that unless he voluntarily resigned Oliver would retain his official position at least until he was actually committed to the penitentiary.

Oliver was found guilty on three indictments by Federal Judge Woodward, who tried the case without a jury at the request of the defense.

The Oliver verdict marks the second conviction and the second trial on indictments of more than a dozen individuals on income tax charges in the campaign begun by United States Attorney Johnson. Ralph Capone was convicted two months ago on similar charges.

Gets 18 Months in Prison.

In addition to imprisonment, Oliver was fined $12,500 by Judge Woodward. He was sentenced to 18 months in Leavenworth penitentiary on each of two felony indictments charging willful attempts to evade and defeat income taxes for 1927, and was fined $2,500 on each of those counts.

On a misdemeanor indictment, with three counts charging failure to file returns for 1926, 1927 and 1928, he was fined $2,500 and sentenced to six months in the Du Page County jail on each count, the jail terms to run consecutively, but concurrently with the two prison terms, which are concurrent. This means that Oliver must serve the eighteen months, for if he gets out of the penitentiary on a parole at the expiration of one-third of his term, he still will have to serve the jail terms.

Denies New Trial Motion.

After reading a decision on the case, which had been under advisement, Judge Woodward denied motions of State Senator James J. Barbour, Oliver's attorney, for arrest of judgment and for a new trial. He then imposed sentence and granted a stay of execution until Sept. 15, to permit an appeal.

Judge Woodward found against Oliver in his plea that his apparently large income could be accounted for in gambling transactions, and concluded that the defendant filed belated returns because he knew federal agents were investigating his income.

The decision continued: "Among the items of receipt entered in the bank books were many which the government maintains were bribes paid the defendant as a member of the board of assessors and which the defendant contends were campaign contributions. The line of demarcation between bribery and campaign contributions is tenuous and shadowy.

Attacks Defense Contentions.

"But it is difficult to believe that many of these receipts were for campaign purposes. . . . Particularly is this true as to a certificate of deposit in the sum of $18,731. The defendant claims that this came to him from Butch Douglas [bookmaker, now dead] as the defendan'ts share of winnings at gambling. Without going into detail, the defendant's explanation is so unreasonable and improbable as to be unworthy of credence."

Government evidence showed that this certificate of deposit was purchased by William Nichols with part of $42,000 worth of checks given by Werner A. Wieboldt, merchant, for tax adjustments. On the basis of this evidence, Oliver and Nichols have been indicted by the state grand jury on bribery charges.

Still Retains Office.

Oliver's official status as a result of his conviction was the subject of speculation yesterday among attorneys. According to an opinion given by County Attorney Hayden N. Bell, the conviction does not automatically oust him from office, but the board of review may declare a vacancy.

"According to the Illinois statutes, a vacancy in any public office is created upon conviction of an infamous crime," said Mr. Bell. "But violation of the federal income tax law is not an infamous crime under Illinois laws.

"The state laws further provide that an office is vacated by the violation of an oath, and under this clause the board of review might declare a vacancy, in view of the testimony that Oliver accepted bribes."

Assistant State's Attorney Harry J. Mueller said: "When and if Oliver actually goes to the penitentiary on the federal conviction, his office will be vacated automatically."

Finger Prints Say: No Mixup of the Babies

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A finger print analysis of the three weeks old Watkins and Bamberger babies will be submitted today by Dr. Ferdinand Watzek of the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory before a scientific conference to determine which baby is which. It was learned last night that this analysis will conclude that the babies were not mixed in the Englewood hospital.

Dr. Watzek will report that his fingerprint experiment was successful; that he definitely could trace the parentage of the infants through the prints, and that he found that the Bambergers now have their own child and that the baby the Watkinses now have is their own.

On the Other Hand.

His findings will oppose those of Dr. Gerhardt von Bonin, anatomist and anthropologist of the University of Illinois. Dr. von Bonin reported on Tuesday to Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, health commissioner who called in eight eminent scientists to determine the babies' paternity—that, according to his investigation, "conducted on purely anthropological lines," the parents have the wrong babies.

The babies spent a serene enough existence during their first nine days in the Englewood hospital, and for a few days thereafter in their homes—or in each other's homes, as the case may be.

Discovers the Name Bamberger.

Then one parent, William Watkins, 1619 West 32d street, discovered on his supposed heir's back, a label of adhesive tape marked "Bamberger." Charles Bamberger then found a similar label marked "Watkins," taken from the back of the baby his wife had brought back to their home, 5523 South Paulina street.

Since then, Dr. Kegel has directed many scientific tests under direction of eight consulting experts. There will be compared at 11 o'clock this morning in his office.

The tests by Dr. Watzek and by Dr. von Bonin have been regarded by the other experts as the most important means of identifying the babies.

His Finger Print Theory.

Dr. Watzek's theory, based on an experiment made by a German scientist, but heretofore untried in this country, is that strong tendencies in markings on fingers are transmitted from parent to offspring. His findings in this case may be an important contribution to science, and if the case enters the court it is said it may establish a legal precedent.

Throughout Tuesday night, following hours spent in taking the fingerprints of the squirming, vociferous infants, and all day yesterday Dr. Watzek and an aid, A. J. Mulvaney, toiled on the mathematics and the genetics of the 20 baby fingerprints and the 40 fingerprints of the parents. Sleepless and holloweyed, but excited by their findings, they completed their report last night.

Of the 2,400 possible convolutions, whorls and triangles which one baby might show in his ten finger markings, they found enough of definite kinds on the tiny fingers of the two babies to resemble strongly composite prints of the 20 fingers of each pair of parents. Each baby's patterns differed markedly from the other's.

Dr. Watzek regarded the experiment as definite proof of the babies' identities. Dr. von Bonin, on the other hand, said that his anthropological findings conceivably might be at variance with the facts in the case.

Meanwhile, Dr. Kegel, who is in-

CITIES REDUCED TO STONE PILES; 2,000 INJURED

Rescuers Hunt More Bodies in Debris.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 23.—Southern Italy's earthquake tragedy tonight is assuming proportions of a calamity. The official list of dead extricated from the ruins has now reached 1,000, and this figure is likely to be 2,000 tomorrow. The extent of the tragedy cannot be determined until all towns have been explored. Communications have broken down, with no connections available with some Apennine towns, and airplanes are being used for exploration work.

An appalling toll was taken by the quake at another triangle of towns west of the ruined city of Melfi, it was revealed tonight. These towns are Lacedonia, where it is admitted the number of dead is 300, with 600 injured; Aquilonia, with 300 dead and 500 injured, and Bisaccia, with 50 dead. All three towns have been shaken down to utter destruction in a jumble of stone piles.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 23.—Death and destruction rode over southern Italy today and threw the population into panic. At 1:15 o'clock this morning the entire southern end of the peninsula was rocked like a reed in the wind by the mightiest quake that has visited the country since the Messina disaster in 1908.

Late tonight official reports from provincial authorities had placed the death toll at 533. The list is expected to grow as rescuers find bodies buried in debris and as communications with sections now cut off are restored.

The number of injured is estimated at more than 2,000. Thousands of homes and buildings, including famous palaces and churches, were destroyed.

Quake Centers in Old Volcano.

The quake, the first heavy shock of which was felt at 1:15 a. m., centered around the cone of the spent volcano, Mount Vultura, south of the city of Melfi. This city was destroyed, with casualties of 181 dead and several hundred injured. The nearby city of Ariano was also destroyed, with a death list of ten. In the nearby towns of Montecalvi and Altvilla Irpano 60 were killed.

The town which suffered the greatest loss of life appears to have been Villa Nova del Battista, where 350 persons are reported dead, including Mayor Venuti and his entire family.

The principal areas of the shock were in the provinces of Pugile, Campania, and Basilicata. It was felt, however, as far north as Abruzzi and Molise, where some property damage was caused. The cities of Rome and Naples were shaken up. Four were killed and five injured in Naples. The American consulate at Naples reported this evening that no reports had been received of casualties among Americans, although many tourists are there now.

How Temblor Felt.

I was reading in bed when shortly after 1 o'clock I felt the bed undulate with a movement like a boat rippling on water. The whole house seemed also to sway. The earthquake gave a fearful sensation of helpless uneasiness. It last about 40 seconds, being in three phases, with the most intense phase at the thirtieth second.

Melfi, the city which was destroyed, had a population of 20,000 and is situated in a lateral crater on the slope of Montevulupio, the center of the wine trade. The town was completely destroyed by an earthquake in 1851. The famous castle of Frederick II. there was completely destroyed. Four or five hundred houses were wrecked, including the railway station.

Salerno Cathedral Damaged.

At Rionero the cathedral is crumbling and is likely to collapse at any moment. An orphan asylum at Rionero was shaken, and a woman was killed while heroically trying to shield three children, who perished with her.

At Salerno, on the coast near Naples, the famous cathedral, which dates from the year 1080, was damaged, and numerous other buildings were cracked open.

At Benevento, Bovino, and Troia many houses and factories were destroyed. No damage has yet been reported from the larger towns of Bari, Potenza, Avellina or Tarento.

Another menace in the stricken area is that of thirst. The quake damaged the big Puglie aqueduct, interrupting its source from the river Venusa. Several hundred workmen are seeking to repair it.

Reports from the prefects of the stricken area, and urgent appeals for aid, began to arrive in Rome early this morning along with details of harrowing scenes enacted in the darkness. At the first sensation of the quake, the inhabitants of the small inland towns, who were in bed, rushed screaming into the streets amid crumbling ceilings and walls. The towns were immediately plunged into darkness, for the quake cut off electric currents. Clocks were stopped throughout the region.

Heroic deeds were performed in rescuing people from piles of masonry under the menace of further crumbling walls. Most of the people were in their night clothes. They rushed as soon as possible into the open fields, where they prayed and invoked the power of the saints. Religious processions were formed by priests, with images of saints borne at their head. The people beseeched the saints to stop the disaster.

All day long today troops, laborers, doctors and nurses worked frantically at rescue and evacuation of the victims. Soup kitchens were set up in the ruins of the streets. Tents and shelters were provided for the villagers, who still refused to return to their homes for fear of another quake. Fires started in many places. The sun was blazing hot.

Road Traffic Jammed.

Most of the injured are being taken to Potenza and Foggia, which are jammed with vehicles and soldiers, like the headquarters of military staffs in wartime. Traffic has been held up along many of the roads by crumpled bridges, and everywhere, even late this afternoon, panic prevailed among the peasants.

Along the mountain roads tonight are plying hundreds of motor trucks, ambulances, hearses and motorcycles, carrying away the dead and rushing supplies to the sufferers. Thousands of soldiers are on duty everywhere, keeping the curious away and guarding against ghouls. Pitiful little groups are hovering about the hillsides, mourning lost fathers, sons, wives or daughters, and vainly imploring the saints. They have been stuned into insensibility; some are half maddened and unable to realize the tragedy that has happened: Village priests are going about consoling the victims, carrying spiritual comforts.

Duce Oversees Rescue Work.

The rescue work is being directed by Senator Cremonesi, under personal orders of Premier Mussolini. Il Duce sent him to Foggia this morning with a Red Cross train and 100 royal carabinieri. Undersecretary Leoni of the department of public works was also rushed to the center of the quake zone. Regiments of soldiers, engineers, doctors, nurses, laborers, and firemen are also being hurried to the quake area from Naples, Bari, and Foggia.

Pope Pius, when advised of the disaster, expressed horror and telegraphed the bishop of Melfi to send aid to places in urgent need. He also ordered a relief fund held in readiness by the Vatican.

Naples in Terror.

The streets of Naples were deserted when the first shock was felt at 1:10 a. m. Taxi chauffeurs were still plying the streets when they noticed lamp posts sway. Then the whole city was plunged into darkness.

Immediately the whole city of 1,000,000 people poured into the streets, women carrying their babies. Some were naked, others wore night clothes. The crowds, crying and praying, ran along the steep lanes that run to the upper part of the town.

Huge panic stricken crowds gathered in the open piazzas, as near as possible to the sea, where there was no danger from falling buildings. Some took refuge in automobiles. People ran to houses of relatives to make sure of their safety, and telephone lines buzzed with anxious quests.

Troops Called Out.

Immediately troops were called out to keep order. After an hour or so some measure of calm was restored and when the shocks ceased it was discovered that the damages to buildings had not been as extensive as it was believed. The whole town, however, remained awake all night, not daring to go back into the houses.

By 3 a. m. the city's entire transportation system had resumed operations, enabling persons to get about to make certain of the safety of relatives and friends. The panic was no great because the shock was the most formidable which had been felt in Naples in this generation. The citizens have become used to the activities of Mount Vesuvius in years past.

The undulatory movement of the quake was so strong in Naples that many people reported that they were unable to rise from their beds while it endured. In the more thickly populated quarters women and children ventured into the churches to pray to the Madonna.

Guard Abandoned Homes.

The prefect of Rodesta and the city authorities assembled at 1:30 a. m. at the government building to take measures for watching over abandoned property and to send aid to the injured. The duchess of Aosta rushed to the government building as soon as she felt the shock, and then paid a visit to the hospitals where the killed and injured were taken. The duchess is the wife of King Victor Emmanuel's cousin.

The news of the first to be killed came from Santico street, in the slums quarter, where two were killed and three injured. When the shock came Gaetano Porcelli and his aged mother and daughter were all in bed. The rooms of their home were totally swept away by the falling upper story of the house. His mother and daughter were killed instantly, while Porcelli was saved by a protecting post. He was taken to a hospital, where it was found that he had lost his speech through nervous shock.

Dig Victims from Ruins.

Numerous other houses in the same street collapsed, and police and firemen worked frantically for hours digging people out of the ruins.

In the Via Cassanova, Luigi Pandolfi and his family occupied a house at the end of the street. They tried to save themselves by the stairway, which crumbled under them as they were about to descend. They were later dug out of the ruins, alive. The whole district around the Via Cassanova was terrorized.

Philipo Gervasio told how he was awakened by the shock and saw the walls of his home toppling into the street. He saved himself by jumping from the window, receiving only slight injuries.

At dawn, after more than 300 persons had been dragged from beneath debris, calm was restored to this quarter.

The growing fears in Naples that the quake was a result of recent activities of Mount Vesuvius and presaged a violent eruption by that volcano, were dispelled tonight by Prof. Malladra, the noted volcanologist.

"No fears need be felt about Mount Vesuvius as a result of the earthquake," he declared. "During the night there were no special activities noted about the crater."

This quake has no connection with Mount Vesuvius, Prof. Malladra said, but was caused by telluric commotions under the lower Appenines. Its origin was in a readjustment of the substratas of the earth, he added.

REGION IN ITALY LAID IN RUINS BY EARTHQUAKE

Map shows some of the towns and cities in Italy, where 1,000 were killed, more than 2,000 injured and thousands of buildings wrecked by violent earthquake at 1:15 a. m. yesterday. The list of casualties is expected to grow as rescuers find more bodies buried in debris and as communications are restored with towns now cut off.

The temblor, the most violent since Messina was laid in ruins in 1908, threw southern Italy into panic. People fled into the streets in night clothes and spent the remainder of the night in open spaces, fearing to return to their homes.

Arrow points to Mount Vultura, east of Naples and south of Melfi, around which the quake centered. The latter city of 20,000 was destroyed, with a casualty list of 181 and about 500 injured. Mount Vultura is a spent volcano.

QUAKE RINGS NAPLES CHURCH BELLS; PEOPLE CALL IT "MIRACLE"

NAPLES, July 23.—(AP)—There was widespread comment here today on what citizens declared to have been a miracle—the fact that practically all of the city's church bells pealed forth at the moment of the first quake as if to warn the inhabitants to flee for their lives. This was explained, naturally, by the fact that the undulating earth tremors set the bell towers to oscillating.

3 ROBBERS RAID ARGO POOLROOM; FLEE WITH $500

Three robbers armed with pistols raided Jim's poolroom at 6300 Archer avenue, Argo, yesterday afternoon, terrorized twenty patrons of the place, and fled with $500 from the cash register after an exchange of shots with the manager of the place. No one was hit by the flying bullets, and the bandits escaped in an automobile, driving toward Chicago in Archer avenue.

They were pursued for some distance by Motorcycle Policeman John Van Ort of Argo and County Highway Policeman John McLogan, who finally were outdistanced. Chief of Police Andrew Botz of Argo denied reports that a handbook was being operated in the poolroom.

Bomb Shop of Cleaner Who Advertised Cut Rate

A small bomb, which did no damage other than breaking windows, was exploded last night in the doorway of the tailor shop of Isaac Nemzer, 6757 North Clark street, three blocks from the Rogers Park police station. No one was in the shop at the time. Nemzer recently had advertised a cut rate for cleaning and dyeing.

Thousands Lose Jobs as Quake Wrecks Factories

NAPLES, July 23.—(AP)—Today's quake tonight visited its first aftereffect on this city when the authorities closed scores of manufacturing plants whose walls were cracked and in perilous condition. Thousands of workers thus were thrown out of employment.

Missionaries Marooned in Chinese War Area Rescued

FOOCHOW, China, July 24.—(AP)—Twenty-one American and twenty-three British missionaries, who have been marooned in the Chinese war zone, were rescued and brought here last night.

QUAKE RECALLS OTHER DISASTERS ALL OVER WORLD

Hundreds of Thousands Killed Since Year 79.

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Since the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum in 79 A. D., southern Italy has suffered from periodical seismic and volcanic disturbances of more or less serious consequences. Within a very small area are three famous volcanoes, Vesuvius, Etna and Stromboli, the first just outside Naples, the second in Sicily and the third on a little island near the Straits of Messina.

The great earthquake of southern Calabria in 1383 was really a series of violent disturbances, which laid the countryside desolate. From Feb. 5 to March 28 there were six great earthquakes. In addition to these there were thirty-eight shocks, described as "very strong," 198 "strong," 303 of moderate strength and 642 slight shocks, making a total of 1,187 shocks.

100,000 Killed at Messina.

In more recent times the most severe earthquake was the Messina disaster in which 100,000 persons were killed and about as many injured, while more than 1,000,000 persons were rendered homeless. This shock, which lasted thirty-five seconds, occurred early in the morning of Dec. 28, 1908.

Two years previously more than 200 lives were lost in an eruption of Vesuvius.

Another Sicilian disaster occurred on May 8 and 9, 1914, when some 200 persons were killed and 1,000 injured.

The so-called central Italian earthquake of Jan. 13, 1915, resulted in the deaths of 30,000 persons and great destruction in the provinces of Aquila, Caserta and Rome. The town of Avezzano was almost entirely destroyed.

Other Great Disasters.

Other disastrous earthquakes occurred in Japan in 1703, when 200,000 died, and in India in 1737 when more than 300,000 were estimated to have lost their lives.

The famous Lisbon earthquake caused the deaths of 50,000 persons. The shock was felt in Portugal, Spain, southern France, and northern Africa over an area of more than 1,000,000 square miles. Inland waters were disturbed far beyond the limits of the disturbed area, and this was noted in Italy and Switzerland and even in Great Britain, Sweden and Norway.

Another disastrous earthquake was the one that followed the eruption of Mont Pelee, on the island of Martinique, on May 8, 1902. More than 30,000 lives were lost.

The San Francisco disaster of April 18, 1906, caused the deaths of about 500 persons, while 1,500 were injured and 256,000 rendered homeless.

Recall Japanese Quake.

Other recent disasters include those of Valparaiso, Chile, with 1,500 lives lost; Kingston, Jamaica, January, 1907; Cartago, Costa Rica, May, 1910; Guatemala City, December, 1917, in which 2,500 lives were lost; Java, May, 1919, 5,100 dead; the great Chinese earthquake in Kansu province on Dec. 16, 1920, and the Japanese earthquake of Sept. 1, 1923.

MAPS ARE OUT TODAY SHOWING AUTO ROUTES MARKED BY LETTERS

The first edition of the county board's new road map of Chicago and vicinity, showing through routes marked by the new two letter combinations, will be available for motorists today. A supply of the maps has been obtained for distribution by THE TRIBUNE Public Service office at Madison and Dearborn streets.

Three maps are included in the folder, which is supplied without cost to automobilists. The largest map shows all main traffic arteries in the metropolitan region, the second shows the immediate Chicago vicinity, and the third map illustrates the principal state and federal highways that lead into the city within a radius of 200 miles of the loop.

The new letter system is intended to enable a motorist to drive through the county, or from one section to another, without accidentally landing on some of Chicago's least improved highways.

RAPS DELAYS IN SUIT TO CLEAR STREET OF JUNK

Judge Frederick W. Elliott expressed surprise yesterday when he learned eleven continuances had been granted in a suit to force the Aetna Auto Parts company to move a pile of junk from the street at 23d and Federal streets. The court said the eleven continuances were disgraceful and he ordered the case to trial next Tuesday.

City Collector Morris Eller and his son, Jacob, are interested in the junkyard which encroaches on city property and litters the streets with automobile wreckage, the court was informed. A warrant was issued for Oscar Zimmerman, partner of Eller, because he failed to appear in court yesterday. Ernest Uhlich, who brought the proceedings against the company, said he obtained a court order last January compelling the company to take away its junk, but nothing was done until May, when Municipal court bailiffs removed the pile.

CHICAGO HOSTS GREET FLYING MISSIONARIES

The Rev. Father Philip De Lon and Brother George Feltes, Jesuit missionaries in Alaska, who are flying from New York to their missionary field, were welcomed to Chicago yesterday. They landed first at the Municipal airport, where they refueled and flew to Grant park. Their plane is a Packard-Diesel amphibian.

The missionaries spent the night as the guests of the Rev. Father Hubert Noonan, pastor of St. Ignatius' church. The official welcoming committee consisted of Ald. Thomas F. Byrne, M. C. Meigs, Frederick H. Chetlain, H. Otto Weege, William Sleepeck, George T. Donaghue and Leslie Sorenson.

A flight along the Chicago river to Damen avenue, over the route followed by Father Marquette, was a part of the reception program. Celle-Ann Doherty, grand-neice of Bishop Edward F. Hoban of Rockford, presented to the missionaries a nine foot floral key to the city. It was the gift of the Old Time Printers' association.

FLOODS SWEEP ENGLISH TOWNS; FOUR LIVES LOST

Rush Lifeboat Inland to Rescue Villagers.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 23.—A cloudburst in the valley of the river Esk in north Yorkshire early today caused the loss of at least four lives and spread destruction in the villages of the valley. The swollen waters of the river swept down on the sleeping hamlets.

Huge areas are under water and so rapidly did the floods spread that the first warning many persons had was when their doors were burst open by the water.

Parson Saves Many Lives.

Villagers were forced to take refuge in the upper floors of their homes. Many are homeless as a result of the disaster. The hero of the night was the vicar of Ruswarp. He dashed into the water again and again and rescued women and children from cottages where the water reached his neck.

The alarm brought a life boat and coast guards from the nearby sea coast and the lifeboat was launched on the inland sea to aid in the work of rescue. Many villages are isolated. Three bridges over the river Esk were swept away.

Town in Darkness.

The port of Whitby is cut off on two sides and owing to a rupture of the mains the town has only two days' supply of drinking water. The Esk empties into Whitby harbor where the sudden increase in level caused a large vessel to break its moorings and foul the electric cables, plunging the town in darkness.

Fragments of the Sunderland fishing boat Star of France were found in the Redcar sands and it is feared that the crew lost their lives.

Other districts of Yorkshire are suffering from floods. The rivers Derwent, Don and Dearne have burst their banks and swamped large areas causing big losses in crops and live stock.

In the neighborhood of Sheffield the heavy rain has formed lakes almost two miles long. Only last week appeals were being made in the district to save water owing to the fear of summer drought.

Erratum

The many who have telephoned to remind us that it was Cato who called for the doom of Carthage (and not Cicero) make us humbly grateful. After all, we just barely passed in both Latin and History, and our memory for the details was always unfortunately vague. Hereafter, before we go classical, we shall make a date with the library.

At least, however, we do think we know our economics. For 43 years we have been learning that Land is the basis of all wealth.

LEWIS E. MYERS MADE PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD

Pledges Economy Rule to Restore Credit.

Lewis E. Myers was elected president of the board of education and Walter H. Brandenburg was reëlected vice president yesterday afternoon by a unanimous vote of the board of trustees. This action broke a deadlock lasting for more than two months during which the ten members of the board were evenly divided over President H. Wallace Caldwell, candidate for reëlection, and Trustee James Hemingway, chairman of the finance committee.

In accepting the office Mr. Myers declared for an administration of rigid economy, to conserve finances and to restore the depreciated credit of the board. "My aim in accepting this position, which I did not seek and do not desire," he said, "is to provide justice for the school children, the general public and ourselves.

"Is Difficult Position."

"It is a difficult position. Few people realize the magnitude of the work done by the board of education. Except during the vacation season, we spend $350,000 a day and employ 20,000 people. I doubt my ability to do all that should be done but pledge my best efforts and ask coöperation of the board."

Enlarging on his economy declaration, President Myers said: "The first and most pressing necessity is the restoring of credit. During the last two years in which no taxes were collected we have been forced to depend on the sale of tax anticipation warrants. As chairman of the committee handling this sale I found a general lack of faith in our business capability. Bankers feel we are spending money wastefully and are loath to accept our notes. Confidence may be restored by only one system—ruthless economy. There will be no salary increases under my régime and no new jobs created.

"Revenue Is Insufficient."

"At the present time our revenue is insufficient. Some new method of securing funds, probably legislative relief, must be found. There is a seat shortage of 55,638. Our present building program will handle 27,000 of this shortage. But under our present revenue system it would take 25 years to bring us to a point of maximum efficiency. I pledge myself to change this if it is humanly possible."

The third major program to which he pledged the board is the reassigning of teachers and civil service employés to provide the maximum in efficiency. At the present time many teachers living on the far south side teach on the north side and the reverse.

Conference Precedes Election.

The election was held after a two hour secret conference of trustees. As soon as the members entered the board rooms the election proceeded with clock like precision.

President Myers announced committee appointments would be made next week. Reports considered reliable have mentioned Caldwell for chairman of the building and grounds committee, considered the next most important position to president, and the reappointment of James Hemingway as chairman of the finance committee.

Mr. Myers is president of the L. E. Myers company, public utility builders and operators, 20 North Wacker drive, and is connected with more than a dozen other construction and business institutions. He was educated at the University of Pittsburgh and is actively engaged in several boys' organizations and humane societies. He is a Thompson appointee.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION WORK HERE RANKS AS LARGEST PUBLIC ITEM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 22.—[Special.]—Chicago was named in the report of a public construction survey today as one of fourteen large American cities in which school building represented the largest single item of public construction during the decade ended Dec. 31, 1928.

The survey was made at the suggestion of President Hoover for the purpose of appraising public works construction as a factor in economic balance. It was conducted by the national bureau of economic research and in coöperation with the department of commerce.

The report disclosed that in the ten year period educational building contracts in Chicago aggregated $142,574,300, or more than 46 per cent of the city's ten year outlay of $307,699,000 for all public construction. Expenditures for public improvements other than for schools during the decade were listed as follows:

Lighting system, $46,684,000; hospitals and institutions, $34,604,000; street paving and road construction, $29,906,000; bridges, $27,421,000; sewage system, $25,055,000; public buildings, $21,019,000; water front developments, $6,267,000; and water supply, $5,025,000.

In New York City about $285,195,000 was spent in the ten year period for school buildings out of a total public works outlay of somewhat more than one billion dollars while Philadelphia's school building outlay was $72,107,000 out of $257,159,000. Detroit spent $63,069,200 on school buildings and $208,124,000 for all public improvements.

Total public improvement expenditures of other cities included: Cleveland, $140,521,000; Boston, $91,349,000; St. Louis, $87,067,000; Indianapolis, $53,814,000, and St. Paul, $19,380,000.

Mayor Fined $50 for Fight with Discharged Constable

Oelwein, Ia., July 23.—[Special.]—T. N. Carnall, mayor of Oelwein, was fined $50 this morning on charge of assault and battery against City Constable Port Hartsough. An argument occurred when Mayor Carnall discharged the constable.

TRY 11TH HOUR PLEA TO SAVE 3 FROM EXECUTION

A final effort will be made this morning by a petition for an insanity hearing to save three colored men who are scheduled to be executed at midnight tonight for the murder of Martin French, guard of the Franklin Trust and Savings bank. French was shot and killed on Jan. 18, 1929, when he attempted to prevent a robbery of the bank.

Leonard Shadlow, Leon Brown, and Lafon Fisher, the condemned men, tried yesterday afternoon to get a temporary stay of execution by charging in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed before Judge Walter P. Steffen in the Criminal court that the Supreme court had not complied with the statute in fixing the day of sentence. Judge Steffen said he had no jurisdiction.

Attorney John L. Fogle, attorney for the Chicago Bar association and a member of the grievance committee, filed an insanity petition for his client, Shadlow. His petition says that Shadlow is insane because "he is tired of sleeping on the iron beds in the county jail." Attorneys representing the other condemned men said they would join in the insanity petition this morning.

Judge Postpones Decision on Mother of 'Smiler'

Judge John Sbarbaro in felony court yesterday postponed till July 31 the case of Edna Lopinot of East St. Louis, mother of Lawrence Lopinot, known as Smiling Jimmy Stevens, the baby whom she abandoned in the Stevens hotel three months ago. An indication that Judge Sbarbaro would deal leniently with her was seen by court attaches when he permitted the charge of child abandonment to be changed to dependency.

GLENN CURTISS, PIONEER OF AIR, DIES AT AGE OF 52

End Comes Suddenly Following Operation.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 23.—[Special.]—Death came suddenly to Glenn H. Curtiss, aviation pioneer, in the General hospital here early this morning. On July 11 Mr. Curtiss was operated on for appendicitis. His condition since had been reported excellent. Early today he lapsed into a state of coma and before relatives could reach his bedside he died. Hospital officials gave the cause of death as pulmonary embolus and explained it was a blood clot clogging the heart. He was 52 years old.

Known as one of the foremost aviation experimenters, Mr. Curtiss retired from active business shortly after the world war, retaining directorships in several companies that bear his name. Lately, his associates declare, he was experimenting with a new type of motor for automobile use.

Wife and Son Survive.

Surviving Mr. Curtiss are his widow, Mrs. Lena Neff Curtiss, one son, Glenn H. Curtiss Jr., his mother, Mrs. Lua Andrews Curtiss, and a half brother, Carl Adams of Miami, Fla.

Mr. Curtiss was one of the pioneers in aviation, whose ranking must be placed next to the Wright brothers. He, probably more than any other man, contributed toward popularizing aviation.

With the aid of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, Curtiss designed and built the first heavier than air machine to make a successful public flight in America. This was a craft called the Red Wing. It flew 318 feet, only to crack up in landing.

On May 22, 1908, Curtiss took off in his second machine, the White Wing, flew it for a distance of 1,017 feet in 19 seconds, and landed safely in a plowed field. It was at this time that he developed the ailerons for horizontal control, a device which involved him in a long drawn out litigation with the Wright brothers, who had used warped wings for the same purpose.

Wins Air Trophy in 1908.

On July 4, 1908, flying in the now historic June Bug, Curtiss won the Scientific American trophy by going a distance of a kilometer. It was the first previously announced flight to be made in America. Huge crowds came from miles around to see the latest wonder.

One of his greatest triumphs came on May 29, 1910, when he flew from Albany to New York, thereby becoming the first man to follow the Hudson river as an aerial highway, as well as the first to fly between the two cities. Another high mark of his career was his capture of the James Gordon Bennett cup in the 1909 aviation meet at Reims, France.

Between 1909 and 1919 he established a number of flying schools. In 1913-'14 he introduced his flying boat to Brazil, Russia, Austria, Italy, and Germany.

He was born in Hammondsport, N. Y., on May 21, 1878, son of Frank R. and Lua Andrews Curtiss, and received his education in the public schools.

Daughter of British Ducal House Engaged to a Butler

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(AP)—Miss Gythia Stourton, beautiful and talented daughter of a noble British family, is on her way home to make a final plea for her family's consent before marrying Fiorvanti Del'Agnese, handsome Italian butler and major domo of the old British embassy here.

The socially elect of this capital, under whose very noses the secret attachment was born and blossomed, were aghast when news of it leaked out today. Even Miss Stourton's intimates knew nothing of it.

But in London there is a woman who has known all about it for a year. Lady Isabella Howard, wife of Sir Esme, now Lord Howard of Penrith, retired ambassador to the United States, was the first in Washington to receive Miss Stourton's confidence. She disapproved. It is because of her plea, joined with that of the Stourton family, that Miss Stourton is now en route to England on the liner Samaria.

Came to U. S. in 1924.

Gythia Stourton, great-granddaughter of the fourteenth duke of Norfolk and a cousin of Sir Esme Howard, came to Washington in 1924 to be social secretary to Lady Isabella. One of the first persons she saw in the embassy here was Fiorvanti, the butler.

Only 30 years old, he had been in the service of the Howard family for several years. They had brought him from Rome, Sir Esme's previous post, and had made him a sort of manager of the household. Often he would have a cup of tea with the ambassador and Lady Isabella.

He is said to speak eight languages and has traveled widely with the Howard family.

Gythia was 22 when she came to Washington. She became friendly with Fiorvanti. He assisted her with the difficult business of seating embassy guests at the formal affairs. When she went to social functions in the evening he often called for her and her escort in an embassy automobile.

Romance Is Born.

A year ago the friendship grew into a more affectionate regard. Miss Stourton's confidante was Lady Isabella.

The ambassador's wife was shocked. She suggested that Miss Stourton go to live with a friend while giving the marriage further consideration. This was agreed upon, and for the last year the English girl has lived with Miss Gladys R. Goring, a friend of the Howards who conducts a school here.

But the year's wait failed to cool the romance. Though Fiorvanti never went to the Goring home, Miss Stourton saw him daily in the embassy and they met occasionally outside. Her determination to marry Fiorvanti hardened.

When the Howards returned to England last February, Miss Stourton stayed on in Washington. Fiorvanti remained to pack the Howards' furniture.

Sails for Final Conference.

Once more Lady Isabella and Miss Stourton's family counseled against the match. She agreed to return to Englan dto talk it over, but maintained to the day she sailed that she was going only to make a final plea for permission. Fiorvanti is waiting for her here.

Both Miss Stourton and Del'Agnese are Catholics. The barony of Stourton, of which family she is a member, is the oldest surviving barony created by letters patent.

Miss Stourton's grandfather was the nineteenth baron of Stourton, twenty-second baron of Mowbray, twenty-third baron of Segrave, and senior co-heir of the earldom of Norfolk.

He was senior co-heir in the baronies of Gower, Greystock, Darce of Gilleesland, Ferres of Wemme, Verdon and Gifford of Brommesfield, as well as co-heir of the baronies of Kerdeston, Dogworth, Fitz-Payne, and Argtine.

Miss Stourton's father, Maj. Herbert Stourton, has held diplomatic posts.

CARBONA
POWDER
REMOVES GREASE SPOTS WITHOUT LEAVING A "RING"
Most silks are now "weighted" or "loaded" with foreign substances to make them appear of better quality. Liquid cleaners dissolve this "weighting" or "loading," and this causes "rings" on Silks. We have therefore created Carbona Grease Absorbent Powder for use on Silks only. This Powder will not affect "weighting" or "loading" in any way—it absorbs Grease Spots instead of dissolving them, and no "rings" can result from its use on Silks.

GRAND JURORS MARK TIME ON RACKET INQUIRY

Lottery Trial Tomorrow; Foley Still Missing.

$55,825 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,825 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

The grand jury was marking time, it was reported yesterday, in regard to what action if any is to be taken on the story told to the jurors on Tuesday by Harry T. Brundidge, reporter for the St. Louis Star, who charged racketeering among certain Chicago newspaper men. Bernard De Vry, foreman of the jury which invited Brundidge to appear and repeat his racketeering charges under oath, continued his policy of silence yesterday.

De Vry refused to deny or affirm a report that the jurors were contemplating inviting newspaper men to appear before the jury and explain parts of the story told by Brundidge. State's Attorney Swanson and his assistant, William A. Rittenhouse, who attended the Brundidge session before the jury, said they were in ignorance of the plans of the jurors.

Meanwhile, efforts of the state's attorney's office toward solving the Lingle murder are continuing unabated.

Catch Up on Regular Work.

Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Spiro, who is in charge of the regular work before the grand jury, said the entire session yesterday was devoted to hearing regularly docketed cases and catching up on cases passed because of the two hours taken up by the testimony of Brundidge on Tuesday.

While the grand jurors were debating what should be done about the story told by Brundidge preparations were going on for the trial of Matt Foley, assistant circulation manager of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, who is named in a warrant charging him with conspiracy.

He is scheduled to go to trial tomorrow before Judge John Sbarbaro in the Felony court if the police are able to find him by that time. Otherwise H. Goodman, another circulation employé of the Herald and Examiner, and Leo Schoemer, an Illinois Central railroad employé, will be tried alone.

Charged with Lottery Fraud.

The three men are named jointly on a charge of selling lottery tickets for the last Kentucky Derby and failing to pay the winners. It is charged that Foley conceived the idea of putting out 50,000 tickets on Dick O'Hara, one of the horses which it was figured was a certainty to be scratched before the race. He reckoned, however, without Pat Joyce, wealthy railroad official, the owner of Dick O'Hara, who started the horse because it is reported he heard of Foley's plan. The holder of each of the 50,000 tickets was promised a $50 prize, according to the charges.

The Foley case was reported one of the topics of Brundidge's grand jury testimony.

"I do not blame Goodman or Schoemer in this deal," said W. J. Hayes, 1402 East 63d street, who holds seven lottery tickets. "I think Foley is the man behind the scheme. I will not settle on the basis of $5 a ticket as offered in the Herald and Examiner offices by Goodman. I am prepared to go the route in prosecuting Foley."

Two Others Blame Foley.

N. B. Mitchell, 1112 East 82d street, who holds a ticket for $100 because his horse ran sixth in the race, also placed the entire blame on Foley, as did Mrs. Hannah Conroy, 9017 Muskegon avenue, holder of four tickets entitling her to $200.

Roscoe Conkling (Duffy) Cornell, circulation manager of the Herald and Examiner and former city editor, is one of the witnesses subpoenaed for the trial scheduled tomorrow.

Joseph McLaughlin, brother of Robert McLaughlin, president of the Checker Cab company, and also of the slain Eugene [Red] McLaughlin, and Robert [Frisco Dutch] Schmidt were being sought yesterday by the police on contempt charges. They failed to appear as witnesses at the inquest into the slaying of three men at a Fox Lake hotel two months ago.

Lieut. Barker Exonerated in Zuta Shooting Inquiry

Lieut. George Barker was exonerated yesterday by the police trial board after a hearing on charges that Barker was trying to protect Jack Zuta, vice monger, from assassins. The lieutenant, who is the youngest Chicago policeman to attain that rank and who commanded the bomb squad, had been suspended on technical charges of inefficiency after he fought a battle with gunmen who sought to kill Zuta at State and Adams streets on July 1.

Chief of Detectives Norton, as a witness at the hearing, criticized Barker's conduct on two points. He said Barker should not have agreed to give Zuta a safe conduct to the loop from the detective bureau, but should have advised Zuta to make his request for protection to whoever was in charge of the bureau at the time. At the time of the incident in question Zuta was at the bureau following his questioning in connection with the murder of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter.

Criticized on Another Point.

Having undertaken single-handed to guard Zuta from rival gangsters Lieut. Barker should not have taken Zuta in his automobile, but should have put Zuta in another automobile and followed it in his own car, Norton told Maj. Carlos Ames, president of the civil service board, which is also the trial board.

Attorneys Milton D. Smith and Robert E. Cantwell, representing Lieut. Barker, showed by witnesses that none of Barker's superior officers was on duty the night Zuta asked to be guarded as he left the bureau. Barker should not have asked permission of the sergeant who was in charge, the lawyers argued.

Six character witnesses testified to acts of bravery that won Barker many citations. The witnesses were: Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney; Assistant State's Attorneys Harry S. Ditchburne, Wayland Brooks, Walker Butler, and Harold M. Keele, and former Judge Alfar M. Eberhardt. Brooks told of Barker's record as a fighter in the marine corps during the world war and of his success as head of the bomb squad.

Lieut. Barker Takes Stand.

Lieut. Barker took the stand and testified that Zuta approached him at the detective bureau shortly after Zuta was released from a cell at 10 o'clock at night. He said Zuta declared he was afraid he would be killed when he left the building. He pleaded for protection for the woman who accompanied him and it was because of her that Barker let them ride in his car to the loop, the lieutenant said.

"I asked him who was seeking to kill him and he said he didn't know," Barker testified. "He was just plain yellow, so I told him to get in my car and I'd see that he got to the loop alive. When we reached the loop some men in another car started firing into our car and I shot back at them until they escaped in a smoke screen."

Barker will receive full pay for the time he was off duty, Maj. Ames declared.

Lieut. Thomas McFarland, a veteran of the force who was suspended last month, was also restored to duty with full pay and given a year's leave of absence with pay. He had been suspended through a mistake, it was explained, as he was disabled when he was shot by a man he stopped to question and who was wanted for murder.

SLAIN 'ASH CAN PETE' IS LINKED TO AIELLO GANG

Detectives seeking to solve the murder of Peter [Ash Can Pete] Inserio were told yesterday that the slain man was a member of the Aiello gang of the north side. Inserio kept a soft drink parlor at 448 North Elizabeth street and it was there that he was shot by two men who fired at him a dozen times.

"He was mixed up with Joe Aiello and Bugs Moran," said Lieut. Julian Bernacchi, who won promotion years ago for his work on Black Hand cases. "People in this neighborhood didn't know much about him, but we learn now that he was a gunman for the Aiellos and Moran in their war against Capone."

Lieut. Bernacchi said there was no basis for statements that Ted Newberry was believed to have been one of the slayers of Ash Can Pete.

LITTLE ROCK FLYER LEADS DERBY PILOTS INTO HIS HOME CITY

Little Rock, Ark., July 23.—(AP)—Flying into the city he represents, 21 minutes ahead of the next plane, Lee Gehlbach, piloting the Little Rocket regained the lead in the $36,500 all-America air Derby on the Cincinnati, Little Rock leg today.

Tonight he was 25 minutes in the lead for the race, which began at Detroit Monday. Gehlbach led on the Detroit to Buffalo and Buffalo to New York legs, but lost on the New York to Cincinnati lap yesterday to Herman Namer of La Salle, Ill.

Hamer came in fifth today, after landing in a field, 50 miles from here, because of motor trouble.

Gehlbach's time from Cincinnati to Little Rock was three hours 54 minutes and 53 seconds.

GANG KILLING OF RADIO CRUSADER STUNS DETROIT

Gov. Green Threatens Bayonet Rule.

radio. He was one of the outstanding figures in the recall campaign, making some of the most scathing speeches delivered in favor of the recall of Mayor Bowles. Evelyn O'Hara, his personal secretary, had accompanied him to the city hall while he broadcast election returns, and had been with him at dinner. Buckley left shortly after 1 o'clock for the La Salle hotel, where he maintained a room.

The lobby of the hotel was nearly deserted when Buckley arrived at 1:30 a. m. He seated himself in a chair in the center of the long corridor and began to read a newspaper. A stranger was seated beside him. Three men entered the lobby, and without a word approached within a few feet and fired, then vanished in the ensuing confusion.

Buckley lay slumped in his chair, five bullets in his head and six in his body. He died instantly.

The belief that Buckley was "spotted" is corroborated by Miss O'Hara, who said: "It was not Mr. Buckley's custom to sit in the lobby and he was seldom there. He recently had developed a marked apprehension because of threatening letters he received. When we took a taxi to the hotel he would look carefully at the driver before getting in. When he got out at the hotel he always looked both ways, paid the driver and hurried into the hotel."

A Man of Two Homes.

As police delved into Buckley's life they found many leads. They discovered he had been separated from his wife and had been maintaining a downtown apartment as well as a room in the La Salle hotel.

Police also recalled the murdered man had been the confidant of gamblers and underworld leaders, a private investigator for Henry Ford in the Newberry case, and later an investigator of Ford interests for the United States government.

Buckley started broadcasting two years ago, his station, WMBC, being in the La Salle hotel. He was the first to make a charge of public gambling, and to attack Sheriff Wilson. He was the first publicly to attack the Bowles administration. But along with his attacks on persons high and low, and his "inside" radio stories of alleged collusion between public officials and the underworld, he campaigned for old age pensions, jobs for the unemployed and other humanitarian and liberal causes. During the last winter he obtained jobs for hundreds of unemployed.

Another angle of the case is Buckley's recent declaration that he had been offered $25,000 to "lay off" the recall campaign and devote his station to the anti-recall forces.

First to Demand Recall.

Buckley made the first public suggestion that a recall election be held. He waged the initial fights by radio and was known to thousands of Detroit radio fans for his caustic analysis of municipal politics. During the last six months he had built a wide reputation for himself through his nightly comments on the political situation in Detroit, aiming many a barbed shaft at the mayor and, later, John Gillespie, commissioner of public works, and Police Commissioner Wilcox.

All day yesterday, by radio, he cautioned Detroiters to vote and to be sure to vote "Yes" on the recall. He announced over and over again that Gillespie was the real mayor of Detroit and that Bowles was following his instructions. He charged that Mayor Bowles tolerated lawlessness; made pledges which he never kept; directed that public records be kept secret; hindered Police Commissioner Emmons in his enforcement of the law, and later discharged him because he did enforce it, and hinted at "unlawful graft."

Bowles Still Has Hopes.

Mayor Bowles believes he will be reelected, he declared in a formal statement today. He called Buckley's murder "a terrible, terrible thing" and said he would welcome coöperation from the state authorities in running down the killers.

Mayor Bowles strongly denied that he would withdraw from the race. He said he is confident that his campaign will turn the vote in his favor. He will make the race for reëlection without the support of one Detroit newspaper and will do most of his campaigning by radio.

The official canvass of Tuesday's votes is expected to be completed by Monday, and ordinarily the certification would follow immediately thereafter, with the special election thirty days later, on Aug. 29. Richard W. Reading, city clerk and chairman of the election committee, is seeking a legal opinion, however, from Corporation Counsel Wilcox as to whether he might temporarily withhold the certification so as to delay the election until the September primary date.

Hoover Centers Attention on Task of Ousting Huston

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—President Hoover turned his attention today to the task of prying Claudius Huston out of the chairmanship of the Republican national committee.

The President desires to accomplish this before he departs on his vacation and he purposes to stay in Washington until Mr. Huston is out and somebody else—possibly Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio—is in the steering seat of the G. O. P. machine. Only then can Mr. Hoover go fishing in the national parks free of anxiety regarding the conduct of the Republican canvass in the approaching congressional election.

Confer with President.

The board of strategy met with the President twice today to consider ways and means of expediting Mr. Huston's resignation without compelling Mr. Hoover to ask it point blank. Mr. Hoover dislikes intensely to administer the kick personally to his old friend, who served him so resourcefully in his campaign for the nomination for President.

The strategists included Treasurer J. R. Nutt, and James Francis Burke, general counsel of the committee; Walter Hope, assistant secretary of the treasury, and Walter Newton, political secretary to the President. After their first talk with the President they departed from the executive offices through the cellar door in order to avoid the reporters. The next time they ventured out of the front door, no reporters being in sight.

In between the sessions of the board of strategy Mr. Huston, who is in New York, was reached by telephone and pressed to come to Washington and do something about this resignation matter. He was reminded that when he met with the officers of the committee a fortnight ago he promised or intimated that he would have something to say after the adjournment of the special session of the senate. This "something" the White House hoped and believed would be his resignation.

Report Resignation Imminent.

After the second meeting of the strategists word went forth from the White House that the resignation of Mr. Huston is imminent. It was reported that the chairman would be in Washington this week, possibly tomorrow, either to submit his resignation or to take action looking thereto.

The passage of time—some four months, to be exact—during which Mr. Huston has declined to take the hint from an exalted source to efface himself from the political scene has not sufficed to convice the President that the Republican national chairman is not an embarrassment to the conduct of the party affairs on a high moral plane. This embarrassment derives from the disclosure before the senate lobby investigation committee that Mr. Huston before becoming chairman, obtained $36,000 from the Union Carbide company to promote the lease of Muscle Shoals to that company and deposited the amount in his stock speculation account temporarily.

TWO IN FAMILY DIE IN BIRTHDAY AUTO TRAGEDY

Girl, 5, and Grandmother Are Victims.

Five year old Dorothy Tatje and her grandmother, Mrs. Marie Benning, 54 years old, 5834 Altgeld street, were killed last night when their car ran off the road and overturned a half mile south of Grayslake, as they were returning to Chicago. They had been celebrating the 58th birthday of Mrs. Benning's husband, John.

The driver was Martin Tellman, 55 years old, owner of the Hillside inn at Grayslake and living at 825 Marianna street, Chicago. They had just left Round Lake. The car developed engine trouble and Mr. Tellman phoned for a tow. But before it arrived he had adjusted the motor. He was just starting out when he saw the headlight of the towing truck. He tried to wave it down, and drive at the same time, with the result that he lost control of the wheel.

Child, 3, Killed at Play.

Dr. Herbert R. Struther of Grayslake treated Hellman, who received minor injuries. Other members of the Benning family escaped.

Playing in front of her home at 1723 Custer street, 3 year old Lucille Schiel was killed last night when hit by the automobile of Edward Busch, 2223 Clybourn avenue. He was held.

This death and one other raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 539. The victim:

William White, 57 years old, 615 West Adams street. Died at St. Luke's hospital from injuries received July 10 when struck by a car driven by Patrick Morris, 4932 Lake Park avenue, at Adams street and Michigan avenue.

President Warren Wright of the Lincoln park board announced that the new system of prosecuting traffic violators in the park district will be inaugurated today. Offenders will be given tickets on which the amount of their fines will be printed. Failure to present the ticket in court within a reasonable time will result in the issuance of a capias for the arrest of the offender.

The Lincoln park commissioners and Municipal Judge Padden of Town Hall court, recently engaged in a controversy over the park board's method of arresting and prosecuting traffic violators. When the board continued its policy of holding offenders until bonds were posted, the judge ordered the arrest of several park policemen.

MRS. H. E. HOOVER AND J. C. BAKER TO WED, REPORT

Mrs. Dorothy White Hoover, divorced wife of H. Earl Hoover, head of the vacuum cleaner company bearing his name, and James Childs Baker, member of the Chicago Stock exchange, who was divorced two weeks ago by his wife, Mrs. Mildred Hadley Baker of Glencoe, yesterday obtained a marriage license in New York, it was reported last night.

According to the report Mrs. Hoover and Baker planned to be married today, but the place of the wedding was not revealed.

Mrs. Hoover, daughter of the late A. Stamford White, one time president of the Chicago Board of Trade, was noted for her chow dog kennels in Glencoe. At the time of her divorce, which was granted last December at Reno, Nev., she announced that her champion dogs would be given away to friends. She obtained her decree on the ground of mental cruelty, but declared that she and her husband parted the best of friends.

Mrs. Baker won her divorce on July 11. She charged that her husband had slapped her, told her he no longer loved her, and deserted her. It was announced that a $50,000 settlement had been made.

Kegel Plans Safe Baby Markers

Health Commissioner Kegel with water cooled ultra violet ray lamp and filter attachment which he suggests be used to stencil names of babies as result of Bamberger-Watkins mixup. The marks disappear after six months. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

FINGERPRINTS SAY: NO MIXUP OF THE BABIES

Crime Expert Takes Hand in Puzzle.

clined to believe that the babies were mixed, said his theory was as follows: The babies were labeled correctly with adhesive on their backs immediately after their birth. But, when dressed, the additional labels applied to their dresses were switched.

Hospital Chief's View.

A. E. Paul, superintendent of Englewood hospital, had this to say last night:

"I have absolute faith in the accuracy of all the tagging. The matter is in competent hands. I shall abide by Dr. Kegel's decision. If it can be shown that Mr. Watkins found the tag marked 'Bamberger' on the back of the baby the Watkins family brought home, then the babies were mixed.

"I have investigated the case carefully and have found no irregularity in our routine.

"The supervisor of our obsterical department says that the babies immediately after birth were tagged, wrapped in woolen blankets and made comfortable in the nursery. There was no departure from our routine in this procedure.

Denies Any Neglect.

"Moreover, there was no neglect. I am sure Dr. Kegel will support that. Our obstetrical nurses are instructed not to step out of the room or lose sight of the baby until it is identified properly.

He added that if it were proved that Mr. Watkins took a baby from the hospital with the Bamberger tag on its back it is probable that a nurse may have put the wrong gown on the baby. "But I do not know when that could have happened," he said.

Dr. Kegel said yesterday he was investigating the feasibility of marking babies by stencilling names on their skins with an ultra violet ray lamp. These marks disappear in six months.

LAW CANNOT REACH TREE SITTERS, BUT IT PERILS PARENTS

The Chicago police found yesterday that they have the authority to arrest parents or guardians who permit children to endanger life and limb in tree sitting contests, even if the law can't reach the boys themselves. Parents who allow children to enter such contests may be found guilty of permitting them to injure their health, contrary to a penal statute, it was declared.

The law was quoted in an opinion by Carl J. Appell, assistant corporation counsel. Mr. Appell found that parents and guardians guilty of such a violation may be fined $100 and imprisoned in the county jail for three months for the first offense.

While the Chicago police were solving the problem of getting the boys out of the trees before Christmas, Evanston was putting an end to her first tree sitting case.

Six young Evanstonians made a sudden descent from a tree at Austin street and Barton avenue after a visit from Juvenile Officer Eugene Worthington. Worthington had been called by anxious women who feared the boys would fall.

Officer Worthington found Murray and Robert Hale, and Sonny Lawson of 1001 Hull street; Donald Rosenthal, 400 Ridge avenue, and Buddy Moran and Kenneth Byrne, 408 Ridge avenue, clinging to a rickety wooden platform fifteen feet high, proud of a six and a half hour record. After a short conversation with the officer, the boys came down.

Banker, Struck by Train in La Salle St. Station, Dies

Edward E. Lindsay, vice president and cashier of the Robinson State bank, Robinson, Ill., struck by a train in the La Salle street station Friday, died last night at St. Luke's hospital. He came here to attend a bankers' convention. The train was backing in when Lindsay accidentally stepped in its path.

UTILITY CHIEFS QUESTIONED ON SUBWAY PLANS

Judge Decides on Liens on South Side Lines.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The removal of the pipes, wires, conduits, vaults, and other property of the public utilities in State street, preparatory to digging the subway, was the subject of a three hour conference yesterday morning in the office of Walter L. Fischer, attorney for the council local transportation committee.

While no decisions were made all of the issues involved were raised and definite and final statements on each are expected within the next fortnight. So important did Robert Ridgway—New York engineer retained as a Chicago subway consultant — consider the subject that he delayed his departure for the east a day in order to attend the meeting. Others present were Guy Richardson, Leonard A. Busby, and H. B. Fleming of the surface lines; Britton I. Budd and Bernard Fallon of the elevated lines; William D. Bangs of the telephone company; three engineers representing the gas and electric companies; R. F. Kelker, chief subway engineer; and Attorneys George A. Mason and Allan T. Gilbert of the city's special subway staff.

Preparation for Subway.

This is the first meeting of all concerned on actual subway construction since the transportation ordinance was approved in a referendum on July 1. It was recognized at the meeting that provision must be made to care for the wires, pipes, and conduits before actual digging can begin.

Attorney Fisher called for the plans of the companies for removing their properties. He asked how they proposed to serve their customers while the subway is under construction and where they intended to place the wires and pipes after the subway is completed. In addition he wanted to know the estimated cost and whether the companies will promptly pay all of it, or what part of it. He asked what space each company desired in the subways, what rent they would be willing to pay, and when they would be ready to sign agreements covering all of these subjects.

None of the utility operators present was able to answer all of the questions asked. Their plans for care of utility property have not progressed to a point where they can make definite statements, they said.

Seek Utilities' Plans.

Under the enabling legislation, under the transit franchise, and under the proposed subway ordinance the city plans to build utility galleries in the subways. The city's engineers said that they were fast approaching a time when they would be ready to start subway plans, and they want to know how many utilities are to occupy the galleries, the amount of space required and the locations preferred.

It was pointed out to the companies, it is said, that if they cause any delay in the preparation of subway plans the public should know who is responsible. The telephone franchise for the next 23 years is now pending before the city council, and there is a section in the ordinance relating to removal of its wires and conduits, on which there has been some criticism. This was discussed at the conference in a general way, but the trend of conversation on it was not made available. There also was a discussion of the city's present powers to compel removal of utility property, but it is said that the opinion of the lawyers varied.

Decree on South Side Lines.

Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday entered a decree fixing the amount and priority of lines against the Chicago City Railway company and the Calumet and South Chicago Railway company for which a receivership was asked on July 7. Lawyers asserted that the priority established follows the accepted practice and laws relating to the subject, and that the capital structure of each is so simple that there is no ground for a difference of opinion on the priority schedule.

This order places the south side surface lines in the position occupied by the north and west side surface lines, which are also in the hands of receivers.

Judge Wilkerson will leave for a vacation in Europe within the next few days and he continued the receivership proceedings until Sept. 25. After that time an order of sale probably will be entered.

SHIP FIRST BARGE LOAD OF WHEAT FOR EXPORT

Burlington, Ia., July 23.—[Special.]—The first barge load of wheat for export left here for New Orleans early today when the John W. Weeks towboat picked up the large barge containing 30,000 bushels, or 25 car loads, for the Trans-Mississippi Grain company.

It is estimated that over 100,000 bushels will be shipped within the next few weeks. This grain comes by truck and rail from Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, a radius of over 100 miles from Burlington.

KILLER OF TWO WOMEN GETS TWO LIFE TERMS

CRIMINAL COURT.

Willie Lane and Jack Thompson, murder, sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

Vernon C. Roberts, murder, sentenced to two life terms in the penitentiary by Judge Daniel P. Trude.

Vernon C. Roberts, 42 years old, 731 Briar place, was sentenced to two life terms in the penitentiary yesterday for the murder of his common law wife, Elsie M. Woodhouse, and her sister, Mrs. Martha Nixon. Judge Daniel P. Trude said he opposed the double sentence at the suggestion of Assistant State's Attorney Owen West so there would be no possibility of Roberts ever again being at liberty.

Roberts shot and killed the two women in the Lincoln hotel, Lincoln avenue and Clark street, on April 29. He went to the hotel intoxicated and after starting a quarrel shot the two women, according to testimony at the trial. The Woodhouse woman was killed instantly, but Mrs. Nixon did not die until May 1.

Roberts said Mrs. Nixon had attempted to separate him from her sister.

3 HELD ON HOLDUP CHARGE.

Three men, identified in a dozen robberies of gasoline stations, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $50,000 each yesterday by Judge Allegretti. They are George Angelo, 30 years old, 8040 Lafayette avenue; Irving Rosenhoid, 20 years old, 1008 North Mozart street, and Harry Adelman, 41 years old, 1144 Hudson avenue.

WHEAT DEBATE, GOVERNOR RACE WARM IN KANSAS

Primary Will Be Held on August 5.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., July 23.—[Special.]—Kansas politics, which has been pushed off the front page by the goat gland case, the ginger jake paralytics, pee-wee golf and the drought, has won back the big headlines for the Aug. 5 primaries. The row between Alexander Legge, head of the federal farm board, and Gov. Clyde M. Reed over the reduction of wheat acreage is still popping along.

Politicians who a few days ago were lamenting that in the trial of Dr. John R. Brinkley of Milford the goats and the gland operations were grabbing all the space and the reader interest, today find comfort because the campaigning shows signs of high blood pressure.

After Mr. Legge's comment in Washington that the attacks on the federal farm board's wheat curtailment policies are "political bunk" and that the opposition is "wholly political in character," Gov. Reed came back with a reply intimating that Mr. Legge is a Nero of the Kansas wheat fields. "The farm board fiddles while the wheat farmer faces destruction," says Gov. Reed.

Fears for Winter Wheat.

"Far more important than whether the farm board or myself is playing politics is the great catastrophe which is actually present in the winter wheat belt."

Today it appeared that Mr. Legge gets a ticket for something of a horse laugh at the expense of Gov. Reed. The governor has been assailing the board for having disposed of some 350,000 bushels of carry over wheat in Kansas City which had been stored on contract to sell. The governor insisted that the act of the farm board caused a break in the market.

Today Reed's opponents in Kansas were playing up a discovery that the state reformatory dumped its wheat on the market as soon as it could. A news item from the state reformatory said the institution had a crop of 7,973 bushels of wheat from 400 acres, and "wheat from the reformatory fields was marketed as rapidly as it was thrashed, bringing 72 cents a bushel at a local mill."

Inconsistent, They Charge.

Anti-Reed leaders are using this as an argument that in wheat politics the governor is playing his hand not so consistently. They are pointing out that while the governor has been assailing the farm board for not buying new crop wheat to sustain the market one of his appointees has been selling state owned wheat in competition with the farmers.

Meanwhile the Republican fight over the governoship nomination has become a real battle. Frank [Chief] Haucke of Council Grove is running against Gov. Reed. A few weeks ago the Reed forces snorted at the idea of Haucke making much of a run, but today they talk as if perturbed.

The "Chief"—he's an honorary chief, just as is Gov. Reed, these titles being as easy of acquisition among the noble redmen here as in Wisconsin—is not so well known. He served in the legislature a couple of terms and he is a former state commander of the American Legion. He has not presented any big national stuff among his issues, and his chief backers declare the Haucke vote will be more anti-Reed than pro-Haucke. The governor, it seems, has raised a lovely crop of enemies, and that's where the main disturbance is right now.

Minister Lauds Haucke.

Haucke is a farmer, a fine looking fellow. At a recent meeting in Topeka, a minister from Council Grove, speaking of the local boy, invested him with all the virtues of Little Rollo. According to the testimony, Haucke does not smoke, or chew, or drink, or swear, or tell salty stories. They paint him as a cornfed Galahad of the sun kissed prairies. He has none of the homely old fashioned small vices. The "Chief," however, is modern enough to see campaign ammunition in the quarrel between Messrs. Legge and Reed over wheat acreage reduction. In his speech last night the "Chief" upheld Legge and rebuked Reed on the ground he was covering too much territory for a mere governor of a state.

"The governor's effort to ride an economic situation to his own political benefit strikes me as not only a trifle insincere but highly amusing," said the "Chief."

"While the farm board told us nothing we did not know—that we are suffering from overproduction in wheat—it is also admitted we are suffering from the same malady in other lines, cattle, poultry, and produce. I failed to see where the governor rushed to the aid of the cattle men in their plight."

WIFE OF WASHINGTON MURDER SUSPECT VERIFIES HIS ALIBI

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(AP)—The wife of Herbert M. Campbell, Virginia real estate operator charged with the murder of Mary Baker, again came to his aid tonight, corroborating in detail his altered alibi.

Investigators who for 14 weeks have sought the man who assaulted and killed the young government clerk quoted Mrs. Campbell as saying she would stake her life upon the belief that her husband had never committed the murder.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly of the Washington homicide squad and Commonwealth Attorney William C. Gloth of Arlington county, Va., the chief investigators, said the case against Campbell now hinged largely upon further identification of his revolver.

Dr. William Souder, ballistic expert of the United States bureau of standards, who examined the weapon, submitted to the police an unqualified report the gun was the one with which Miss Baker was killed. Campbell has admitted the revolver was never out of his possession.

Before being questioned for nearly two hours today by police, Mrs. Campbell came to the Arlington county jail to visit her husband.

Her story, as related by Gloth and Kelly, was that her husband had been at home on the night of the murder when she returned from work at 6 o'clock. It was at this hour Mary Baker was last seen alive, struggling in her car with an unknown man.

After dinner, she said, Campbell had taken their son to a Boy Scout meeting in Washington, stopping to shake hands with the scoutmaster at around 7:30. He telephoned her two hours later, she said, and returned home by 10 o'clock.

Plunges to Death from Roof of 20 Story Hotel

New York, July 23.— (AP) —A man whom police identified from cards in his wallet as Herbert L. Wittnebel, Brooklyn business man, fell from the roof of the 20th story Paramount hotel in West 46th street this morning to his death. Officials pronounced it a suicide.

SEAWAY FACES FURTHER DELAY IN LOAN TANGLE

U. S. Frowns on Illinois Finance Plan.

A further delay in the Illinois waterway project appeared probable yesterday. A report from Washington said war department officials look with disfavor upon Gov. Emmerson's proposal by which work could be pushed forward immediately.

The war department, unable to obtain money this year from the federal appropriation, had proposed that Illinois advance a loan of $2,000,000 from the reserve in the state waterway fund. Attorney General Carlstrom advised the governor the law forbids such a loan, but offered a counter proposal which was embodied in the governor's letter to Secretary of War Hurley.

The proposal called for joint contracts between the state and federal governments and the contractors for all work on the waterway, including bridges which the state is to build. The work would be under the supervision of the federal engineers, but all money paid out on vouchers would be considered by the state to have been expended by it. It would be agreed that the federal government would at a later date account to the state for all funds expended except for work which the state is to complete.

War department officials hinted this proposal would probably be found as objectionable from the standpoint of federal laws as the loan suggestion was from the standpoint of state laws.

WOMAN ROBBED IN HOME.

Posing as plumbers, two men yesterday gained entrance to the apartment of Mrs. Bertha Edelstein, 5050 Sheridan road, and robbed her of a $1,500 diamond ring and $75

SISTER OF LATE T. R. TO RUN AS WET CANDIDATE

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of the late President Roosevelt, has taken her stand as a contender for the wet cause in Herkimer county where she resides. Mrs. Robinson, who is the mother of Theodore Douglas Robinson, former assistant secretary of war, will run in the primaries as a contesting candidate for delegate to the Republican state convention on a wet ticket.

JUST WHAT TEST DO YOU MAKE?

Are you fooled by mere "taste" when you choose your toothpaste, or do you seek something to help your teeth? No candy-like, pleasant-on-the-tongue flavor can substitute for the unique PEBECO taste,—it comes from the ingredient which gives cleanness to your teeth, the healthiest bloom to your gums, plus a new cooling mouth feeling. It tastes "that way" because it has a definite job to do... because by stimulating the flow of saliva it helps Nature correct mouth acids and retard tooth decay. You want more in a toothpaste, try Pebeco.

DRIVE YOUR CAR FROM CHICAGO TO PARIS
(A motoring suggestion for those tired of the 52 miles around the Lake to Michigan City)

HOW about taking your pet auto to Europe with you? It's the simplest thing in the world to do because the Cunard Line does it all. They take it off the ship at Cherbourg, give it a lick and polish and have it waiting for you on the dock, oiled, gassed and with necessary papers.

A Cunard representative meets you, personally sees you through the Customs, and personally speeds you on your way. He's so polite he almost kisses you. You roll away in the balmiest of moods.

As soon as you're out of Cherbourg, France obligingly starts painting pictures for you. See the peasants looking just the way you thought they'd look, only more so. And the swept and dusted landscape. And the wide, straight, heavenly smooth French roads set with Normandy poplars all in a row.

Look at this snugly little French hotel. Let's stop for the night. Food? Oh, la, la. You've never believed the half of it. You can languish around as late as eleven the next morning. Then lunch at a big rambling inn out in a great pebbled courtyard. By 5:30 you're rolling through the precise and pretty avenues of Paris.

PARLIAMENT OF BRITAIN O. K.'S NAVAL CUT PACT

Japan's Emperor to Act on Treaty Today.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 23.—The house of commons tonight approved the London naval pact without a division. C. G. Ammon, parliamentary secretary of the admiralty, moved for the second reading of the naval treaty bill, the object of which is "to enable effect to be given to the treaty signed at London in behalf of his majesty and certain other powers, and to repeal section 4 of the treaty of the Washington act of 1922."

The bill must still be considered in committee of the whole and go to third reading, but these are looked on as mere formalities.

Promises Action by Dominions.

During the short debate the Conservative leader, Stanley Baldwin, asked whether the government had assurances from the dominions, including the Irish Free State, that they would pass the necessary legislation to carry out the treaty under which the United States, Great Britain, and Japan agree to limit their navies.

First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander replied that the government had indications from all the dominions represented at the conference that they intended to ratify the treaty.

Treaty Before Mikado.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, July 23.—Premier Hamaguchi will go to Hayama tomorrow morning to request the emperor to refer the London naval treaty to the privy council for ratification. This decision was reached at a cabinet meeting this afternoon.

Upon his return from Hayama, Premier Hamaguchi will consult with Kuratomi, president of the privy council, regarding a date upon which the privy council will be called upon to meet.

Call Treaty Defective.

A formal meeting of the supreme military council was held at the imperial palace this morning which merely confirmed the report agreed upon at yesterday's informal meeting finding the treaty defective from the viewpoint of national defense.

Togo presented the formal inquiry of the emperor as to whether the members considered the treaty adequate as regards national defense and the members thereupon approved the draft reply drawn up yesterday. Following the meeting Togo went to Hayama to report the results to the emperor.

Ratification of the London treaty by the United States was welcomed by the Japanese press today, almost all newspapers carrying a long editorial praising the United States for taking the lead in another move toward peace.

Dolores Del Rio Denies Wrecking Lawyer's Home

Hollywood, Cal., July 23.—[Special.]—Dolores del Rio, Mexican motion picture star, emerged from seclusion today to comment on charges embodied in a divorce complaint of her former attorney, Gunther Lessing, against Mrs. Loula Lessing, in which the attorney asserted that Miss Del Rio came between him and his wife and broke up his home.

The actress conferred with her attorney, Walter E. Burke, after reading Lessing's charges and issued this statement:

"Mr. Lessing's charges are false and malicious and are made in an attempt to embarrass me and collect money which is not due him. There is absolutely no foundation for his ridiculous statements."

Called Him "an Ugly Old Man."

Lessing's statements constituted portions of legal papers which he filed today as an answer to a divorce action which his wife began last January.

Mrs. Lessing accused her husband of cruelty and of attempting to turn her 10 year old son by a previous marriage against her.

Lessing's papers charge that Miss Del Rio described him to his wife as "an ugly old man," and advised Mrs. Lessing to seek romance "while a young and beautiful girl," as Miss Del Rio had done.

Lessing also charges that the actress placed her sumptuous home and purse at Mrs. Lessing's disposal, permitted Mrs. Lessing to wear the actress' valuable jewels to social events. Lessing also charges that his wife promised him to break off her association with the actress, but afterwards continued to meet her secretly.

Wife Denies His Charges.

Lessing formerly was judge advocate of the United States army in Mexico City. He represented Miss Del Rio in winning a divorce in Mexico from the late Jaime Del Rio, wealthy Mexico land owner, but in December, 1929, Lessing sued the actress, claiming $31,000 due of $35,000 legal services rendered her.

Mrs. Lessing, through Attorney Philip Cohen, today denied her husband's charges and said, "Miss Del Rio, who I am happy to consider one of my truest friends, had nothing to do with my decision to sue for a divorce."

BRIDGE TRAGEDY ENDS HINDENBURG RHINELAND TOUR

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COBLENZ, July 23.—President von Hindenburg ended his triumphal tour of the Rhineland today by attending services of mourning at the town hall of Coblenz for the 28 victims recovered from the Moselle river this morning after last night's disaster when a narrow bridge at Coblenz-Leutzel collapsed under the weight of crowds watching the fireworks at the former fortress of Ehrenbreitstein. Thirty injured are in hospital, and it is feared more dead may be found when divers inspect the ruins of the frail pontoon bridge. After the memorial exercises the president returned to Berlin.

The German president spoke of his sorrow as "a former citizen and present honorary citizen of Coblenz."

"I shared your joy with you yesterday," he said. "Today I share your sorrow. Where it is possible I will try to help. May God comfort the mourners, and may he bless those we have lost."

Chicago Woman Saved.

A six year old American boy, Raymond Lawler of Akron, O., is among the victims together with his grandfather, a native of Coblenz. His 7 year old sister, Katherine, and their mother, Mrs. Lawler, were saved. Mrs. Helen Conrad of Chicago, aunt of the lost American boy, was also among those rescued.

The bridge which broke down is well remembered by Americans who were in Coblenz in the days of the occupation as the narrow contraption leading over the arm of the Moselle to the military swimming pools.

At Coblenz station at 6 o'clock this morning President von Hindenburg's son and Secretary Meissner were telling the president of the disaster. The president wanted to rush to the scene to try to comfort the bereaved.

Scenes at Disaster.

Painful scenes were witnessed at the scene of the disaster at 5 o'clock this morning. A father who had lost his son was still trudging up and down screaming. One man who had rescued his child swam back to save his wife. With his last ounce of strength he pulled in the woman, only to find that she was a stranger and not his wife. He went out again and drowned.

OTHER CHICAGOANS IN COBLENZ.

William Conrad, 3912 North Claremont avenue, was awaiting word last night from Germany as to whether his daughter, Helen, 16 years old, was among the victims of the bridge disaster at Coblenz. Dispatches to THE TRIBUNE said Mrs. Helen Conrad, his wife, had been saved, but did not mention the daughter.

Mr. Conrad is a brother of Mrs. Katherine Lawler of Akron, O., whose son, Raymond, lost his life. He said other members of the party, who probably were on the bridge, but from whom he has had no word, were Mrs. Marjory B. Siff and her two small daughters, Alice, 10, and Margaret, 11, of 4858 North Oakley boulevard.

RUSSIAN MAKES THREAT TO HALT BUYING IN U. S.

Hits Back at Charges of Propaganda.

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Peter A. Bogdanov, blue-eyed and bearded Russian who heads the board of directors of the Amtorg Trading corporation—the official buying agency of the soviet government in the United States—hit back a blow today at the congressional committee investigating Red activities.

Unless the charges made by Grover Whalen, Matthew Woll, and others that Amtorg has used its powers for propaganda are "thoroughly investigated and found baseless," he declared, "even the continuance of soviet-American trade will be an almost impossible task."

It was more than a hint, it was a palpable threat that governmental interference with Amtorg will be resented to the tune of more than $100,000,000 a year—the amount of Russian imports from America the company controls, and can withdraw.

Answers in Statement.

It was the answer of the chairman of the board—an answer given, not in verbal question and answer from the witness stand, but in a carefully prepared statement—to the implied menace of deportation brought against the corporation's officers by the committeemen.

And it was backed by figures of what the soviet trade has meant to the United States since 1924—when Amtorg started—up to 1929.

Further, there was a promise that by 1932 Russia will spend twice as much abroad, but spend it "where the conditions are most favorable"—if not here, then elsewhere.

Mr. Bogdanov's statement drew from Hamilton Fish Jr., chairman of the committee, the promise that the charges against the Amtorg will be fully investigated. Within the next few sessions, it is understood, the committee will go over papers obtained by Mr. Whalen when he was police commissioner, purporting to link the trading company directly with secret agents of the soviet here to create agitation against the government.

Officers May Testify.

Several of Mr. Whalen's "radical squad" are expected to appear before the committee in secret session.

The statement read to the committee during almost the entire morning session was one Bogdanov had prepared for presentation yesterday, when, instead, the committee put him on cross-examination and forced admissions that the soviet state bank—a governmental agency—controls the Amtorg.

But the allegations that the Russian government has used the corporation for propaganda and for agitation here Bogdanov denied.

"We assert that the accusations against Amtorg are absolutely without foundation," he declared. "Nevertheless the very fact of the charges against the corporation having been widely circulated would not fail to make its position a difficult one and to hamper it in its work.

"The Amtorg has built up a substantial credit position. The accusations against the company have undoubtedly harmed its reputation with some firms."

MISSISSIPPI LOWEST AT ST. LOUIS IN JULY IN RIVER'S HISTORY

St. Louis, Mo., July 23.—(AP)—"Ole Man River" also is suffering from the drought and heat.

The river channel at St. Louis today was 4.7 feet, the lowest in July since records were begun in 1860, and 12.7 feet below the July average.

Navigation here has not suffered appreciably, but at Cape Girardeau, Mo., some of the deeper draft government barges and large steamers have been unable to pass for nearly two weeks. Dredges are at work there.

FORD EXTENDS VACATION PERIOD AN EXTRA WEEK

Detroit, Mich., July 23.—[Special.]—The Ford Motor company announced today that its vacation period will be extended one week. Instructions were issued to employes to return to work Aug. 4, instead of July 28 as previously announced. The plant and offices were closed July 11 for the two week vacation period.

Just why the vacation period has been extended is not stated. It will effect, for one more week, the employment of approximately 80,000 men.

When the plant reopens it will start off on a schedule calling for an output of 7,000 units daily.

SWISS REFUSE TO STOP SINGING OF WIFE OF MORRIS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, July 23.—The tribunal delivered a neutral verdict today in the case of the Chicago millionaire, Lieut. Col. Nelson Morris, prohibiting his wife, Jane Aubert, from singing in Switzerland. The tribunal declared itself incompetent to assume the responsibility concerning the private relations between the couple. Mlle. Aubert, therefore, will make her debut in a local theater tonight, the proceeds to go to charities.

Col. Morris was defeated last March in his effort to have a Versailles court declared incompetent to hear the divorce proceedings instituted by Mlle. Aubert, but the tribunal found the temporary alimony of $1,000 a month granted to her to be excessive and ordered it reduced to $200.

On April 30 a Paris court awarded Mr. Morris $2,000 in his suit against a French music hall management, which had engaged Mlle. Aubert without her husband's consent, pointing out that the French law requires obedience of a wife.

INDICT FORMER DRY FOR PLOT TO STEAL RUM

Three persons, including a former prohibition agent, were indicted by the federal grand jury yesterday for conspiracy to rob the government warehouse at 5210 South Wabash avenue of liquor valued at more than $100,000. The robbery occurred three weeks ago.

James Fern is the former dry officer. He was arrested recently in a raid on the Roma inn, Evergreen Park, with Joseph Roma, proprietor, and Ernest J. Brown, bartender, who also were indicted.

The indictments were returned before Federal Judge Woodward along with more than fifty others, the majority of which charged prohibition and narcotic law violations.

200 Are Driven to Street by Hotel Fire in Duluth

Duluth, Minn., July 23.—(AP)—Two hundred persons were driven to the streets early today when fire broke out in the Spaulding hotel, causing damage estimated at $100,000.

NEW DRY CHIEFTAIN SUSPENDS 2 AGENTS FOR SEARCHING AUTO

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—Amos W. W. Woodcock, new prohibition director, today temporarily suspended two agents for searching a citizen's automobile "without probable cause" and at the same time observed that dry agents should "use their brains instead of their weapons."

The two agents were Charles R. McCartney and John T. Weigel. Their punishment, consisting of three days' lay-off without pay, was for stopping the automobile of E. G. Duncan, Maryland road commission engineer, the night of July 16. Duncan, who was riding with his wife, charged that the agents fired two shots at his car, but Woodcock said investigation failed to show this to be true.

"I think Mr. Duncan might have been mistaken about the shooting," the prohibition director said. "The officers denied that they fired upon the car and at that hour, midnight, any number of noises might have been mistaken by Duncan as shots."

BUNDESEN NAMES MUEHLBERGER AS CORONER CHEMIST

Dr. Clarence W. Muehlberger, assistant director of the crime detection laboratory of Northwestern university, was appointed coroner's chemist yesterday by Coroner Bundesen. He succeeds Dr. Dalph Waldo Webster, who died on July 2. The appointment was made upon the unanimous recommendation of the coroner's advisory committee of physicians.

Dr. Muehlberger is 34 years old. He was born in Chicago and was educated at Armour Institute of Technology. He served in the chemical warfare service during the world war. After receiving his doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1923, he served as research assistant in the university's chemistry department.

He was state toxicologist of Wisconsin for five years before his appointment at Northwestern university.

Dandruff
is inexcusable!

A swift, pleasant way to get rid of it

Annoying, unsightly, unhealthy — dandruff! How it repels others. How quickly it betrays you as a careless person.

Why put up with loose dandruff when full strength Listerine will rid you of it? Thousands of women are enthusiastic about Listerine used this way.

Simply douse Listerine on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously. Within a day or two, you ought to see marked improvement. Of course, if you have a stubborn case, it will be necessary to keep the treatment up several days. If your hair and scalp are excessively dry, use a little olive oil in conjunction with the shampoo.

Listerine first removes and dissolves loose dandruff. Then it cools and heals the scalp. And since it kills to 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, Listerine automatically checks any infection that may be present. This is important in connection with dandruff since many dermatologists declare dandruff to be of germ origin.

Get a bottle of Listerine today and use it. See how much better your hair looks, how much better your scalp feels tomorrow. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Missouri, U. S. A.

GANDHI DICTATES TERMS OF PEACE TO INDIA ENVOYS

Report He Demands All Rebels Be Freed.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

POONA, India, July 23.—Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and Mr. Jayakar, Nationalist leaders, who came from Simla with Viceroy Lord Irwin's indorsement for the purpose of seeking a settlement of the passive revolt in India, held a four hour interview at the Yervada prison here today with Mahatma Gandhi. They will see the "holy man" again tomorrow.

The two delegates also saw Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, who is confined in the women's prison. The noted Indian woman leader was imprisoned when she took up leadership of the civil disobedience campaign following Gandhi's arrest.

The "peace envoys" refused to reveal the nature of Gandhi's statement.

Hear Gandhi Demands Freedom.

Although conflicting stories are being circulated, the impression exists that Gandhi has two objections to calling a halt to the disobedience campaign. He is declared to be unwilling to take the initiative until he is able to confer freely with other members of the Nationalist congress committee, including all imprisoned presidents, and is also reported to have expressed his unwillingness to enter any conference while he is still a prisoner.

Eight of the higher type of congress secretaries and editors, who were transferred to a country prison owing to the overcrowded conditions at Bombay, refused to travel third class. They prostrated themselves on the railway platform and the train departed without them and the guards.

The commercial situation continues to grow worse. The Bombay cloth merchants are taking a vote on a plan to close their shops for three months as a protest against the government's policy of repression.

The Nationalist congress announced that an additional 100,000 members have enrolled in Bombay as a result of a week's campaign.

Send Bombers to Prison.

CALCUTTA, India, July 23.—(AP)—Two youths today were sentenced to four years' imprisonment each in connection with a recent bomb outrage at Howran. The bomb was thrown into the house of a police inspector.

Boycott Hits British Shipping.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 23.—The boycott introduced as an arm of the Indian campaign of passive resistance against Great Britain has had a tremendous effect. Sixteen ships, chartered in June to carry manufactured goods to India, have cancelled sailings.

One British product now unsalable in India is cotton cloth. There are 10,000,000 yards which ordinarily would have been sent to India still in British warehouses. It is estimated that the full force of the boycott will be felt next month, when it is estimated that 50 per cent of the cargo space on all ships for India will remain empty.

OFFICER PROMISES FAST CONSTRUCTION OF FEDERAL PRISON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—All government construction speed records are to be broken in the building of the new penitentiary authorized at the recent session of congress, Sanford Bates, federal prison director, declared today after a report showing an increase of nearly 20 per cent in the federal prison population for the year ended July 1.

The site for the new penitentiary, to be located probably in Pennsylvania, will be selected within a week, Mr. Bates said. Meanwhile architects' plans have been drawn and the contract is expected to be let Sept. 1 and the building completed in October, 1931.

Cells for approximately 1,200 prisoners to be drawn from the northeastern states, which are now furnishing 1,000 inmates a year to other prisons, will be provided in the new structure, which will cost $3,840,000. It will be built on a 1,000 acre tract, of which 300 or 400 acres will be used as a prison farm.

JUDGE CURBS USE OF POLICE FILES IN MAGUIRE CASE

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday refused to allow Special Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case to involve innocent persons in the hearing on the petition to oust Fred V. Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners. The ruling was made when Case sought to introduce as evidence cards bearing records of 822 persons having the same names as election officials at the primary election.

Maguire is charged with permitting persons with police records to act as election judges and clerks. The petition for ouster avers that Maguire allowed persons with police and criminal court records to serve as officials at the polls. When the cards were submitted the judge held that the records should be examined both to expedite the hearing and keep innocent persons from unfair notoriety.

The judge examined thirty cards. Of these he threw out 23 and ordered an examination of the remaining seven to determine whether the persons named on the cards served at the polls. None of those examined was admitted as evidence.

Assistant State's Attorney Voyle Johnson, a watcher in the 34th precinct of the First ward at the April 8 primaries, testified that more than two-thirds of the ballots cast in the precinct were fraudulent.

SAN DOMINGO PICKS CHICAGOAN FOR HAGUE COURT

GENEVA, July 23.—(AP)—The name of Dean John H. Wigmore of Northwestern university for nomination to the permanent court of international justice has been submitted to the secretariat of the league of nations by the Dominican Republic.

Judges of the court will be elected at a session of the league assembly in September.

BURGUNDY TALES STIR UP THE COPS 500 YEARS LATER

Sumner Reads, Blushes and Calls the Wagon.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Rare old jokes—even though they be kingly feats—are not for New York ears. Anecdotes that made Louis XI. laugh 500 years ago made John S. Sumner blush today. They also made almost as much trouble for three booksellers as Louis made for Charles the Bold when his majesty was a prisoner in his foe's Burgundian court and laughed at these selfsame highly seasoned quips.

The trouble, as Mr. Sumner sees it, is that we are not yet ready for such snappy stuff as went the round in court circles five centuries ago. So today, when a bit of resurrected French literature entitled "One Hundred Merrie and Delightsome Stories" came under the stern eye of the head of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, the clang of the patrol wagon sounded in the streets.

After 5 Centuries, Mr. Sumner.

It all came about because modern, high pressure business methods were used to spread Burgundian humor in non-classical communities. A young woman fell heir to a circular which spoke highly and very frankly of the sizzling nature of "One Hundred Merrie and Delightsome Stories." Her father discovered her reading the advertisement and decided neither the circular nor the book was the kind of literature he wanted his daughter to read. That is how Mr. Sumner learned of the tales after five hundred years.

Mr. Sumner will read anything, no matter how old it is, and that is why a detective named Wittenberg (book detectives do not always have first names) dropped into a store on West Forty-fifth street, occupied by Dingwall-Rock Ltd., book publishers.

"I want," said the detective named Wittenberg, "to see a book."

The clerk showed him two books, but Mr. Wittenberg, who was disguised as a wealthy recluse from Westchester, explained that he wanted something salty and that he was not buying the book for the ending. Thereupon the bookseller parted with a two volume set of "One Hundred Merrie and Delightsome Stories" and the detective named Wittenberg parted with twenty dollars and departed.

An Hour of Burgundian Humor.

That is how Mr. Sumner got his book, and it took him just one hour to learn a lot about the way the boys and girls entertained a kingly prisoner when the fleur de lis waved over the court of Charles the Bold, last of the Burgundian dukes and a perfidious sort of a fellow, not to be confused at all with Charles the Bald, who was a French king in the days of the Oriflamme. The reformer learned of Mary of Burgundy, who did a bit of reforming herself. He read his fill of fifteenth century jokes and called for his cane, his detective named Wittenberg, and his aid, Charles Bamberger, and the trio descended upon the booksellers.

And that is how they came to seize Sidney J. Abelson, charging him with violating section 1141 of the penal law, which forbids the sale of indecent literature.

Anthropological Paradox.

Mr. Abelson referred the raiders to Adam Dingwall, head of the book firm. He was seized. Mr. Dingwall suggested that they call on the publisher of the book, Alfred C. Risdon.

This was agreeable to Mr. Sumner, so Mr. Risdon was arrested. Mr. Risdon is 68 years old. He said he was president of the American Anthropological society. The Anthropological society devotes its attention to the study of man, if Noah Webster has not made a mistake, but the raiders said they found 84 sets of "One Hundred Merrie and Delightsome Stories" and 3,500 circulars advertising them in Mr. Risdon's office.

The bookmen were arraigned in West Side court and held in $500 bail for further hearing on Aug. 13.

HURT IN FALL; DIES.

Joseph Mastk, 68 years old, 3904 South Grove avenue, Brookfield, died in the county hospital yesterday of injuries suffered a few days ago when he fell from a scaffold.

(formerly 30 x 4.50)

The tire shown in this advertisement is right now one of the most attractive bargains ever offered a car-owner.

It is the new and nationally popular Goodyear Heavy Duty Balloon.

Sales are rolling up on this great tire in a volume never before equaled in the rubber business on a tire of super-standard quality.

One reason is the outstanding good looks and extraordinary merit of the tire; another reason is the amazingly low price at which it can now be sold.

The tire itself, as the name Heavy Duty implies, is big, stout, massively proportioned, armored with an extra-thick and extra-safe All-Weather Tread—and around its sleek black sidewall runs a single identifying stripe of silver.

Now* is the time to get YOURS

A striking feature is the way in which the outer rows of All-Weather blocks are prismed down into the sidewalls, as fresh and smart a touch as anything in modern design.

Goodyear builds this stunning new Heavy Duty for those who want to drive fast and far without worry, and who want extra immunity against punctures, blowouts, or tire troubles of any kind.

Because crude rubber is cheap this year, you can buy this special Goodyear in the size illustrated for only about a dollar more than you had to pay last year for an ordinary tire in the same size—and other sizes are priced in proportion.

This is a real opportunity to make your tire money stretch its farthest, and keen buyers everywhere are cashing it in by changing over to Goodyear Heavy Duty Balloons.

Just look at the tire and you'll heed the suggestion: Now is the time to get yours!

TEETH WHITEN 3 shades in 3 days
when you remove Bacterial-Mouth

DULL teeth that are ugly, yellow and decayed, and receding gums are enemies of beauty, health and happiness. They are tell-tale signs of a condition offensive to all of us—and inexcusable. Germs sweep into the mouth with every breath and attack teeth and gums. They cause the condition known as Bacterial-Mouth. But Kolynos quickly conquers this foe by killing the germs that cause it. The result is astonishing.

Use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique for 3 days—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Then look at your teeth—fully 3 shades whiter.

In 10 days the improvement will be so marked you will never again say that white teeth are a gift received only by a fortunate few.

Dentists have long advocated the Dry-Brush Technique as the one way to use a dental cream full strength and keep brush bristles stiff enough to clean every tooth surface and massage gums properly. Kolynos permits this approved technique.

This highly concentrated, double-strength dental cream is unique in action. It multiplies 25 times when it enters the mouth—thus a half-inch of Kolynos is equal in effectiveness to 12 inches of the ordinary toothpaste. It becomes a surging, antiseptic FOAM that makes wetting the toothbrush unnecessary.

You can feel Kolynos work. It foams into every pit, fissure and crevice.

Germs that cause Bacterial-Mouth and lead to stain, decay and gum diseases are quickly killed. They vanish and the entire mouth is purified. Kolynos kills 190 million germs in 15 seconds, 424 million in 60 seconds.

This amazing Kolynos FOAM removes food particles that ferment and cause decay . . . neutralizes acids . . . washes away tartar and the unsightly mucoid coating that clouds teeth.

Easily and quickly, it cleans and polishes teeth down to the naked white enamel—without injury. And for 3 hours after each brushing this cleansing, purifying process continues.

So long as you use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique teeth will remain gleaming white and sound, gums will be firm and healthy.

Look for Results in 3 Days

If you want whiter, sounder teeth and firm, pink gums start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush, morning and night. Within 3 days teeth will look whiter—fully 3 shades. Gums will look and feel better. Your mouth will tingle with a clean, sweet taste. Buy a tube of Kolynos from any druggist.

THE TELEPHONE ORDINANCE AS A PRECEDENT.

The council committee which has negotiated a new franchise with the telephone company has recently added a number of amendments and now proposes to bring the franchise to a speedy vote in the council as a whole. The amendments are said to renew the company's obligation under the old franchise to pay the costs of moving its wires in streets in which subways are built.

That the obligation should be renewed is plain. Whether the amendments as adopted by the committee accomplish the desired result is another question upon which there appear to be two opinions. There can be no excuse for ambiguity in the matter and there can be no justification for indirection in the statement of the obligation. The council wishes to oblige the company to pay these costs when they arise, and the wording of the franchise should leave no possible room for doubt as to the meaning of the contract.

Some of the aldermen seem to be of the opinion that the franchise of the telephone company should obligate it no further than other utilities have been required to go in exchange for the right to use the city's streets. They say that the telephone company should not be discriminated against. They overlook the fact that the telephone company was obliged, under the old franchise, to move its cables for subways which were never built, and to free the company of that obligation now when subways are to be built is to make a concession for which nothing is received in return. If the obligation is not renewed it is the city and not the company which is the victim of a discrimination.

The utilities have different kinds of service lines and different terms of tenure of the streets. The city is in much the position of a landlord who has a number of tenants occupying various parts of a building. His leases are not identical, and what is contained in one lease need not and does not govern the terms of the others.

It is to the city's interest to make its traction fund go as far as possible in subway construction. Should the city weaken toward the telephone company, the fact will be cited by the other utilities as a precedent for lightening their responsibilities. On the contrary, if the city insists that the telephone company renew its obligation in unmistakable language, that fact will strengthen the city's arm in subsequent negotiations with the other utilities. Before approving the proposed telephone ordinance the aldermen have the duty of assuring themselves that nothing has been given away and that the subway sections, in particular, are as clear and binding as words can make them.

RESPONSIBLE REPRESENTATION.

The correction of the miscount in the congressional primary of the 7th district has established the nomination of James C. Moreland, and the event is deserving of special note for several reasons. The first of these is that an important political fraud has been defeated and attention has again been drawn to the fact that our election machinery needs some drastic reform. The people of the 7th district were about to be cheated of their right of self-government and given a nominee for representative in congress who did not represent them and whom they had determined to repudiate. Such a political fraud is the most direct and inexcusable blow at democratic government, and we believe the evil is more general than is realized.

Another aspect of the case is the cause of the defeat of Michaelson, who had been elected previously as a dry and voted with the drys in congress. The episode of the leaky trunk, though "explained" to the apparent satisfaction of the prosecuting authorities, seems not to have been satisfactorily explained to Mr. Michaelson's constituency. Whether they voted against him because they did not like to be deceived or whether they had decided they did not want to be represented by one of the numerous congressmen who vote one way and drink another cannot be determined. But the net result was that Mr. Michaelson is out and Mr. Moreland, who is not a political dry, is in.

It seems probable that the 7th district is less dry in sentiment than it was when Michaelson was sent to congress, but we think also that there is a wholesome revulsion even among many believers in prohibition against the hypocrisy of a good part of dry representation in congress. The fanatic or professional dry doesn't care much whether a vote is sincere, or even representative, so long as it is a dry vote. But there must be many advocates of the prohibitory liquor law who see beyond the end of their noses and are disgusted with inconsistency and hypocrisy and realize its demoralizing influence in politics. Many, too, must resent the willingness of the professional dry machine to compound with the hypocrite in order to sustain their political power.

AN ILLINOIS WATERWAY LOAN TO THE U. S.

If the state of Illinois can advance the United States $2,000,000 the work on the Illinois waterway, to be taken over by the federal government, will be begun this fall. The congressional appropriation will not be available this year, but the state has some funds which can be used if the attorney general can give the loan a legal clearance. It can be assumed that the debtor will be good for it.

The state is still required to build bridges over the waterway and it has the money for this work. The proposal is to transfer some of the bridge reserve to the federal engineers and put it at their disposal for an early beginning. Secretary of War Hurley in a radio talk urged the full development of the inland waterway system as a necessary part of the country's transportation. It is of great advantage that construction be pushed ahead at the present time. There is employment in it when it is desired to increase means of employment and an early start means a quicker arrival at the general benefits expected from the operation of the new route to the gulf. The credit relation between state and nation may be an unusual one, but the state has money which can be temporarily diverted for the purpose and unless the federal government borrows the work must wait.

THE WASTAGE OF POLITICS.

The latest report of the committee of the Association of Commerce which has been investigating county expenditures cannot be classified as a revelation, though it contains much significant information and useful suggestion. But its net effect upon the public mind should be helpful, not merely in making more definite and insistent the demand for better official methods, but also in strengthening the determination to keep as much of our activities out of the field of politics and government as possible. Reforms in specific instances we can from time to time compel, but there are inherent and incurable tendencies in our democratic politics which year in and year out we cannot hope to defeat. The self-interest of the politician, which is only human nature operating in the political field, collides constantly with public economy and efficiency.

It must be so unless an effective and continuous majority of the voters have time and disposition to follow politics and official action constantly and aggressively, and this requirement of responsive and efficient public administration is usually and will continue to be lacking.

This is not a counsel of perfection, but a realistic statement of the problem. It follows that our policy, if it is to be substantially profitable, is not to seek the impossible either of citizenship or officialdom, but to reduce the area of wastage by keeping as much of our activities out of politics and official control as conditions permit. We must have government and its operative machinery politics. They have important functions which private enterprise cannot perform, but let us keep our political action as strictly as possible confined to these and not be tempted by impatience or superficial consideration to resort any more than is clearly necessary to government or to political action. Their wastage and irresponsibility are enormous and to a great extent unavoidable. Let us keep them as small as possible by keeping the domain of politics and government as narrow as we can contrive.

KANSAS GOES JAKE.

The success of the dry citizenship of the country in getting jake paralysis from its libations is not confined to Georgia and other pre- and anti-evolution sections where the ancestors still refuse to come down out of the trees. The ginger shuffle is having a vogue in some of the northeastern states, where a number of indictments for purveying the fluid extract of ginger have been returned in the federal courts.

Eastern Kentucky has many cases of the paralysis and a writer for Collier's Weekly says that Kansas, the noblest of them all in the great experiment, is sadly stricken with this new disease of teetotalism. He says that Wichita alone has five hundred cases. Most of the victims got it from tipple at the soda fountains, where the intoxicating and poisonous jake ginger, nearly all alcohol, was dressed up with fruit sirups and charged water.

The addicts of Volsteadism are doubly unfortunate in that the doctors have not been able to relieve them or to give them any hope of relief. They are paralyzed in the feet or legs and shuffle and hitch about on crutches or are stretched out on their backs. The extra dry states seem to be particularly exposed to the jake paralysis because of the sneaking morality of their drinking habits. They have made a pleasure of hypocrisy and like to persuade themselves that a good shoe polish if it had an 85 per cent alcoholic content would be satisfactory to virtue as well as to appetite and if a citizen should get an edge in that fashion he would be merely full of the good life.

The jake paralysis is a stiff price to pay for such theories of decency and law, but it is only one of the many unpleasant and unfortunate consequences of the noble experimenting.

Editorial of the Day

BUILDING ROADS IN IOWA.

[Des Moines Tribune-Capitol.]

It cannot be pointed out too often that in a little more than a decade Iowa is transforming her primary highway system from one of mud to one of concrete. This does not mean that a good share of the system has not seen gravel as a temporary surfacing, but the paving program won favor so rapidly and has been put into effect so earnestly that it has been almost one step from the gumbo to the concrete slabs.

Now the state highway commission proposes to grade the last 201 miles of unbuilt primary roads in 1931. Most of the 614 miles of graded highway that remains unsurfaced will get gravel or paving next year, and it is not unlikely that another 1,000 miles of concrete will be completed. This hints that by the end of 1931 more than 4,000 miles will be finished of the 5,000 miles of paving scheduled for completion by the end of 1933.

So it is worth attention that the ambitious program that the state mapped out a few years ago has gone forward even more rapidly than most Iowans had hoped. At the end of this very season half of the whole system of 6,765 miles will be paved. At the end of next year that proportion will probably be two-thirds, and practically no part will remain unsurfaced. Such an accomplishment as that cannot go ignored.

RELIEF FROM HIVES.

DR. THOMAS M. PAUL offers a new method of giving relief in hives and in some forms of what is called hives. The remedy is an extract of spleen. This is put up in ampoules or glass capsules and is sterile. It is injected under the skin. By "giving relief" he means that the welts disappear, the itching ceases, and attacks do not recur, even though the man eat the foods which previously brought on an attack or was exposed to other causes of attacks in a way that previously had caused disaster.

The dose given is a large one. It consists of the contents of somewhere around ten ampoules. This is repeated about twice a week for three or four weeks. The spleen extract comes in two strengths.

A fair sample of what the method accomplishes is the case of a railroad brakeman. This man had hives pretty generally all over his body. This had lasted for several months. At times the hives developed to the stage where the name angioneurotic edema fitted the case. The first dose injected consisted of the contents of eight ampoules. The next night the regular crop of hives tried to appear, but it did not quite make the grade. Three days later another injection was given and again the hives tried to appear, but with poor success. That ended the matter. Two months later this man was free from all his symptoms and had been so long enough to almost forget his old time itchy days and nights. Meanwhile, he had done the same things and had eaten about the same foods as in the days of his trouble.

This method is not much more than three years old. Dr. Paul has been trying it out for only about two years. This is not long enough nor have there been cases enough for any final opinion as to its value.

MOSQUITO BITES.

Mrs. P. K. writes: 1. Will you please be so good as to tell us why mosquitoes bite and sting some people and leave others alone? Needless to say, I am one of their favorites, but should they have preferences?

2. Would you please tell me the best thing to put on the skin to prevent them from biting? I use citronella at present and ammonia to kill the poison if bitten.

REPLY.

1. You taste good to them. Mosquitoes are discriminating as to taste, smell, color, and some other qualities. Why? I don't know why. Why your tastes?

2. The repellents we recommend are: Roxburgh: oil of cedar, 1½ drachms; oil of citronella, 3½ drachms; spirits of camphor, enough to make one ounce.

Another, oil of citronella, 1 ounce; spirits of camphor, 1 ounce, and oil of cedar, ½ ounce.

One containing fish oil is better still, but that remedy is worse than the disease for some.

For bites a weak solution of ammonia is as good as anything. Rubbing with a piece of moist soap helps. Applying ice bag or a cold water bottle also helps.

RESUSCITATION METHOD.

G. D. writes: Please send me a description of the Schafer method of resuscitation.

REPLY.

This is also known as the prone pressure method of resuscitation. It is described in all books on first aid, being the preferred method for performing artificial respiration. The patient lies front downward and face turned to one side, with mouth and nose unobstructed. Operator kneels, straddling patient and facing his head. Hands grasp the lower rib region, thumbs along and near backbone, fingers around sides of chest, and arms stiff. Operator throws his weight forward and with a straight arm jab compresses the patient's chest. He then raises up, releasing the pressure on the chest. The released chest wall expands and draws air into the lungs. After an interval, repeat. This is done sixteen times a minute with regular, even movements and rhythm.

FORM OF CAR SICKNESS.

E. F. T. writes: Why do I get dizzy if I read while riding on a street car?

REPLY.

This is a mild form of car sickness. Eyestrain is a factor. The easiest way out is not to read while riding.

INDIAN GIVER.

Chicago, July 22. — [Legal Friend of the People.]—A wife leaves her husband because of his cruelty, intending to sue him for divorce. She leaves him and her children in possession of the house that he had deeded to her two years before [quit claim]. Now the husband has started proceedings to set aside the deed and reclaim the property, claiming fraud.

1. Can the wife begin divorce proceedings before the real estate matter is settled?

2. Can she request temporary alimony pending the outcome of the divorce, inasmuch as she is without personal funds? G. L. R.

Yes, to both questions.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PRIVATELY OPERATED.

Chicago, July 20.—[Friend of the People.]—Would like to know what the plans are in regard to street repairs in the Summerdale district. They resurfaced one block on Berwyn avenue east from Damen and then stopped. Also please let us know who is going to furnish the money when the work is done.
J. H. M.

Report is made that the streets referred to in the Summerdale district are old macadam streets beyond repair. The block referred to on Berwyn avenue east of Damen avenue was resurfaced by private contract.
JOSEPH J. BUTTLER,
Superintendent of Streets.

WHAT DETERMINES RESIDENCE.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I made application for second papers ten weeks ago. In 1924 I planned to go to Europe and made out an individual income tax return and affidavits; but I did not go to Europe, but was in New York for about three weeks. Otherwise I have resided in Cook county continuously ever since my arrival in this country. Will my brief absence be considered as nonresidence and keep me from getting my papers? M. R.

Three weeks' absence would not in itself affect a person's status as a resident here. Other facts would have to combine with such absence, such as an intent to make one's permanent home elsewhere.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. M. K.

VERILY, BROTHERS, IN THE STARS IS PEACE!

We respectfully call the attention of the standpat Republican newspapers to the lectures at the Adler Planetarium as being splendid and absolutely heaven sent subjects for editorials at this rather embarrassing moment. What with wheat down to 88 cents, Mr. Legge with 60 million bushels of wheat in the safety deposit box and refusing to buy more, the apparent reluctance of prosperity to stage a comeback, the growing disfavor of the 18th amendment, the ebb tide in employment, the London naval pact, the stubbornness of Claudius Huston, the remembrance rankling in the western breast of Sen. Moses' untactful remark about sons of wild jackasses, etc., etc., etc., standpat G. O. P. editors have of late been emitting editorials on only such subjects as "Health and Happiness Found in Our Leafy Forests," "Will Miniature Golf Courses Supplant the Talkies?" and "Now the Yellow Snapdragon Invites Us to the Open Road." Splendid subjects all of these, but they are getting terribly worn. And from the looks of several Old Guard editorial writers we've seen lately, they must be terribly wearing, too.

That's why we say the lectures at the Adler Planetarium should be perfect life savers. For instance, when "A Disgusted Republican" or "One Who Refuses to Be Fooled Again" bombards the faithful G. O. P. editor with his shrill screams to high heaven, let him come out next day with a fine ringing editorial on "The Home Sky and the Ways of the Planets in the Sky." And when the proletariat rise up with hideous moans regarding wheat, Claudius Huston, and Prosperity, let there be another Planetarium lecture taken as the subject of an editorial, "The Midnight Sun and the Heavens as Seen from the North Pole." That'll hold 'em. Anyhow, it's worth trying.

TO A HEEDLESS ONE.

Perhaps I should have called to you—
"No, no, I pray you, do
Not smash that lovely thing
You hold so carelessly. Here, bring
It to my side and I will mind
It, while you run away
And play."

I am too filled with weariness to tell
You that my laughter fell
On brittle breaking glass.
You did not glimpse a shadow pass
Your blund'ring feet. Because I do not weep—
A little while before you go—
You do not know.

JUDY SHEA.

"THE MAN with the Green Hat," who (it is said, it is said, it is said) is official bootlegger to the Senate and House office building, has been sentenced to eighteen months in the hoosegow. But what's the use? We'll next hear that the "Man with a Yellow Hat" is prowling around Washington with hootch bottles sticking out of every pocket, or the "Man with the Purple Hat," or the "Man with the Red Hat with Blue Polka Dots." Dogone, those bootleggers buy new hats faster'n scat.

SHAKE WELL BEFORE USING.

Ole Pap Scowler writes to us to say that he has a prescription for tree sitting that will cure the boys without fail. "It's the old theory," says Pap, "the hair of the dog will cure the bite. You go to the very tree in which the sitters are sitting. Climb up far enough to break off a small section of the tree, usually called a branch. You select a branch about half an inch in diameter and four or five feet long. Strip off the leaves and twiglets. Now you hold the small branch firmly in the hand by one end. Then you ask the tree sitter to stand up and you apply the branch briskly to the seat of the pants. Three or four doses of this treatment will effect a complete cure." Well, it sounds like a fine medicine.

MIGHT AS WELL WASTE IT ONE WAY AS TOTHER.

[From the Mason City (Ia.) Globe-Gazette via Dorothy.]

FAIRFIELD, July 21.—(AP)—A period of financial depression provides an excellent time for going to college in the opinion of Dr. Clarence Greene, president of Parsons college. If you can't get work the year is likely to be wasted anyway, he reasons, so why not go to college?

DOGGONE, California has certainly got to borrow Al Capone from Florida. Al gets Florida on the front page almost every day, but we had almost forgotten California until it managed to horn in on the seventeenth page yesterday with a little story about Helen Wills Moody refusing to play tennis with the governor of California. California's got to do something.

THE ARTIST.

The artist ever sees the perfect form,
Beauty engendering,
That always lies but just beyond the norm
Of his poor rendering.

And yet if some expression he succeeds
In part attaining,
He caters to some starved soul's hidden needs,
To the world's gaining!

E. LESLIE SPAULDING.

THE NEAR APPROACH of Zaro Acha, the grand old man of Turkey, aged 156 years, again revives the rumors that Zaro is to be given a job with our celebrated baseball team, the White Sox. Soak 'em on the nose, Zaro! Line 'em out! Attaboy!

MR. LEGGE, sezze, that if the farm board kept on buying wheat right now it would just encourage the farmers out in Kansas to plant more. So we're not going to plant a last line today; it would just encourage Cal Coolidge and all the other colyumists to plant more last lines, too. And we've got to stabilize last lines, or the price of 'em will just go down to nothin' atall.

LINING UP FOR THE FALL RACE

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 24, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Col. L. C. Baker has been appointed to the rank of brigadier general for, as the commission states, "meritorious service as provost marshal during the war, and especially for diligence in the suppression of frauds against the government, in recruiting, and in pursuing the murderers of the President, J. Wilkes Booth and his accomplices."

CINCINNATI.—G. St. Leger Grenfell, one of the conspirators to sack and burn Chicago last year, whose sentence by the military commission has never been announced, though all his associates who were convicted have been pardoned, last week was sent to the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus. It was generally supposed that he was sentenced to death, but it is said that Col. Wisewell, a member of the commission that tried him, has written to the war department recommending his discharge.

BALTIMORE.—A Fortress Monroe letter says that the United States steamer Quinneboy was wrecked on the bar at Morehead City on July 21. About 30 persons are reported lost or missing. Capt. Jerome was in command, and there were about 300 soldiers on board the transport.

WASHINGTON. — The government takes final possession of Ford's theater, in which President Lincoln was shot, tomorrow. Everything is packed for removal. The government is to pay rent to Ford for six months and if by that time congress has not made an appropriation for the purchase of the house it will be returned to him.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's Selma, Ala., correspondent says: "Fine plantations, including buildings, can be bought for $3 to $5 an acre—worth $50 before the war. Many who have lost all they possessed in cotton, Negroes, and stock are anxious to sell part of their plantations to raise money to carry on the balance."

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 24, 1900.

SEATTLE. — International surveyors have located the boundary line between Alaska and northwest Canada in accordance with the terms of the modus vivendi. The completion of the work cedes to the British the northern half of the American Porcupine mining district. The miners are making loud protests.

WASHINGTON.—President McKinley replied to the plea of the Chinese government asking the mercy of the powers in its time of distress by promising to protect the integrity of China so long as the imperial government shows a disposition and the ability to protect Americans from the Boxers and Chinese troops. He did not offer to mediate.

LONDON.—Gen. De Wet has again succeeded in cutting Lord Roberts' communications both by railway and telegraph and captured 100 of the Highlanders. The story of the bold raid comes from Gen. Forestier-Walker, dated at Cape Town, July 22, forwarding a dispatch from Gen. Knox.

CHICAGO. — In deference to the wishes of President McKinley the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will begin in Chicago on Aug. 25, so he can attend religious services in the Coliseum on Sunday, Aug. 26. The original date was Aug. 27. The President will be here four days.

CHICAGO.—Prof. Hand will play "coon" songs this season at Lincoln park.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 24, 1920.

NEW YORK. — Tied at two victories each, Sir Thomas Lipton's green Shamrock IV., challenger for the America's cup, and Resolute, the trim white defender, meet tomorrow in the deciding race. Resolute won the race today in handy style.

WARSAW.—Having Grodno within their lines, the bolsheviki are sweeping on and have spread the tip of their right wing across the Niemen and into Poland proper. Bearing down upon the Sokolka region from the north, the Reds have sent patrols toward East Prussia and are meeting with little if any resistance.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

TENNIS IN THE WEST PARKS.

Chicago, July 17.—For the information of the tennis players and the public at large on the west side, I wish to state that for the last five or six years there were no improvements whatsoever put in the tennis courts. Some time ago I made a personal investigation of all the activities under the jurisdiction of the West Chicago park commissioners, and can safely say that the complaint by the tennis players was a just one, but all the work that is to be done cannot be accomplished in a month or two. The intention of the West Chicago park commissioners is to resurface all of the tennis courts with a hard substance and get away from the dirt tennis courts; also put in the proper drainage and other facilities, and I want to assure the tennis players that this will be done some time this year. W. R. JAMES.
President, West Chicago Park Commissioners.

IN DOUGLAS PARK.

Chicago, July 15.—Directly opposite the Douglas park refectory is a concrete dance floor which is not in use. Is it not possible for the west park board to have this space fenced and at least two tennis courts made? As the concrete is already laid the additional expense would be negligible and the upkeep would be little. HAROLD KOHN.

HAD BE.

Chicago, July 16.—I note Mr. A. L. Hennessey's remarks about the use of the phrase "had be," and while I have not at hand a '29 dictionary, I have a '27 edition of the book entitled "Correct English, Complete Grammar and Drill Book," written by a well-known grammarian, who refers to such clauses as "had better be" as idioms and states that "idioms may be employed with equal propriety in literary and in conversational usage." H. W. S.

GRUELLING.

Chicago, July 16.—May I call your attention to one word that is in daily use and which I have never been able to find in any book of reference—namely: gruelling? No sporting event would be complete, in the eyes of the sports writer, without its being a "gruelling contest." OTTO GARR TAGUE.

DOVE.

Chicago, July 22.—Your reporters consistently use the vulgarism "dove" as the past tense of "dive." Dove is pronounced "duv" and means a bird that is often used as a symbol of peace. The past tense of "dive" is "dived," and "dove" with the long o has no place anywhere except in the vocabulary of the provincial schoolboy. EDWIN D. SHEEN.

THE PALMER PORTRAITS.

Chicago, July 17.—It is good to know that the castle made famous by Mrs. Potter Palmer is not to be torn down. At the time of the open house some few weeks ago the writer went over expressly to see in the dining room the full length paintings of Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer in their wedding garments of long ago. Imagine her dismay when she found the space on either side of the buffet filled by giant menu bulletins. Can any one tell her where she may be permitted to view those two paintings? ELIZABETH NEVITT STEELE.

A CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

Chicago, July 8.—For World's Fair mayor: Gen. Abel Davis.
The ayes have it.
Nominations closed. L. J. KELLER.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

Hinsdale, Ill., July 14.—Your editorial "The Boy Scouts," in Saturday's edition, is most praiseworthy. It is good reading, clean, and inspiring. It is a refreshing change from crime in all its phases.

Has it occurred to you that you may have been lagging rather than leading in not having a "Boy Scout department" to keep up with this wonderful world-wide movement? There are tens of thousands of Scouts and Scouters in your area and ten times as many more who ought to be and would be if they were only enlightened.

The writer has many Scout pictures you have published from time to time which are very interesting. Why not more of them and more about these peacetime patriots, the Scoutmasters, more about the big men who are backing this thing; more about scouting as a fine way of living for both boy and man? ANDREW FEIL.

APPRECIATION.

Chicago, July 21.—Allow me to express my sincere appreciation for the splendid editorial on scouting which appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE July 12, 1930. It is the kind of publicity which urges us on to do even better work.
ALLAN R. CARPENTER,
Educational Director, Chicago Council, Boy Scouts of America.

THE UNITED STATES FAIR.

Dowagiac, Mich., July 13.—Some months ago I wrote to the Historical society of Chicago, asking for data concerning Camp Douglas, mentioning in my letter that it was located just south of 31st street, which in 1859 was the city limits, and also that a United States fair was held on the same ground in September, 1859. I was astonished and almost shocked to read in their reply that they have no record of a fair having been held there at that time. I was then staying with my sister, Mrs. H. B. Burnham, on Myrick avenue, now Vernon avenue, near 29th street, then in the suburbs. That was the first United States fair ever held and was, as exhibits, attendance, and, I think, financially, a success. I have so far been unable to find any one to corroborate my account, though it surely is an important item in the history of the city. The record, doubtless, was lost in the fire of '71. If no one remembers attending it, it seems as though some one may recall hearing it spoken of, perhaps some of the Beaubien family.
MRS. ANNETTE OSBORN.

MAYBE IT'S THE BOSS HIMSELF.

Chicago, July 16.—Every day on the roof of the old three story building between the Burnham building and the Steuben club one may see a chap who no doubt cannot afford a vacation or who has a hardhearted boss.

With newspapers spread on the roof and clad in his underwear [shorts] you may see him reclining gracefully, letting his system absorb the sun's rays, be they beneficial or not.

This letter is for the purpose of trying to start a petition addressed to this chap's boss to allow said chap a few hours off each day so he may loll around on some beach, acquiring a coat of tan which will be honest and not one which will lead his friends to believe he has had an extended vacation. I wonder if his boss knows he spends his time on the roof giving the tenants of surrounding buildings a look at his splendid physique. G. M. K.

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

To the nine hundred block, with its sordid dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom he regrets, since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and mother. Mrs. Colt encourages Billy Treadway, a rich bachelor beau of her girlhood, in his attentions to Theresa.

Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him and married Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. Theresa returns his love.

Billy Treadway takes Theresa to a Christmas dance at the new country club, where she sees her father.

Johnny sends his laundry to a neighbor and Mrs. Baum, noting the Paris and London labels, thinks she has made a discovery.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Mrs. Baum left by the Detwiler front door. This took her through the dining room and hall and she got "a good look into the parlor, passin'." Outside she scuttled homeward, but, as she drew near her doorway, her pace slackened. He was coming; the one who called himself Deane.

"Good morning, your highness," said Mrs. Baum.

Johnny's jaw dropped; then he went on, laughing. Had the old lady been sampling Christmas bootleg stuff? Suddenly Johnny paused and his laughter ceased. Perhaps she was on to his connection with The Great J. Z.; he had been called the crown prince because of this before. He hesitated. He didn't want to ask her to keep quiet; but—if the story got out—the story of Collette would get out, too, and he wasn't ready to tell Theresa of that yet.

After a look around he retraced his steps and uneasily he tapped upon Mrs. Baum's little, paint flaked door. She opened the door immediately.

"Step in, yer highness," she invited. Johnny stepped in. "Spare yer coat, yer highness," she invited next. "The old girl" had "quite a wit,' Johnny decided. He giggled sheepishly; he explained he could not stop; then he cleared his throat; rather difficult it was to ask, somehow!

"I see you're on, Mrs. Baum," he admitted at length (and as he twirled a hat), "and—well—I wonder whether you'll be a good sport and—keep it dark? For several reasons it would be darned—I mean—frightfully inconvenient for me—if it got out—around—especially just now—I—well, I can't quite explain—but——"

"Once when I was in Cuba. Ever been in Cuba?" the Doctor broke in on himself to question.

"I suppose they'd want you back," Mrs. Baum hazarded.

"Exactly," he agreed with that relief which breeds pure fervor.

"I ain't sayin' nothin' to no one, yer highness."

"I—I thank you a lot——" he said.

He left rather dazed and at the moment when Mrs. Detwiler said to her liege lord, "Listen, Earl, I got sumpun to tell you——"

"I bet," the doctor agreed. "Guess you seen me on the street talkin' to Mrs. Baum and you're jealous——" he announced, and he winked at his daughter, Lottie, who had come in to settle by the table which held that thinned luncheon that foretells a fête ahead. But Lottie, who usually giggled easily, did not giggle. "You wait, pop," she bade with solemn awe.

Mrs. Detwiler sat back in her chair.

"Well," she said, "it's just this: Mrs. Baum found it out——"

"No!" said Dr. Detwiler. "I ain't one—knowin' her—to believe that!"

"You can joke, poppa, but you wait!" put in Lottie. Mrs. Detwiler now leaned across the table. "You know that Deane fellah?" she said. "Well, he's Prince Carol of Rumania, that's all!" And once more she sat back, now triumphantly.

Dr. Detwiler guffawed rudely; his mirth was not shared by his women folk. Mrs. Detwiler said Mrs. Baum had seen his underwear and knew.

"Look here," said Dr. Detwiler, confronted by frost and feeling it, "if Prince Carol was here he'd be stayin' with Archie Kaines out to his place. Didn't he entertain Sittin' Bull, or somebody? And don't he entertain all the celebrities, him or Jake Houck?"

"He's incognito," said Lottie.

"What's that? I ain't met no horses with that disease lately," said the doctor.

"Hiding," Lottie explained.

"It ain't true," said Dr. Detwiler.

"I wonder if the prince enjoys a nice game of five hundred," Lottie put in, her voice slowed by speculation.

"We gotta ask him to our party," said Mrs. Detwiler. "It won't hurt, and what if he was Prince Carol and we didn't?"

"Tell him to bring along that lady friend that made him leave his home town," said Dr. Detwiler. "Maybe I can show her around a little——"

"Poppa, you're just awful," said Lottie.

"You're to ask him," said Mrs. Detwiler. The doctor sighed.

Johnny, who had been putting a sample he had cut from a pair of paint smeared overalls into a small box he was going to send his father, was diverted by a tap upon his door. Beyond it stood a person who was redolent of Pinaud's Lilac and who had dog hairs on his coat.

"Prince——" began the invader. He changed it quickly to, "That is—Mr. Deane—I believe?"

"Yes," Johnny admitted, thinking, "I am going cuckoo!"

"Detwiler's my name. Known—and pretty generally—as Doc Detwiler, and we're having a party tonight over to our place and we'd be pleased to have the favor of your cumpney."

Johnny said it was no end good of them to think of him. He faltered. He had an engagement. He added, "Unfortunately." He was going to say he was dining out, but he decided against it.

"Well, now that's real lousy," Johnny's caller commented.

"Er—quite," Johnny admitted.

"I'll tell yuh what——" said Dr. Detwiler energetically, "you come in some Sunday to dinner. We'll leave you know——" (he had been commanded, had the doctor, to get him later if he wouldn't—couldn't—come now). "We'll just take you right into the family," the doctor went on. Johnny looked a trifle alarmed.

"It's no end good of you," said Johnny.

His visitor hesitated. He was not yet convinced. It sounded "fishy" to him. "Say, look here," he said loudly, "can you talk French?"

"Of—a sort," Johnny answered.

"Say some off fer me," Dr. Detwiler commanded. "I ain't never heard none," he added, "and I want to know how it goes."

"Porquoi me vous demandez cela?" Johnny questioned, obeying.

"Well," murmured the doctor; he was silent a moment, turning the matter over in his slowly moving mind. "Do you know," he remarked slowly, "for a while there I didn't believe it?"

"Neither did I," said Johnny, who was beginning to regard his visitor as a mild lunatic who must be indulged.

"So you can't fix it, no way, to come?"

"Couldn't possibly; thank you so much."

"Well, my women folks is going to be real put out about your not coming to their party. You and me, I guess we know how women are!"

Johnny saw a broad, leering wink. "What the devil?" he thought.

"Once when I was in Cuba—ever been to Cuba?" the doctor broke in on himself to question. Johnny nodded. "Well, once when I was there a lady come up to me on that street they call the Prado and she says to me in Cuban I don't know what; mamma was along or God knows what that woulda led to!"

The doctor's fraternal, suddenly clinging hand affixed itself to Johnny's hard, now shrinking upper arm.

"And once when I was to Savannah," the doctor began anew, but after a cautious look around, a drawing close to Johnny and a dramatic lowering of his voice. And then to Johnny's intense relief Katie opened her door.

"Well, Katie!" said the doctor. "Finish up that there later," he whispered to Johnny as he found Johnny's ribs with a nudging elbow and again, aloud: "Guess now—I gotta be gettin' along——"

"Very good of you all to invite me to your affair," Johnny said. And a second later and Dr. Detwiler's "So long, don't take no wooden nickels!" floated up from the second floor. Elsie Colt heard the leavetaking. "Obviously," she murmured to Theresa, "that impossible person is one of that young Mr. Deane's friends——"

"Tick—tick! tick! tick! Tick!" very fast—as color gathered on Theresa's cheeks and resentment gathered in her eyes.

"What'ud he want!" Katie asked harshly from her doorway where she stood.

Johnny told her.

"They have swell parties," Katie stated, "but I don't think you had oughta go unless they ask her along."

"I am going to pass it by," Johnny responded, heart sick and longing.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Here's a three star picture that comes mighty near being in the four star class.

"Common Clay" is human, engrossing, splendidly directed, staged, and acted, and entirely believable until the last reel, when a burst of wordy, well worded elocution on the part of the heroine strikes a note of unreality. You feel that she might indeed say what she does, but not in the lengthy and connected fashion in which she says it. Surprise, shock, the grilling experience Ellen Neal has passed through would certainly tend to make her utterance at this time tumbled, passionate, incoherent. Or else heavy, halting, lifeless. Or so I thought. At that time and at no other did Miss Bennett appear to be delivering a carefully studied and rehearsed piece.

The picture is an adaptation of the stage play in which Jane Cowl appeared. The story is of a girl who has "gone wrong," as we say, and mends her ways upon the advice of a judge, who urges her to break away from her hectic life and get honest work—"ANY kind of honest work—don't be too particular"—among nice people.

She becomes a maid in the beautiful home of a family of wealth and social prestige, and she makes the discovery that "common clay" may be found in the high places, and real gold gleam unexpectedly from the low ones, where she is supposed to have originated. Many a glimpse you get of "that hideous sight—a naked human heart"—as Ellen Neal lives and learns.

The story is an honest one. Its punches are legitimate, its surprises startling ones. It bares facts unquibblingly in a manner decent but unashamed. A sensational picture, if you will, but never a nastily sensational one.

The excellent players have been astutely cast. Miss Bennett as Ellen Neal is a very real person. Next to her you will be especially impressed by Matty Kemp in the rôle of lawyer for the father and grandfather of Ellen's baby. The baby, by the way, is one of the most adorable ones ever caught by a camera.

Beryl Mercer gives one of her inimitable old woman characterizations and Lew Ayres [remember him in "All Quiet on the Western Front"?] as the college boy father of the baby does good work—as, indeed, may be said of all the other players.

I'll be surprised if you're not immensely impressed with "Common Clay."

KIND: Drama, involving members of the French Foreign Legion and a dancer in the oasis of Bel-Abbas.
DIRECTION: Good.
PHOTOGRAPHY: Excellent.
SOUND AND STAGING: Satisfactory.
ACTING: Creditable.
STORY: That's the rub! The yarn is a goulash of situations such as are found in "Condemned," "Beau Geste," "The Cock-eyed World" and others I could mention, given time. As in other recent pictures Jack Holt and Ralph Graves are pals who love the same girl—who only loves one of them. Which one? Well not the one she shoulda,' according to the light I have.

DIALOGUE: Unremarkable.
AUDIENCE APPEAL: Considerable—in so far as the players are concerned. Otherwise, very little.

See you soon.

Will Ask Coolidge for Another History; Borglum's Hands Tied

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge is to be asked to write another history of the United States for use on Mount Rushmore. If he consents Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, will not be allowed to make any revisions.

The former president wrote a 500 word history of the United States for the memorial in the South Dakota Black hills, but Borglum, in charge of carving the memorial, altered the Coolidge history's text. It was then disowned by the former president.

Representative Williamson of South Dakota, secretary of the executive committee of the memorial commission, sent word today he would come east in September to see Mr. Coolidge. He said the former president would be requested to write the history as he chose and the sculptor would not be allowed to edit it. Work on the memorial still is in progress.

"Squawkies," Belasco Says, at 77, Sees Future for the Silent Movies

Atlantic City, N. J., July 23.—[Special.]—The decline and fall of the talking picture was forecast by David Belasco today in his birthday interview. He is 77 years old.

"If I were younger and had plenty of money," he said, "I would go into the production of silent pictures. That is the great field for the right man today. Good, silent pictures would sweep the country.

"The great mistake of the motion picture producers was that of launching the talking pictures. The silent picture was one of the most interesting developments in the field of entertainment. It has deteriorated from an art to a nuisance with the introduction of the 'squawkies.'

"The talking picture interested the public in the first place as a novelty and then as a freak. The novelty has worn off and there are signs everywhere the people are tiring of the talking picture. The difficulty is not only that of the mechanical faults of reproduction, but the infériority of the motion picture product. They cannot turn out good talking pictures on a large scale."

See Zionist Boon in Pact Reached at Cleveland Convention

A dinner to commemorate the peace effected in the Zionist orgganization, in the recent convention at Cleveland, was held last night at the Palmer House, with Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court, as chief speaker and guest of honor.

"It will encourage workers in Palestine—not alone that, it will aid the Jews all over the world in presenting a united demand to Great Britain as well as to the league of nations for the fulfillment of the terms of the mandate to make Palestine a Jewish homeland," said Judge Fisher.

All the members of the Chicago delegation at the Cleveland convention attended the dinner.

New U. of Chicago Building to Rise on Bank of Nile

A new building for the far eastern "campus" of the University of Chicago is under construction on the east bank of the Nile between Karnak and Luxor, Dr. James Henry Breasted, director of the oriental institute, announced yesterday. The new structure will house the Luxor epigraphic and architectural survey expedition, which has been engaged since 1924 in copying the inscriptions on the Temple Medinet Habu of Rameses III. The expedition now uses "Chicago House," on the west bank of the Nile, but within a year or two will extend its activities to Karnak, and the new building is being erected convenient to the future site of operations.

King of Britain Lauds Bishops of Own Faith

Pleased at Growth of the Anglican Church.

LONDON, July 23.—(AP)—Hopes for a reunited Christendom were expressed by King George in reply to an address from members of the Lambeth conference when he and Queen Mary received them in Buckingham palace today. The king shook hands with each visitor.

"I thank you most sincerely for your address and for the spirit of devotion and affection which animates it," the king said to his guests. "I was especially touched by the assurance of your sympathy with me in my recent illness and your pleasure at my recovery.

"It is a deep satisfaction for me to receive and welcome this great assemblage of bishops of the American community, which includes not only bishops from my dominions, but from the United States of America.

"One hundred years ago it was little more than the church of a single kingdom. The present conference is a world wide gathering of united, though mostly self-governing, churches which has attained the proportions of a general council.

"I remember ten years ago when I had the pleasure of receiving the sixth Lambeth conference that the question of the reunion of Christendom was foremost in your thoughts. It is my earnest hope and prayer that the work which your last conference began may prosper and that the deliberations of this present conference may result in some notable advance toward this most desirable end.

"I learn from your address that the main subjects for your consideration are summed up in the general head—the faith and witness of the church in this generation. God reigns and I pray that his blessing may rest upon your deliberations."

Chicago Prelate Attending.

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, and Mrs. Stewart have been house guests yesterday and today at Fulham palace, London, the residence of the bishop of London. This was announced yesterday at Episcopal headquarters of the Diocese of Chicago. Dispatches from London, where Bishop Stewart is attending the Lambeth conference of bishops, stated yesterday that Bishop and Mrs. Stewart will be presented to the king and queen of England just prior to the close of the Lambeth sessions.

The Operatic Twins Win Applause When Presented at Ravinia

The operatic twins never have lost their hold on the public and when they displayed themselves at Ravinia last night patrons turned out until they became one of the huge audiences of the season.

I never have been able to believe that the Ravinia habit of reversing the customary order and putting "Cavalleria Rusticana" after "Pagliacci" was from the very nature of the works anything but an anticlimax. But whatever the order, there was no one who would fail to pay tribute to Giovanni Martinelli as Canio. He was a hit, a hit for extra bases if you prefer it that way, and his voice was never more glorious than when it rang out in the measures of the lament.

There were other memorable people as well. Queena Mario made an exquisitely wrought cameo of the part of Nedda, a performance beautifully sung, charmingly acted, and with a distinct personality. Giuseppe Danise delivered some of the finest vocal and dramatic ability in the part of Tonio and there was excellent assistance from George Cehanovsky and Lodovivo Oliviero in other rôles.

Turning to the second part of the bill one encountered another of Ravinia's notables, Elisabeth Rethberg as Santuzza, the soprano with the voice of perfect quality, power and warmth. Here was singing to remember for a long time. Armand Tokatyan, who is just getting into his stride this summer, did a striking performance of Turiddu, and Mario Basiola was first class as Alfio. Gennaro Papi conducted both works and did them better than well. E. M.

Mme. Curie, Einstein Chat After Session of League Scientists

GENEVA, July 23.—(AP)—A lively chat between Albert Einstein, German physicist, and Mme. Marie Curie of France, who with her husband discovered radium, tonight attracted a crowd in the lobby of the league of nations secretariat.

The two celebrated scientists are attending a session of the league of nations committee on intellectual cooperation. As they talked they smiled, and the onlookers wished they might have a stenographic record of what they were saying.

The session which Mme. Curie and Prof. Einstein had just left was notable chiefly for the distinguished character of its membership.

Prof. Gilbert Murray of Oxford university presided. Others present included Paul Painleve, former French premier, Prof. Inakadate of Tokio university, Vernon Kellogg of the National Research council, Washington, D. C., A. De Castro, director of education in Brazil, and Marion A. Carnejo, Peruvian minister at Paris.

Historical Society Exhibits to Recall the World War

The start of the world war, July 28, 1914, will be commemorated with a special exhibit by the Chicago Historical society. Manuscripts and other objects will be displayed. Among these are a sign from the railroad station at Verdun, a lantern and stained glass from the cathedral at Verdun, American, French and German gas masks, bombs, and other material.

A series of pictures taken by a war correspondent on the field of battle includes one of a group of men. That is labeled, "An hour after this photograph was taken not one of the men shown was alive."

Future Wars May Introduce Plague Bombs

Scientist Hints Their Use at Paris Meeting.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 23.—The investigation of the league of nation's public health committee into the possibilities of a bacteriological warfare which at some future day may surpass the traditional horrors of gas and shells was outlined today by Dr. Madson of Denmark. He is president of the committee and one of the delegates to the international bacteriological congress here.

After drawing a grim picture of enemy planes spraying whole populations with clouds of deadly bacteria, infecting entire cities, in the space of a few minutes, with the worst plagues known to man, Dr. Madson made the reassuring statement that the danger still was so far off that the league committee did not consider it necessary to take immediate steps against the possibility.

"Unless the germs are more virulent than any yet known and discovered," the doctor said, "I do not believe that epidemics can be started in this fashion. Psittacosis and flu are the most virulent germs known now and we do not believe they could be spread as a war measure on a large enough scale to be practical."

Mr. Madson admitted, however, that under certain conditions microbes might play a limited rôle in warfare. He pointed out, for instance, it would be very easy for enemy planes to infect the water supply of a wide region with typhoid or some similar microbes. He declared that against such attacks there is no defense. He doubted, however, that bacteriological bombardments would be much used, except to spread terror and undermine the civilian morale.

Regarding the actual military use on the battlefield, Dr. Madson expressed the opinion that microbe barrages never would prove practical, because any infection virulent enough to cripple one army inevitably would infect the advancing invaders themselves. He declared that the swift spread of the flu on both sides during the world war was proof of the impossibility of limiting any disease to one side.

During today's session of the congress a hot controversy arose between American and European delegates over the innoculations of babies against tuberculosis with the famous B. C. G. vaccine, which Dr. Calmette perfected. The Calmette treatment is under heavy fire on account of the recent Lubeck tragedy from which some 60 German babies already have died and about 80 are dangerously infected as a result of Calmette injections.

Most of the Americans violently opposed the vaccinations, which they consider highly dangerous. Feeling among the delegates is running high over the question and a storm is expected to break tomorrow when Dr. Petroff Trudeau from a sanatorium at Saranac will lead the American attack in an address on biology of tuberculosis bacillus.

Today Dr. Calmette swept the hall round after round with applause with his eloquent defense of the vaccine.

At the close of the session Dr. R. W. I. Fairbrother of England predicted the development of immunity against infantile paralysis in the near future. He declared that they have already succeeded in immunizing horses.

Calmette Talks of Serum.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, July 23.—Dr. Albert Calmette, whose anti-tubercular serum has been challenged in the scientific world, was given an ovation when he defended his discovery today in the amphitheater of the Pasteur institute which was crowded by over 700 delegates and visitors at the international microbology congress, among whom are numbers of the world's most famous biologists.

To the congress Dr. Calmette declared he had received information that the tragic affair in Lubec, Germany, where 57 infants died following the tubercular inoculations, was due "to a dreadful disregard of consequences, whereby virulent tuberculosis bacillus were taken from human cultures and had been mixed with the Pasteur institute's BCG serum, that is composed of only attenuated baccili from the blood of steers."

Dr. Calmette then reviewed the history of his discovery, and gave full statistics to prove that BCG serum is absolutely inoffensive and that it is impossible to deny that it has a powerful effect on reducing infant mortality.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

Hinsdale, Ill., July 14.—Your editorial "The Boy Scouts," in Saturday's edition, is most praiseworthy. It is good reading, clean, and inspiring. It is a refreshing change from crime in all its phases.

Has it occurred to you that you may have been lagging rather than leading in not having a "Boy Scout department" to keep up with this wonderful world-wide movement? There are tens of thousands of Scouts and Scouters in your area and ten times as many more who ought to be and would be if they were only enlightened.

The writer has many Scout pictures you have published from time to time which are very interesting. Why not more of them and more about those peacetime patriots, the Scoutmasters; more about the big men who are backing this thing; more about scouting as a fine way of living for both boy and man? ANDREW FENN.

APPRECIATION.

Chicago, July 21.—Allow me to express my sincere appreciation for the splendid editorial on scouting which appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE July 12, 1930. It is the kind of publicity which urges us on to do even better work.

ALLAN R. CARPENTER,

THE UNITED STATES FAIR.

Dowagiac, Mich., July 13.—Some months ago I wrote to the Historical society of Chicago, asking for data concerning Camp Douglas, mentioning in my letter that it was located just south of 31st street, which in 1859 was the city limits, and also that a United States fair was held on the same ground in September, 1859. I was astonished and almost shocked to read in their reply that they have no record of a fair having been held there at that time. I was then staying with my sister, Mrs. E. R. Burnham, on Myrick avenue, now Vernon avenue, near 29th street, then in the suburbs. That was the first United States fair ever held and was, in exhibits, attendance, and, I think, financially, a success. I have so far been unable to find any one to corroborate my account, though it surely is an important item in the history of the city. The record, doubtless, was lost in the fire of '71. If no one remembers attending it, it seems as though some one may recall hearing it spoken of, perhaps some of the Beaubien family.

MRS. ANNETTE OSBORN.

MAYBE IT'S THE BOSS HIMSELF.

Chicago, July 16.—Every day on the roof of the old three story building between the Burnham building and the Steuben club one may see a chap who no doubt cannot afford a vacation or who has a hardhearted boss.

With newspapers spread on the roof and clad in his underwear [shorts] you may see him reclining gracefully, letting his system absorb the sun's rays, be they beneficial or not.

This letter is for the purpose of trying to start a petition addressed to this chap's boss to allow said chap a few hours off each day so he may loll around on some beach, acquiring a coat of tan which will be honest and not one which will lead his friends to believe he has had an extended vacation. I wonder if his boss knows he spends his time on the roof giving the tenants of surrounding buildings a look at his splendid physique. G. M. K.

Snow Pictures Offer Contrast at Art Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The summer exhibitions at the Art institute opened yesterday in the east wing galleries with the loosening of the ropes which guarded the last room to be made ready, that housing the paintings of Laura van Pappelendem and Frank J. Gavencky. The room is an important one, particularly with the temperature romping in the eighties, because Gavencky has turned his attention to snow pictures and flower paintings and Miss van Pappelendam gives up a delightful run through the clear, sunlit landscape of Mexico.

The first gallery in the east wing this summer is devoted to the gorgeous collection of old masters lent by Max Epstein. There are paintings here which would stand high in any museum in the world. The same may be said of the majority of the canvases from the collection of the late Charles Deering, which are on view in the center gelleries. Among the Deering pictures the most important are the several from the brush of Anders Zorn and John Singer Sargent.

Jean Crawford Adams, a Chicago painter, is given a gallery to herself, and the same honor has been shown Rudolph Ingerle. Any similarity between them stops there. Miss Adams is a modernist and Ingerle is a conservative. If it may be claimed that the Ingerle landscapes are too smooth, too finished, and too placid, it may also be argued that Miss Adams' work is too hard, too definite, lacking in subtleties, nuances and shadows, too much on the surface It is, as well, colorful and decorative and possessed of rhythm. The most delightful of her canvases are "Spring in Cassis," with the almond trees in pink bloom and the sea a blue cloud in the distance, and "Landscape in France," which lulls by its repeated emphasis on the plaintive and the melancholy.

Emil Armin shares a gallery with Charles E. Mullin. Armin is gay and awkward and, figuratively, Panlike, dancing on tiptoes over his palette and picking out his pictures with the pointed hoofs wet with color. He is amusing. Mullin is amusing, too, but with a difference. His is a solid mirth, carefully limned, built up with intention and determination. Armin chuckles where Mullin guffaws.

The sculpture of Enrico Glicenstein decorates a gallery to which the last touch is added by the hanging of a few excellent water colors from Mrs. L. L. Coburn's collection. Among the sculpture the portrait of the artist, Mancini, stands out. It is superb. Also of note are the St. Francis, the bust of Beppe Ciardi, the half length of Prof. Bastianelli and the charming figures, "Melancholy," "Pensierosa" and the "Mother."

The exhibitions will remain on view through August and September.

Home Is Perilous Place, So Accident Reports Now Reveal

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A report issued recently by the United States bureau of standards indicates that a perilous place to live is the home, with somebody hurt in it every thirty seconds. Every half minute, I believe they reported, some one—a woman or child—takes a header. A slippery floor or a slippery rug or a stairway are the frequent provocatives.

Apropos advice on how to fall down not so much gracefully as painlessly is presented through a German newspaper.

Those who have observed stage folk or clowns closely are familiar with the ease with which a fall may be taken without damage. So we must believe with the German authority that there is an art in falling down. I suppose we will have to pray that the art deserteth us not when the rug trips us up.

The reason children fall often and are rarely hurt is not, as you may think, because they have not far to fall and because their joints are still supple. It is because they react more naturally than adults. Instinctively they assume the safest posture. They know how to employ arms and hands at the proper moment, which are the important features to understand in the "art of falling." A cat thrown into the air lands on its four feet, not on its head. So we are to emulate the cat in keeping our heads, though we may not be able to land on four feet.

"In case of a backward fall," the authority states, "the unskilled person seeks to ward off with his hands the contact of his head with a hard surface. He contracts his back and legs violently and falls with all his weight on one point. He ought to 'unfold' his body flexibly in the direction of the fall."

Warner Movie Theaters Will Help Ice Fund

The lagging free ice fund for Chicago's underprivileged children will get impetus Aug. 1. On that day, all afternoon proceeds from five Warner Brothers' theaters will be turned over to THE TRIBUNE charity.

Vice President Curtis, it is planned, will touch a button at 1 p. m. and a Western Union hookup immediately will start the celebration of Warner Brothers' silver anniversary celebration in ten large cities over the United States. The matinée proceeds of theaters in those cities will be turned over to local charities as a gift in appreciation of the company's quarter of a century in the theater world. Announcement was made yesterday of the selection of THE TRIBUNE free ice fund as the beneficiary of the Chicago theaters' part in the celebration.

In Chicago the proceeds of the shows from 1 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. will be given to the ice fund from the following theaters: Capital, 79th and Halsted streets; Stratford, 63d and Halsted streets; West Englewood, 63d street and Ashland avenue; Grove, 76th street and Cottage Grove avenue; Jeffery, 71st street and Jeffery avenue.

Other theaters participating in the charity performance are those in Newark, N. J.; Washingtong D. C.; Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, Pa.; New Haven, Conn.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Atlantic City, N. J.; Albany, N. Y.; St. Louis, Mo.

While benefits were being planned to boost the fund which promotes health for babies and helps to keep older children well, gifts continued to roll in from individuals yesterday.

Trousseau Needs Vary with Bride, Opinion of Many

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Apropos a recent offering in this column in which trousseau suggestions were made from a budget worked out by an officer of the New York Federation of Women's clubs:

It is doubtful if any one but the individual party herself can subscribe the correct details of her particular trousseau. Much criticism was leveled at the programs proffered in all good faith as hints to help a bride-to-be adapt her "hope chest" suitably to the earning capacity of her husband.

Trousseau lists are pretty much like color charts or makeup tables. They do not cover enough of the individual idiosyncrasies. But one thing about trousseau is that they certainly are not what they used to be. Fancy a today's bride having enough linen to last her a lifetime, as was common with brides of older generations; enough underwear to see her through a five or ten year period, or dresses to tide her over a couple of years!

Our changing fashions in everything from washcloth to best tablecloth, from powder puff to dress slip do not permit stocking up for more than a brief term. Some stocking up should be done, however. Table linen, towels—bath, kitchen, and guest—bedding, and so on are still awfully nice possessions for the bride to bring along with her. But since these change with the passing seasons, it is wise not to be laden down with them. Too, our laundry system of handling them does not subscribe to putting a large amount of money into such items.

Then, there are nice things such as pillows, curtains, and lamp shades and knick-knacks of one sort or another that really do convert an apartment into a home and for which brides are particularly grateful. Meeting the practical needs of rent paying, meat and grocery buying, and furniture installment paying sometimes postpones the day of the little luxury buying so that it is well to be foresighted when the bride still has her own money to make purchases with.

WINTER'S FASHIONS IN PARIS FEATURE ANKLE LENGTH SKIRTS

PARIS, July 23.—(AP)—When winter comes to Fifth avenue milady is going to wear her skirts down to the line where shoe tops used to be, the first little fashion shows of 1930-'31 indicated here today.

Buyers from the United States, attending in usual numbers despite rumors or slack trade, found reasons for worry in the hemline that kept milady herself awake so many nights last season,

"Bad for business," more than one was heard to mutter, as model after model fluttered past displaying a scant eight inches of silk stocking above her slippers.

Buyers said the styles of the coming season will "hang a last year's tag" on styles with which stores and women's wardrobes are stocked at present.

None of the large stylemakers had disclosed any secrets today, the more important opening being scheduled next week.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Be Reasonable.

"Dear Miss Blake: My fellow would not go to a party with me. I am mad. So is he. I love him and want him back. How can I win him? ALMA."

He may have had a very good reason for refusing to go to that particular party. You must be reasonable.

Enjoy Life

IT'S a good world! You can have a lot of fun in it. You can take even the bumps of life with a grin—if you're feeling fine.

Know how an auto engine slows down and has no pep when it's full of carbon? Know how a chimney smokes and won't draw when it's full of soot? Same way with our bodies unless we clean out the poisons (we all have them) that slow us up and make us feel sick. Why don't you follow your doctor's advice and use Nujol regularly for a while? It is not a medicine. It contains no drugs. It is colorless and tasteless as pure water. Nujol is just internal lubrication which your body begs for, like any other intricate machine. Want to enjoy life? Want to be popular—full of pep and energy and optimism? Then you must have your full measure of health. For millions of people, Nujol is the answer. Give it a chance to help you. North Shore's Children Swim, Winning Prizes

BY THALIA ——.

The annual children's swimming carnival held yesterday afternoon at the Winter club in Lake Forest was a gala affair. Almost 100 youngsters exhibited varying degrees of aquatic prowess, while an audience of several hundred parents and friends applauded and cheered them on.

Priscilla Curtis, daughter of Mrs. Edwin C. Welch, with Helen and Benny Bryan, the Benjamin B. Bryans children, each of whom won trophies in two events, were the outstanding stars. In the small girls' dash, Carol Harrison, Priscilla Armstrong, and Betty Mead came in first, second, and third, respectively.

In the same class for boys the winners were Charles Brown, George Foster, and Bob Carton. Grant Bryan, Buddy Blossom, and Andrew Armstrong led in the intermediate boys' 20 yard dash. In the intermediate girls' 20 yard dash Barbara Mabbatt won first honors, with Anita Smith and Helen Bryan coming in second and third.

In the senior girls' 20 yard dash Dorothy Young, Gertrude Hardin, and Helen Wacker were awarded prizes, and Teddy Nicholson, Benny Bryan, and Leslie Wheeler swam to first, second, and third, respectively, in the senior boys' dash.

In the diving contests Priscilla Curtis won the senior girls' ribbon; Helen Bryan the intermediate girls'; Benjamin Bryan the senior boys', and George Bermingham the intermediate boys'. Novelty prizes went to Priscilla Curtis in the potato race and to George Severin in the penny dive.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Lucey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Lucey of 442 Wellington avenue, to J. Allen Newton, son of Robert Crittenden Newton of 64 Cedar street, will be solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Holy Name cathedral. Mrs. Thomas G. Wheelock (the former Dorothy Rend) will be the bride's only attendant and William Rend Newton will be best man for the groom. Only relatives and a few intimate friends have been invited to attend the ceremony and the reception to follow at the Lucey residence. The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Paget Cady of 12 East Division street are to leave tomorrow by motor for Palisades Park in Michigan. After a stay there they will proceed northward to Charlevoix to visit Peggy Hambleton for a few days, and will doubtless stop on their way back to visit Mrs. Daniel Morgan and Mrs. Melvin Brorby, who are with their father, Harry Lee Williams, at his farm near Holland, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wells of 421 Barry avenue, daughter, Miss Margaret Wells, and their son, John W., sail from New York City on Saturday on the steamship Rotterdam for Europe. Mr. and Mrs. James F. Oates of Evanston are also sailing on the same vessel.

Mrs. Fairbank Carpenter is departing in a few days to visit her mother, Mrs. George J. Farnsworth, who with her other daughter, Miss Edith Farnsworth, and her son, Richard Farnsworth, is at Green Gables at Castine, Me., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Evans of Barrington have as their guest Mr. Evans' sister, Mrs. Anne Evans Ives, who has been in California for the last two years. Mrs. Ives will go east in August, returning to Chicago later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. James N. Rawleigh of Winnetka are in New York City for a week's stay.

Mrs. Holbrook Clarke of 999 Lake Shore drive returned to Chicago yesterday after seven months of travel abroad.

Mrs. Nellie McCormick, daughter of Admiral and Mrs. A. M. D. McCormick of Washington and Virginia, is the house guest of her schoolmate, Miss Elizabeth Bunting, daughter of the Henry S. Buntings of Lake Forest.

Mrs. Henry Chapman Olcott of 325 Fullerton parkway will leave within the next few days to spend the remainder of the summer in the east.

Mrs. Harry Pratt Judson of the Del Prado hotel arrived in New York on Monday on the Belgenland.

Miss Hester Ann Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Cary Wood Thomas of Highland Park, sailed last Friday on the Carmania for a year's study in France. Miss Thomas is the regional scholar to Bryn Mawr college and is entering her third year in the "foreign study plan."

Scotch Methodists Meet.

LEEDS, England, July 23.—(AP)—A plea for the recognition of the national status of Wesleyanism in Scotland was submitted to the Wesleyan conference today. The matter was referred to a special commission.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—The secretary of war, Patrick J. Hurley, was the ranking guest at the reception this afternoon at the Mayflower given by the retiring military attaché of the Japanese embassy, Col. Watari, in honor of the new military attaché, Col. Shohei Washizu. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, U. S. A., also was present. Col. Watari was given a luncheon today by the military attaché of the Peruvian embassy, Col. Gines, at the Carlton hotel. After luncheon he was presented with a silver cigaret case from the military attachés of the other embassies in Washington.

Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation, made a trip to New York by airplane today to see Mrs. Davison and their children sail for Europe on the Europa. Also sailing on the Europa were the Hungarian minister and Countess Szechenyi and their daughters. They will spend the remainder of the summer on their estate in Hungary.

Sally Gives Party Today While She Is Planning for Another

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If you are a Ravinia devotee and like the idea of seeing an interesting military show, I hope your letter has reached me and is among those I shall be reading this morning. Today is the day, you know, on which I select the hundred guests who will be enjoying "Army and Navy Day" with me next Thursday and judging from Ravinia's forecast of the program it promises to be an excellent party.

Soldiers and sailors on parade, marines performing their difficult wall scaling feat, a program of military selections by the Army and Navy band and interesting drills will be some of the things that will help to make this performance the successful one it is sure to be.

A lovely train ride through the beautiful north shore at the beginning and end of our party will make the occasion even more festive. Yes, it's to be a lovely day and I'm sorry that not more than one hundred of you may take part in it. The winners will find their names in next Sunday's paper and there will be news of another party that you'll all want to attend. Be sure to watch for it!

I suppose the boys and girls who are to attend the Palace theater with me this afternoon are eagerly awaiting party time to arrive. You have received your invitations and know all about our plans for meeting. Did you read Mae Tinée's review of "Dangerous Nan McGrew," the picture we will see? She gave it three stars, which means "excellent" and she told me it's the sort of show you'll all love. Get ready for a million laughs and—I'll be seeing you!

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

City Vacations Need the Helpful Hands of Parents

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A booklet on sex education will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

When the first flush of vacation is over, and the interest in its novelty and the pleasure of not having to keep hours nor do homework is over, time often begins to hang heavy on the children's hands. And mothers, who have looked forward to vacation time, begin to groan a little, for there is nothing quite so aimless as an aimless child.

Of course this doesn't usually hold true of boys and girls who can spend their summers at the seashore or in the country, though even there I have seen children lose pep because their time was so absolutely at their own disposal — or because there were no water or land sports.

But this is not usual, and the children who are affected with aimlessness are chiefly the ones who have to spend the summer in the city. What the city child's vacation needs to make it a really successful one is a stage manager. And who should that be except, of course, mother—aided and abetted by father? And perhaps both of them taking turns or joining with other mothers and fathers?

This stage managing idea may, at first thought, seem like quite a chore. And you may think, "I don't see why the children can't amuse themselves." But if you face the situation you must realize that the average child spending summer in the city has in the very nature of things a good deal to contend with—heat and confinement and for his immediate freedom only the streets. Once you admit this you can see that the children's vacations need a stage manager.

Now if you're a good stage manager one of the first things you'll realize is that too much leisure can be a terrible bore. With this in mind you'll plan that the children give you some help about the house. Of course if they're not used to helping you'll talk it over with them so that they'll understand and not do their share grudgingly. In talking about it with them you can make them understand your reasons—that they'll enjoy their leisure more if they don't have too much of it, that it's a great help to you, that it's their share in the life of the family, and that it gives you more freedom for your housework, so that you can all go off on more jaunts together.

Tomorrow there will be a few suggestions about other ways of making city vacations successful.

Chic Details Reflect the Smart Parisienne

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special Correspondence.] —The big openings of Paris fashions take place four times yearly, but what we might call the little openings happen every day, for the Paris creators are continually busy devising novelties for the embellishment of the smart woman, and these last minute details are the final seal of chic, marking the wearer as Parisienne, whether she hails from North or South America, the Balkans or Timbuktu.

The blouse shown at the top of our drawing is the fruit of one of the little Paris openings. Callot Soeurs make it of white mousseline and trim it with many incrusted bands of Valenciennes lace. It is finished at the neck with an upstanding lace ruffle and a flat bow of black velvet ribbon is pulled through slits hidden under the central band.

The skull cap sketched in the center is Agnes' latest creation for young and pretty heads. It's of natural linen, embroidered in cross-stitch in bright colors. It's barely larger than a priest's tonsure and allows the hair to be seen all round. Lady Abdy wore it with a tailored suit at Longchamp the other day.

Below is Lelong's latest evening bag in gold and silver brocade hung from a prystal ring. It's long and slender as a greyhound. A chiffon handkerchief to match your evening frock forms its fastening. It is, as you see, drawn through two horizontal slits in the flap and also through a ring underneath, that you do not see. Compartments inside hold vanity, powder case, and flat lipstick as well as money. It is smarter to match your shoes to your frock instead of to this sac.

Food Talk.

Two and one-half cucumbers, 7 inches long, must be eaten to obtain 100 calories. Therefore, this fruit is not a fuel food. It is, however, fairly rich in the important minerals—calcium, phosphorus, and iron. The flavor and firm crisp texture of the raw cucumber are the qualities that satisfy and make it so desirable for salads and pickles.

For centuries we have eaten cucumbers raw. The two principal ways of serving them have been in salads and pickles and the preparation of both of these has always been similar.

Recently we have learned that cucumbers lend themselves admirably to many treatments. From the Chinese we have learned how to prepare a confection of delicious crispness and texture resembling in many ways our watermelon preserves. We have also found pleasing ways of cooking them, making jellies, aspics, sandwiches, both open and closed, and most exciting of all, they are now being used to make delicious ice cream.

Here are ways of serving cooked cucumbers that I like very much, always selecting long cucumbers of even diameter:

CUCUMBER RECIPES

CREAMED CUCUMBER CUBES

2 medium cucumbers
1½ cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Select almost ripe cucumbers, green ones streaked with yellow. Pare, remove seeds and cut into cubes. Cook in boiling water to which salt is added until tender, about 7 minutes. Drain off the liquid; add butter and milk to cucumbers and heat to boiling point.

Remove from the fire and pour over one well beaten egg. Cook over hot water two minutes. Add lemon juice and season with salt, pepper, and paprika. Serve as a dinner vegetable.

Yield: 5 servings. One serving: Total, 88 calories; protein, 15 calories; fat, 49 calories; carbohydrates, 24 calories.

CUCUMBER-TUNA RAMEKINS.

2 medium cucumbers
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups medium white sauce
1 cup flaked tuna fish
¾ cup bread crumbs
1 tablespoon butter

Pare cucumbers and dice. Cook in boiling water, to which salt has been added, until tender. Drain. Add white sauce and tuna to cucumbers. Turn into buttered ramekins or custard cups. Dot with crumbs and butter. Bake about 15 minutes in a hot oven [400 degrees F.]. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings. One serving: Total, 205 calories; protein, 41 calories; fat, 103 calories; carbohydrates, 61 calories.

STUFFED CUCUMBERS.

3 large cucumbers
1 cup sausage meat
1 cup mashed potatoes
¼ cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter

Peel the cucumbers. Cut them in half, dividing lengthwise. Cook in boiling salted water for two minutes. Drain dry. Remove the centers and chop fine. Fill the shells with a mixture of equal parts of chopped cucumber and sausage meat and mashed potatoes. Sprinkle the tops with bread crumbs and small lumps of butter. Place in a shallow baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven [375 degrees F.] for half an hour. Garnish with a little parsley. Serve with tomato sauce.

Yield: 6 servings. One serving: Total, 118 calories; protein, 12 calories; fat, 71 calories; carbohydrates, 35 calories.

Lost Loves.

I had two suitors, one a very tall man and the other extremely short. My family jokingly called them "Mutt" and "Jeff," but never in their presence. One day my small nephew was visiting us and I heard the door bell ring. He beat me to it. He called:

"Oh, Aunt Jessie, Mutt is here and Jeff is coming."

Imagine my embarrassment, for, sure enough, both of them were there. They never came again. A. E. J.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE.

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

This design is suitable for the soft silks and cottons that are so smart this season. The neckline is particularly becoming with its soft, knotted scarf collar; the short sleeves repeat the knotted trim. The shirring of the skirt flounce makes the snugness through the hips more prominent. Voile, chiffon, crêpe de chine, crêpe Elizabeth, and handkerchief linen are chic materials.

The pattern, 2554, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material with ⅜ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

While soil color is not a true index of the richness of the dirt, it can be used as a good clew to the presence or absence of desirable qualities, so W. O. Robinson, federal department of agriculture specialist, asserts. Different colors in soils are usually caused by various compositions, but the soil with the greatest amount of colored constituents as revealed by analysis does not always have the deepest color, since they may not be in proper combination to make them noticeable.

"A black soil," he says, "is usually rich soil, and in general the darker the soil the more productive it is. Black color is due to organic matter in combination with lime. The actual quantity of organic matter may be small, but if it is saturated with lime or other bases it makes a most favorable condition for plant growth.

"Organic matter also colors soils brown," he explains. "Such soils are generally acid, and the organic matter, while abundant, is not saturated with lime. A reddish brown soil ordinarily indicates presence of organic matter and iron oxide.

"Red and yellow soils owe their color to the iron oxide they contain in the free state. Experience has shown that the coloring matter is in the clay or finest matter in the soil. This clay is usually made up of silica, alumnia, iron oxide, water and organic matter. The color does not depend primarily upon the total quantity of iron present, as the percentage of this mineral varies little in clay or surface soils, regardless of color. Reddish soils usually rate high for farming."

White or light colored soils are not regarded favorably for plant growth, he adds. Such colors usually indicate lack of important constituents. They are generally sandy, contain neither clay nor organic matter, and neither absorb nor retain water and plant food.

"Self Confidence is Contagious!"

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

tells the Girls of* CHICAGO

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"HOW CAN I BE POPULAR?" It is the age-old feminine question.

My answer is always—you must first feel confidence in your own inherent, feminine charm.

That is the secret of ATTRACTION in women, for self-confidence is contagious. People, especially men, respond instantly to the girl who is perfectly, serenely SURE of her own feminine appeal.

How can you win that confidence in your lovely, dainty femininity?

Here is a little secret to help you. Your CLOTHES, particularly all your intimate things—lingerie, negligées—can heighten your consciousness of CHARM immeasurably.

If you but keep your lovely, colorful lingerie, shimmeringly soft negligées, at their charming best—exquisite as when you first put them on, new—they will always make you believe in yourself, give you the self-confidence that makes you feel utterly feminine and charming. And when you FEEL charming you ARE charming.

This Will Help You

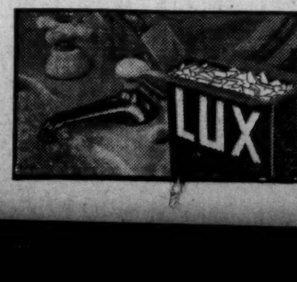
But some girls complain that frequent washing takes some of the color and loveliness out of the garment.

This need not be, for if a girl but uses that marvelous product, Lux—her daintiest things will stay alluring and new so long that the most modest budget can well afford them. This product is especially made to keep colors and textures as charming as new. Anything safe in plain water is just as safe in Lux.

Charm in your Surroundings

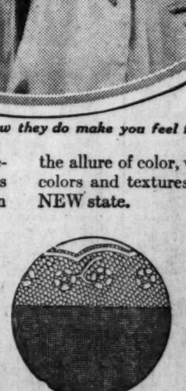
Pride in a charming home gives you self-confidence, too, and here Lux is also an INVALUABLE aid.

As in the case of your dainty lingerie—frocks, blouses, scarfs, too—so with your draperies, linens, slip covers. Ordinary soaps will take away some of the allure of color, whereas Lux preserves colors and textures in their PERFECT, NEW state.



"Delicately tinted, lacy underthings—how they do make you feel feminine—charming!"

BEATRICE FAIRFAX



Perfect!

After 12 Lux washings—every thread in place, silk and lace fibres intact, color intact, charming as new!

Disappointing!

After 12 washings with an ordinary "good" soap—silk fibres out of place, lace damaged, lustre and color lost.

If it's safe in water . . . it's safe in* LUX

TOLLEY, EVANS BEATEN IN 2D ROUND OF WESTERN GOLF

MOE ESCAPES UPSET; PERKINS WINS EASILY

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Two seeded players fell in the second round of the western amateur championship yesterday at the Beverly Country club. After coming through their morning encounters with flying colors, Cyril Tolley and Chick Evans were eliminated in the afternoon. Tolley was the 1929 British champion and Evans has won the western amateur eight times.

Eight remain in the running for the title, Don Moe, defending champion; Johnny Lehman, who tied Evans for the medal; Jack Westland, Chicago district champion; T. H. Perkins, 1928 British amateur title holder; Bob McCrary, trans-Mississippi champion; Gus Novotny, Ira Couch and C. M. Fish.

Howard Gives Moe a Battle.

Yesterday was the first time Don Moe was put to a test on the difficult Beverly course as he was exempt from the qualifying rounds. He came through his morning encounter without serious trouble by defeating V. M. Huntington of Addison, Ill., 4 and 2, but was given a spirited battle in the afternoon before he was able to whip John Howard of Kalamazoo, Mich., 2 and 1.

T. P. Perkins, who had appeared to be off his game in the qualifying rounds, came through in more impressive fashion than any one else in the field by winning his morning match with Fred Lyon of Pontiac, 6 and 5, and his afternoon encounter with Earle Berryhill of Colorado Springs, 6 and 7.

It was C. M. Fish of Rockford, Ill., who eliminated Chick Evans in a whirlwind finish, 1 up on the 19th. Evans' great bid for the match on the 18th green failed when his 25 foot putt stopped at the lip of the cup. Then his opponent sank a 35 footer for a birdie 3 and victory on the 19th.

McCrary Beats Tolley.

Tolley met his Waterloo at the hands of Bob McCrary. The trans-Mississippi champion came from behind to square the match with a beautiful chip from the rough on the 17th and went on to win 1 up with a par 4 on the 18th, while Tolley's trapped approach was giving him a 6.

Keefe Carter, who won the title in 1925, was forced to his utmost in the morning round to defeat Art Sweet of Ridgemoor, 2 up on the last green, after Art had won three consecutive holes to square the match on the 14th. In the afternoon Carter fell before Gus Novotny of Edgewood Valley, 2 up.

Moe to Play Lehman.

Today's matches promise to be even more spirited than those of yesterday as they will bring together Don Moe and Johnny Lehman, Jack Westland and T. P. Perkins, Bob McCrary and Gus Novotny, Ira Couch and C. M. Fish.

All encounters for the rest of the tournament which ends Saturday will be 36 holes.

To bring about the overthrow of Tolley, McCrary was forced to show considerable nerve, as the Englishman was coming through with remarkable shots to get out of difficulties, and throwing the burden back to his opponent.

An example of this occurred on the 15th. Tolley sliced his tee shot into the woods while McCrary drove straight down the fairway and was on the green in two. The match was all square at this point and it seemed certain that now the Iowa golfer would go one up.

Swimmers Will Report at Noon for Numbers

BY WILFRID SMITH.

All contestants in THE TRIBUNE'S 100 yard swimming races next Sunday in the Lincoln park lagoon must report at noon for their numbers. While these numbers will be passed out until 1:30 o'clock it is advisable to report at the Lincoln Park Canoe club boathouse as early as possible.

Unless a contestant receives his number, which corresponds to the number before his name in the program, he will not be permitted to swim. The first race starts at 2 o'clock.

Harry Berz, chief number clerk, and his assistants will be ready before noon. Each swimmer will receive a program to facilitate handling of the entries.

Only Swimmers Inside.

The boathouse is located on the west bank of the outer lagoon south of the stone bridge connecting the outer drive with the road through the central park section. None save contestants will be permitted within the boathouse enclosure. The banks of the lagoon and the bridge, however, form a natural amphitheater from which thousands are expected to watch the hundreds of TRIBUNE amateurs race for championship honors.

Thirteen hundred and fifty-one entries have been accepted. The names of these contestants will be published Sunday morning. An additional hundred may be permitted to swim, since through no fault of theirs the lists from Hamlin park and California park did not arrive in time for the program. Several score of individual entries were mailed too late, and these boys and girls must wait until next year to enter the merit badge tests.

Start Preparing Course.

The entries from Blackhawk park pool of the northwest park district are training daily for Sunday's events. Frank Kalteux is director of recreation for the district.

Oscar Knop of Lincoln park will have a crew of men at work tomorrow morning anchoring the barges for the races. The diving board will be erected Saturday morning, giving Jane Fauntz, Walter Colbath and the other stars an opportunity to practice before they enter the championship contest of the Central A. A. U.

Faber Goes Home Early, but Sox Stay, Beat Boston, 5-3

Two hits aren't an imposing total, but they sent shivers down the backs of the White Sox yesterday. It took just that many blows to produce three Boston runs and put the Red Hose in front by 3 to 1. This gloomy situation, however, was quickly altered and the Chicagoans charged in with a 5 to 3 victory, which gave them the edge in the five game series.

Those two Boston drives, a single and a triple, with a base on balls sandwiched in, caused no little activity around the White Sox bench in the sixth inning, for they brought about the dismissal of Red Faber, who had sailed along with only two hits against him in five innings. They led to the appearance of portly Bob Fothergill as a pinch hitter and made it necessary for Ted Lyons to get exercise as a base runner.

Sox Back in Sixth Place.

But, as events proved, all this ado was worth while. The Chicago Hose tied the score with two runs and then proceeded to step out and clinch the argument in the next inning, thereby hoisting themselves back into sixth place.

The troublesome Red Sox went on their way last night and today the slipping Washington Senators will be here for a four game series. Ted Lyons will try for his 15th victory of the season.

Old Red Faber deserved a better fate, to judge from the way he was setting down the Bostonians. But then, if the aging spit baller had not been taken out for Pinch Hitter Fothergill in the sixth, Hal McKain wouldn't have had a chance to display his remarkable relief pitching. Hal retired them one, two, three in the three sessions he toiled, not even permitting an enemy batsman to get a solid smash at the ball. So all Boston was able to collect during the entire game was four hits.

Tate Scores First Run.

An error started the White Sox on the path to their first run. Tate opened the third inning with a grounder to Regan, who booted it. Faber sacrificed him to second. Tate took third while Watwood was being retired. Mulleavy drew a pass and then Reynolds singled to left, scoring Tate. Jolley supplied the third out.

Meanwhile Boston was having trouble with Faber's spitters. Regan doubled in the first inning and Durst singled in the second, but these hits went to waste. Three hitless rounds followed and then came those two damaging blows that ruined the afternoon for old Red.

Todt opened the sixth with a fly to Barnes, Regan whacked a single to right, and Webb walked. Durst then tripled against the right field score board, scoring Regan and Webb. Miller made Barnes sprint back for his liner and Durst trotted home.

White Sox Tie Count.

Four hits put the White Sox back in the fight in the last of the sixth. Barnes tripled to the left field wall and scored on Cissell's infield out. Ryan singled over third. Tate dropped a hit into right, sending Blondy to third and took second while they were playing on Ryan. Fothergill batted for Faber and Ryan was out at the plate. Watwood came through with a single to center and Tate registered the tying run. Fothergill stopped at second and Lyons went out to run for him, but this maneuver did no good, because Mulleavy was called out on strikes.

The two winning runs were accomplished quickly. Reynolds led off in the seventh with a single and raced home on Jolley's triple to right. Barnes scored J. Smead with a double, and then was caught off second.

MANDELL DOPED? HE WOULDN'T SAY EVEN IF HE KNEW

Can't Prove Anything and Refuses to Alibi.

BY ARCH WARD.

Not that it makes any difference who holds the world's boxing championships or how they are won, but sometime it may be established whether Sammy Mandell was knocked out by Al Singer or by gamblers who bet on a sure thing.

But information of fraud in connection with the bout never will come from Sammy Mandell.

We visited Mandell yesterday in Rockford and after a three hour discussion of the bout, which Singer won in one minute and 36 seconds, we came away with these possible explanations of the result:

1. Mandell was doped before entering the ring at Yankee stadium.
2. The rigors of weight reduction so weakened him that he was a push-over for any good lightweight.
3. He was in good condition but stepped into a "fast one."

Mandell has some fixed ideas, but refuses to talk for publication. There are two reasons for this attitude. First, he can prove nothing and, secondly, he doesn't want to be known as a squawker.

Not Offering Alibi.

"I never have had an alibi for defeat and I am not going to start now," he said. "The fight is all over, I lost the title, and that's all there is to it."

From others close to Mandell, however, we gathered information which, woven into a story would read like this:

"Teddy Bodkin, Mandell's closest friend, was in charge of the cooking at Sammy's camp. Bodkin is certain nobody tampered with the fighter's food. A bottle of water taken into the ring may have been doped. It was brought from a room adjacent to Sammy's dressing quarters.

Dazed Before Fight.

"It was suggested that Sammy rinse his mouth with water from this bottle before leaving the dressing room to fight Singer. Sammy complied. Less than ten minutes later, while he was sitting in his corner waiting for other boxers to be introduced, Mandell's brain became foggy. The daze increased as he came to the center of the ring for instructions from the referee. Sammy heard only part of the instructions. He returned to his corner sluggishly, tossed aside his bathrobe and turned to meet Singer. That was the last he remembers. Ringsiders say he didn't even raise his right hand to a defensive posture. More than 30 seconds elapsed before Singer landed the left hook

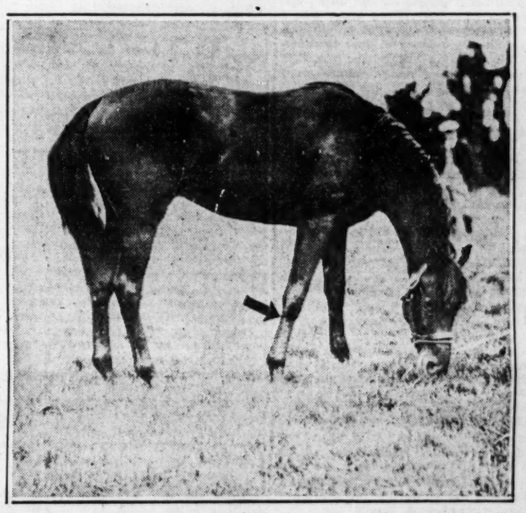
SAYS GOOD-BY TO TURF



Blue Larkspur, whose track career may be ended as a result of a bowed tendon, suffered in a workout at Arlington Park yesterday. Arrow points to the injury in Blue Larkspur's right leg, where constant pounding on the track ruptured the sheath of muscle tissue which incloses the tendons of the leg. The tendons are a bundle of fibers, similar to a bundle of lead pencils, held together by the tissue. Constant pounding on the track caused the sheath to break and the tendons to spread apart, causing inflammation and swelling.

Cub Hurlers' Passes Help Giants Win Series Final

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 23.—The Cubs took a sweet licking in the final with the New York Giants here this afternoon. The score, New York, 8; Chicago, 6, scarcely reflects the appearance of the two clubs as they went about their labors. The Giants looked about 100 to 1 better than the Cubs.

At the end of the first half of the fourth the Cubs were leading 5 to 1, but the lead meant nothing to Blake. He blew three of the margin in the last of the fourth and staggered along until he had two men on in the fifth.

Then Manager Joe McCarthy started to call on what are sometimes called relief pitchers. Moss passed a batter to fill the bases on five pitches. He gave way to Osborn, who forced in the tying run by walking a batsman on four pitches. Then he forced in another run by passing a batsman on five pitches. Nelson rushed in and got the side out after two more runs had scored. Then he held the Giants to one hit and no runs.

Offense Goes with Blake.

The Cubs' offensive curled up simultaneously with the flopping of Blake. From the fifth to the ninth the best they could do was a scratch infield single by Farrell with one out in the eighth. Cuyler and Wilson became aroused to the point of making singles in the ninth, and Ki scored on a sacrifice fly by Dan Taylor.

Tomorrow the boys drop back to second division competition when they open a three game series against Philadelphia.

The Cubs scored two runs off Heving in the second inning and had runners on third and second when English struck out to end the inning. D. Taylor started things with a single to left, and stole second in emulation of Cuyler, who had executed his 23d theft of the season after singling in the first inning. Grimm's tap to Heving put Dan on third, whence he scored on Hartnett's single. Gabby got to second while Marshall was throwing out Farrell, and to third on Blake's hit to deep short. Blair doubled along the left foul line, Hartnett scoring and Blake stopping at third. Then English went after a wide one for the third strike.

Critz Hits Homer.

In the third Critz registered the second hit off Blake, a homer into the right field stand.

Heving was driven from the pitching job in the fourth, which proceeded like this: Marshall threw out Grimm and Hartnett grounded to Terry. Farrell walked and went to third on Blake's second hit, a long single to left center. Blair's second successive run producing hit was a single to right. It scored Farrell and put Blake on second. English got the ball through the space between Lindstrom and Marshall, and for some reason Marshall was given an error. Anyhow, Blake scored and Blair pulled up at third. Cuyler singled to right, scoring Blair and putting English on third. Cuyler stole second, his 24th theft, but Critz threw out Wilson on a close play.

Blake blew up in the Giant fourth, but managed to halt the riot with three runs in.

Blair Cuts Off a Hit.

Blair made a miraculous stop to rob Leach of a hit to start the fifth. Then Lindstrom walked. Terry shot a single to center and Lindstrom stopped at second. At this point Manager McCarthy sent to the bull pen for Moss. Moss walked Ott, filling the bases, whereupon Osborn was summoned.

Osborn walked O'Farrell, forcing in Lindstrom with the tying run. He then passed Marshall, forcing in Terry. Nelson arrived on the scene at this juncture and Roettger popped to Grimm for the second out. Allen batted for Pruett and singled to center, scoring Ott and O'Farrell. Critz walked again, filling the bases. Leach obligingly supplied the third out by popping to Blair.

BRADLEY HORSE SCRATCHED FOR RICH HANDICAP

Weak Leg Fails Him at Arlington.

Jockey No Better

JOCKEY HARRY HUNT, who was injured Tuesday when his mount, Flit, threw him at the eighth jump in the Arlington steeplechase, remained in a serious condition yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin. Hunt was unconscious most of the day.

BY FRENCH LANE.

No more will the shout, "Here comes Blue Larkspur," go up from an excited throng at a race track.

The light footed, stout hearted son of Black Servant-Blossom Time will not overtake Zev and become the highest money winning horse of all time. He will not meet Gallant Fox in a titular battle later this year.

For Blue Larkspur's weak right fore leg, the same leg which gave way at Saratoga last August, went bad at Arlington yesterday just when the champion was taking his final workout for his richest engagement of the year, the $35,000 added Arlington handicap, to be run on Saturday.

The tendon in that weak right fore leg bowed, but Blue Larkspur walked off the track with his ears up, his eyes sparkling, and refused to limp.

But a half hour after he had reached his stall the weak right fore leg began to swell. The horse, which has shown his flying heels at Arlington this year to every great stake performer which has met him, the sleek brown colt which won the 3 year old championship in the classic at Arlington a year ago, stood on three legs. His right fore leg was so sore he would not put it to the floor.

Won't Race Again," Is Verdict.

Famous veterinarians examined him. So did Dick Thompson, his trainer. Other shrewd horsemen called around to look at Larkspur's bad leg. One after another they shook their heads.

"He will not race again," most of them said.

Trainer Thompson was the official spokesman.

"He's done for this season and probably for all time," Thompson said.

So Blue Larkspur, the winner of $272,000 and the victor in most of the famous stakes run in America for the last three seasons, will go to his native Blue Grass country at Col. E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour farm in Kentucky and join North Star III., famous old Black Toney, Bubbling Over, and others in the Idle Hour nursery, and the next we will hear of Blue Larkspur will probably be when his first sons and daughters come to the races in 1934.

Won Highest Honors at Arlington.

Blue Larkspur first raced to fame as a 2 year old in New York, but his richest and his most noteworthy triumphs all came at Arlington. He beat the Kentucky Derby winner, the American Derby winner, the Dwyer stakes victor, and all the other leading 3 year olds in the first running of the Classic last year. He came to Arlington this season and turned back all the noted older handicap performers in the Stars and Bars handicap on July 4. Then, last Saturday, he captured the Arlington cup, in which Gallant Fox, the champion 3 year old, declined the issue.

With Blue Larkspur out the $35,000 added Arlington handicap becomes a wild scramble. Curate, from Joseph Widener's New York stable, was installed the favorite after he worked a mile and a quarter in 2:04 yesterday morning. But during the afternoon Sun Beau ran so brilliantly in the mile Gallant purse, in which he defeated a band of Arlington handicap candidates after giving them weight, that he had hundreds of supporters to beat Curate.

Sun Beau came from behind and beat Brown Wisdom by two and a half lengths. He ran the mile in 1:36 1-5, but was worked on out a mile and a furlong in 1:49 3-5, which is just a fifth of a second off the track record.

A sixteenth of a mile from home Jockey Schaefer had Sun Beau's nose showing in front. He urged him on and was going away all through the late stages. Brown Wisdom had but little trouble holding Silverdale safe for the place end of the purse.

Glidelia Beats McLean Entry.

The Genteel purse at 5½ furlongs for 2 year olds also held a high place on the program. It brought defeat to the heavily backed McLean entry of In Between and Outburst when Glidelia, from the Rancocas stable, took the track at the rise of the barrier and won all the way by a comfortable margin of three lengths. Glidelia, a daughter of Luccelite-Delia, was ridden by P. Keiser and had also been backed stoutly, paying $5.18 in the mutuels.

The east scored a third important victory in the Harmony at 5½ furlongs for maiden 2 year olds when Priory, a son of Haste-Irish Abbess, running in the silks of Joseph B. Widener, was up in time to show his heels to Mrs. Hertz's Egypt, E. B. McLean's Skiffy, and seven others. Priory is a half brother to Curate and was making the first start of his career.

Priory raced greenly in the Harmony, but had plenty of speed and showed gameness when he came from behind to catch the flying Egypt.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

PADDY HARMON.

PADDY HARMON, who met tragic death Tuesday, had been an acquaintance—we chose to call him friend—for almost 30 years, as we knew him in his various promotional sport and amusement enterprises.

When Harmon first conceived the idea of 6-day bike races in Chicago, at the time big money makers in New York, we were sports editor of this paper. Paddy sought our advice. We thought this city was not yet ripe for the enterprise. Years afterward, when almost every 6 day race yielded a small fortune in profits, Paddy liked to remind us of this early advice.

Yet his chaffing was not without its comeback. For The Wake insisted on reminding him of his early reverses, which we contended made our first advice sound, before the affairs became paying propositions.

Under this good-natured chaffing Harmon would admit that he lost $83,000 on his races and the cyclodrome at Riverview park, which was a financial "lemon," before he earned a penny of profit. Then there was a laugh, each of us claiming to be right.

Again, when Harmon was considering his Stadium dream, he came for advice. When he explained the amount he wished to spend, we expressed the fear the overhead would be too heavy to yield a profit on the vast outlay. But Paddy had made up his mind and the Stadium was built after its promoter had overcome almost insurmountable difficulties—difficulties which eventually led to his retirement as its head.

Another Harmon Incident.

For what was the first profitable 6-day bike race promoted by Harmon, if our memory serves us rightly, the present Wake was in part, at least, responsible, indirectly and innocently enough. As bike racing had not attained a large following then, our advance publicity was limited and Paddy called almost every evening to protest and to receive our reply that we were giving it "all it was worth."

Imagine his surprise, then, when on the morning of the race the sporting page carried a strip of photographic individual riders clear across its top. These same riders appeared in similar position each morning of the race, the views intending to show how haggard and weary the riders became under the strain of continuous 6-day racing. With the same morbidity which attracts throngs to marathon dances and the like, the public flocked to the bike race and the final night was a "sell-out." The idea was not our own, but that of a superior, as a human interest story.

Paddy afterward said our publicity "made his race." We had not the heart to tell him how it all happened.

Tilden's Tennis You Know, but Not the Man Himself

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 23.—It seems an odd state of affairs in this time of intimate and searching journalism that the greatest champion athlete in all the world should be as little known as William T. Tilden is.

Of course, Mr. Tilden is not obscure in the sense that people, on hearing or reading his name, must pause or ask themselves whether he was the young fellow who was mixed up in the sash-weight case or one of those flyers who hopped out into the fog a few years back, bound for Europe, and didn't make it. He is as famous as Babe Ruth in his own country and just as famous in other countries abroad, where nobody ever heard of Babe Ruth, for there is no other athlete in the world who has asserted such mastery in such a large field of competition over as long a time as he has.

Mysterious as Nurmi.

But, notwithstanding this, after a dozen years of public life, he is as mysterious as Paavo Nurmi was, and this is the more remarkable because Nurmi was a speechless, emotional recluse and emotional blank, with nothing to say and reticent about saying even that, whereas Tilden always has been a controversial character, given to writing articles for the newspapers and magazines, and a showman who would like to be an actor.

Tournament tennis is work, not play, and Tilden works at it from eight to ten months a year. Even the United States Lawn Tennis association must now be ready to give up its pretense that tennis, in the high tournaments, is an amateur game nowadays, for all opinion agrees that when a man plays as much as he does he makes a vocation of the game.

Other great American players who were his contemporaries in the years just after the war, having had their fun in international competition, have given up tennis except for diversion, and turned to their chosen work, realizing that if they did not do so, they would lose their practice, their jobs or their business, as the case might be.

French Profit from Game.

Twice in the last few years, the United States Lawn Tennis association has waived the intention of its own extremely liberal amateur rule so as to acknowledge Mr. Tilden's kind of amateurism for the admitted purpose of saving the gate in the great tournaments here and in France. The great French players are permitted to earn such money as they can from the game and, although the United States Lawn Tennis association, for its pride, still quibbles over shades and degrees of professionalism, like lawyers arguing some constitutional question before the Supreme court. I doubt that any one in authority in the association still clings to a personal belief that international tennis is an amateur sport.

Mr. Tilden, though he glories in his celebrity, his athletic heroics and his political triumphs over the association, nevertheless is a stranger to the public and to the sports writers who have been covering his play for more than a decade. He set out to reveal himself in an autobiography published last year, but I read that and when I had finished I still was wondering exactly what sort of fellow he might be and what made him that way. His temperament has withstood description in a thousand attempts and defied popular understanding, and the people know him only as a figure, a celebrity, not as a person.

And There He Is.

He is a dilettante critic of the opera, but I doubt that a love and appreciation of pretentious music would set him apart so far. He plays bridge expertly, but bridge is the favorite game of the ball players. He is a friend of Mary Garden, but that explains nothing and there he is, as much as is commonly known of him.

Mr. Tilden also fancies himself as a patron of young boys who wish to play tennis, and I know he has given much patient and helpful instruction to juveniles who later became great players, among them Vincent Richards. There is talk at present of establishing a great training center for young players in Westchester county, N. Y., and Frank Hunter, who quit international tennis to go to work managing a chain store system of suburban papers, says he and Tilden both are willing to give time to the instruction of the new hands.

But it apparently never occurs to Mr. Tilden that in following tennis as he does he must deter many of the young players who would like to try for the international teams but cannot spend more than a few weeks or at most the summer months playing tennis without interruption. This year, for example, after Tilden had retired from Davis cup competition and four young fellows had been selected for the team, Tilden enacted a coy tableau on the other side and finally accepted a place, thus displacing one of the young players.

Tilden Knocks 'Em Down.

But Mr. Hunter says the international matches are not sport, anyway, and it is his hope to develop this Westchester center just for the propagation of the game as a sport. Tilden also lays claim to some such motive in assisting the juveniles who come under his instruction, but when they come up he knocks them down and tramples on them or crowds them off the teams.

Mr. Tilden has been so shrewd that I anticipate that one of these days when he is all through playing in the tournaments he will be unable to resist the temptation to write a book called "Kidding the U. S. L. T. A.."

Try Luminous Ball for Evening Round of Golf

Fair scores and one lost ball were the results of an experiment in night golf as two foursomes and a dozen caddies chased a luminous ball, made bright with a combination of phosphorus paints, last night at the Sunset Valley Golf club.

Changing of balls after a very few holes was required, the illuminant wearing off from a terrific drive. Taking part in the experiment were Thomas Kirkland, Fred George, George Jackson, Clyde Fox, Monte Fassnacht, William Daugherty, Edward Anderson, and Thomas Kelley.

which floored the champion for the first time.

"After returning to his dressing room one of Mandell's handlers called for the water bottle and found that the contents had been drained. In no previous bout had Sammy ever used an entire bottle of water. When he regained his senses Sammy noticed that his tongue had a heavy white coating."

Eddie Kane, Mandell's manager, is the only one in authority who has commented publicly on rumors of fraud. He said Tuesday night that there was nothing wrong outside of the ring. He stated that Sammy had been weakened by making weight and was unable to take a hard punch to the jaw.

Intends to Come Back.

Mandell admitted yesterday that he experienced some trouble in getting down to 135 pounds but declared it wasn't enough to impair his chances of defending his title successfully.

"I am more determined than ever to show my friends that I still am a fighter," he said. "After a couple of months' rest I'll be back to battle Jimmy McLarnin, Jackie Fields, young Jack Thompson or any other good welterweight they can name. That's the division where competition is keenest and where the most money is available."

Asked if it were true that he was going to break with Eddie Kane, Sammy said, "Unless there is a new understanding I probably shall."

HARMON FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD AT STADIUM

Body Will Be Taken to Ring Site Saturday.

Funeral services for Paddy Harmon, sports promoter, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident Tuesday, will be conducted from the Chicago Stadium at 2 p. m. Saturday. The body, which is at the funeral chapel at 3604 Ogden avenue, will be removed to the Stadium at 10 a. m. Saturday. Burial will be at Mount Carmel cemetery.

Before his death Harmon asked that his body be placed in the Stadium, which he built. For a time it was planned to remove the body to the Stadium today to lie in state until Saturday, but these plans were changed late yesterday upon the request of Harmon's widow, Mrs. May Harmon, who was injured in the automobile crash with her husband.

Coffin on Site of Ring.

At the Stadium the bier will be in a 10 foot space in the center of the arena, on the location of the boxing ring. A vacant chair will be placed in the position in which the deceased promotor sat at the ringside at boxing exhibitions to which he dedicated his dream building.

Services at the Stadium will be brief. The Paulist choir will sing, accompanied by the $300,000 organ.

Inquest Held At Hospital.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday morning by a coroner's jury at the Des Plaines Emergency hospital. Dr. E. Thomas Brand of the Stadium staff, who was riding with Harmon and his wife at the time of the accident, testified with Mrs. Harmon that the automobile, being driven between 30 and 35 miles an hour, struck a slight depression in the pavement, causing it to overturn.

Mrs. Harmon was sufficiently improved to leave the hospital last night. Dr. Brand, although improved, remained at the hospital.

MRS. ZECH WINS ON 19TH GREEN IN COUNTY GOLF

Mrs. Marge Rosselein of Lincoln park and Mrs. Lillian Zech, Illinois public parks champion, playing from Tam O'Shanter, engaged in the hardest struggle of the Cook county women's golf championship yesterday. Both players turned in medal scores of 81 over Jackson park's par 78 course, and it was only after an extra hole that Mrs. Zech won.

Mrs. Rosselein squared the match at the 18th by dropping a par four. On the extra hole her second shot found a clump of bushes which cost her an extra stroke before she could reach the green, and Mrs. Zech won with a five to Mrs. Rosselein's six.

Mrs. Florence Jacobs of Jackson park took the measure of Mrs. Al Demaree, medalist, 2 and 1.

Second round results:

Mrs. Rose Long, Jackson park, beat Mrs. J. Mercer, Jackson park, 1 up in 19 holes.
Mrs. E. Henderson, Lincoln park, beat Mrs. E. Johnson, Cherry Hills, 8 and 7.

MASTRO TO MEET FIDEL LA BARBA AT STADIUM ON AUG. 7

Fidel LaBarba and Earl Mastro, Chicago's ranking featherweight contender, will meet in a ten round match at the Chicago Stadium on Aug. 7. LaBarba and Mastro originally were scheduled by Jack Dempsey for the Coliseum last April. The bout was canceled by Mastro because of the death of his mother. But Taylor was substituted and LaBarba won the decision.

The fight will be promoted by Sammy Wolff, who has leased the Stadium. Nate Lewis is matchmaker.

Make Pairings for Davis Cup Finals Today

PARIS, July 23.—(AP)—The debate over chances of the United States to lift the Davis Cup from the French waged loud and long today as tennis fans awaited formal announcement of the lineup for the opening singles battles of the challange round Friday.

While few doubt that Big Bill Tilden, ace of the invaders, and the youthful George Lott will carry the singles burden for the United States while Henry Cochet and Jean Borotra do the same for France, just who will play whom is the moot question. And to French tennis minds the answer to this question will have great bearing on the result of the battle for the classic trophy.

French fans hope that Borotra, the bounding basque, will be drawn against Lott for the opening singles match when opponents are drawn from the hat at noon tomorrow. They feel that with France one up at the start Cochet will be spurred on by his team mate's victory and will whip Tilden.

Two thousand spectators gathered in the Roland Garros stadium today to watch a spirited practice session. Borotra's showing was magnificent. He appeared to be playing the best tennis of his career and his scoring of a point for France by beating Lott is regarded as an absolute certainty.

Tolley, Evans Are Beaten in Western Golf

rough with a grove of trees between him and the green, which lay surrounded by dangerous traps nearly 200 yards away. Tolley's great shot carried through the trees over the bunkers and down to the green. Then his 25 foot putt stopped two inches from the hole and McCrary was forced to play with the utmost care to sink a four footer for a half.

They moved off to the 18th with the outcome depending on this last hole. Both tee shots were hooked into the rough, but McCrary got out with an iron in perfect line with the pin. Tolley had a better lie and decided to stake everything on a spoon shot for the green.

The ball carried off to the right and came to rest with a trap between him and the pin. It was in this trap that his chances were buried, for there he landed with his third shot while McCrary reached the green.

Tolley didn't give up even then, however, for he got out with his fourth and laid a 20 foot putt beside the cup for a sure six. Then McCrary sighted carefully and ended the match by sinking his four foot second putt for a five.

Flyer Hits Green and Bunker, Makes Fairway

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Paul Boyd, Curtiss-Wright test pilot, needed an emergency landing field this afternoon and picked out the eleventh green of the old Westbury Golf club. Four golfers saw the plane descending without motors running and scampered to safety just as the plane landed on the green, bounced over a bunker, and sat down on the fairway like a wild golf ball.

For more than 50 years, The Keeley Institute has been the Mecca for men and women facing physical, mental or financial ruin, because of drink or drugs. They have come to Dwight, and at the end of the treatment have gone their several ways with no more desire for a drink or drug, than if they had never used it. WIDEN ROUTE 4 TO SPRINGFIELD, STATE IS URGED

Three Lawmakers Pledge Aid to Program.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ill., July 23.—[Special.]—A massmeeting here today petitioned the 1931 general assembly for an appropriation for the widening of route 4 from Chicago to Springfield. A state senator and two representatives from this community, who attended, pledged themselves to the improvement. A third representative said his vote will depend upon the voice of his constituents as he hears it between now and roll call.

Part of Widening.

The improvement of route 4 from Chicago through Bloomington to Springfield, 198 miles, is part of the Chicago Motor club program for the state to widen 864 miles of highways, build 63 grade separations, and complete the bond issue system in 1932 and 1933.

Today's session was the forty-second meeting held by the club in northern Illinois this summer, and the forty-second meeting to address a petition to legislators. Homer Hall, who presided, called upon James E. Bulger, director of the motor club, to explain details of the program.

Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, state senator, agreed with Mr. Bulger that the congestion of trucks, buses, and passenger cars on route 4 required a prompt widening of the pavement for the sake of safety and economy.

"I'm convinced," she said, "that this is the will of the motoring public, which pays the road bill. It's the duty of the legislature to appropriate in accordance with the wishes of autoists."

Legislators Give Views.

State Representative Gus Johnson of Paxton said there is a question in his mind whether the 1931 legislature should appropriate for the building of more roads or for the widening of the important routes.

State Representative Gordon Childers of Normal said the motor club proposal "seems to be a program we should all go along with."

State Representative Charles P. Kane of Bloomington declared that he believed the legislators of this part of Illinois will vote as a unit for the widening program since it also provides for the completion of the bond issue system.

ALCOCK, KEGEL JOIN IN WAR ON NOISE MAKERS

Acting Police Commissioner John H. Alcock and Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegel joined yesterday in a war against unnecessary noise—particularly raucous radios. Dr. Kegel notified Commissioner Alcock that he had established a complaint bureau in his department where noise violations will be reported. First offenders will be warned and repeaters prosecuted.

Among the first of the latter class is Edmund J. Shalek, 3228 Madison street, who was fined $50 and costs by Judge J. B. Lane in Municipal court yesterday for operating a radio loud speaker in front of his store. Mrs. L. Martin, 3227 Madison street, testified that she frequently had to close her windows because of the radio's din.

Shoots Bartender to Death as Their Wives Look On

Harrisburg, Ill., July 23.—(AP)—George Pullman, 35, was shot to death tonight by Richard Lane, 32, as their wives looked on. The shooting followed a quarrel over the burning of Pullman's house. Pullman was shot three times at Lane's home and died soon after reaching a hospital. Officers said Pullman was a bartender in a speakeasy operated by Lane. Lane was arrested.

LEWIS FINED FOR VIOLATING MINE INJUNCTION WRIT

Springfield, Ill., July 23.—(AP)—International President John L. Lewis' second attempt to set up a provisional government for the United Mine Workers of America in Illinois was checked by the Sangamon county Circuit court today when Judge Charles G. Briggle fined Lewis $500 for contempt of court.

Associates of Lewis were also convicted of contempt and ordered to pay costs.

Lewis was enjoined from setting up a provisional government in this state by State President Harry Fishwick and other officers of the Illinois district last October, after he had issued an order revoking the Illinois union charter. The second revocation order was issued on March 25 of this year.

During the contempt hearing Lewis contended the Illinois group had set up a dual organization at a convention here in March, and had thus abandoned the shelter of the injunction.

LORDS END FIGHT WITH COMMONS; PASS COAL BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 23.—As was generally anticipated, the house of lords today passed the coal miners' bill in its amended form, thereby averting a crisis between the two houses.

The bill, which originally provided for a fixed seven and a half hour day for the miners, was rejected by the lords, who returned it to the house of commons with an amendment fixing the number of working hours at 90 per fortnight. This allows the miner, where circumstances permit, to work a less number of hours per week as long as the specified number of 90 hours is put in each fortnight.

The rejection of the bill by the house of lords in its original form was a direct challenge to the authority of the lower house, and a crisis loomed large. The house of commons, however, backed down and passed the bill with the amendment and returned it to the lords for their approval.

Cops Seize 127 in Raid on Alleged Handbook Place

In a raid yesterday led by Sergt. Al Hoffman of Police Commissioner Alcock's office, 127 men were seized in an alleged handbook establishment on the second floor of 3047 North Clark street. The police gained entrance through a trap door. Five men were held as keepers. They gave the names of John Lang, 3832 North Wood street; Arthur Krutch, 843 Crescent place; Fred Brennen, 728 Oakdale avenue; Lewis Pemkin, 707 Wellington avenue, and Fred Moylan, 3047 North Clark street.

Baby Reaches Poison Bottle from Crib; Drinks and Dies

Dolores Cain, 2 years old, 5938 South Kolin avenue, died yesterday in the Holy Cross hospital from accidental poisoning. The child, while playing in her crib, reached a bottle on a window sill and drained the contents.

FRENCH DUKE FIGHTS MATCH OF AUNT, 73, TO BOURBON PRINCE OF 42

PARIS, July 23.—(AP)—Whether the Princess Amedée de Broglie, aged 73, can legally marry Don Luis de Bourbon, 42 year old son of the Infanta Eulalia of Spain, will be decided by the tribunal of the Seine this Friday. Don Luis, who is a cousin of the Spanish monarch, was once reported engaged to Mrs. Mabel Corey of Pittsburgh.

The Duke de Brissac, nephew of Princess Amedée, has formally filed objections to the match on account of the age of the princess. He also complained of prodigalities by the princess, alleging she has squandered huge sums in the last few years. He asked that a judicial council be named to administer her property.

COURT ANNULS SECRET MARRIAGE OF RICH YOUTH

A wealthy youth's secret elopement was disclosed yesterday when his marriage was annulled by Judge Robert E. Gentzel of the Superior court. He is Malverne L. Maegerlein, son of Marcus C. Maegerlein, superintendent and director of the Cereal Products company of Burlington, Wis., and also of the Merrill Brewing company of Merrill, Wis., living at 4423 Greenwood avenue, Chicago.

Young Maegerlein on April 19 last ran away to Valparaiso with Miss Olivia Gray, daughter of Will Gray, 1110 East 82d street. They were married there and returned to Chicago for their honeymoon.

Judge Gentzel dissolved the marriage yesterday after the youth and his father had testified he told the license clerk at Valparaiso he was over 21 years old and did not need his parents' consent. He was born on Nov. 4, 1909. The suit was not contested.

Blames Dry Law for Her Losses; Asks Tax Refund

Philadelphia, Pa., July 23.—[Special.]—Blaming the national prohibition laws for heavy losses she sustained on hotel properties just after the war, Mrs. Anne Weightman Penfield of New York and Philadelphia, reputed to be one of the nation's wealthiest women, began an attempt in federal court today to recover $420,779 out of $506,026 in federal taxes which she paid on her net income for the years 1918, 1922, and 1924.

ACTS TO FORCE RAILROAD OFF CITY PROPERTY

Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe will ask the city council committee on railroad terminals to refuse to accept any more compensation from the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad for use of strips of city property on Plymouth court, Taylor street and an alley between Plymouth court and State street. The request is the result of an opinion given by Corporation Counsel Ettelson yesterday holding the city has the right to force the railroad to remove its tracks, platforms, and buildings from the property.

The move is a step toward the abolition of the old Polk street station and the establishment of the C. & W. I. and the Santa Fe railroads in a joint terminal, Commissioner Wolfe believes.

Ettelson's opinion was based on an ordinance passed in 1915 and which expired in 1920. Although the agreement had expired, the bureau of compensation had continued to collect $3,953.75 annually, which is paid up to July 14.

H.H. GESELBRACHT $900,000 ESTATE INVENTORY FILED

An inventory of the estate of the late Henry H. Geselbracht, secretary and treasurer of the J. B. Inderrieden company, food products distributors, was filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. The inventory lists Liberty bonds and first mortgage bonds valued at about $900,000. Mr. Geselbracht died on April 8. Most of the estate is left to the widow, Mrs. Mary E. Geselbracht, 45 North Mayfield avenue; to three sons, the Rev. Howard Geselbracht, now a missionary in Manchuria; Henry M. and Frank H. Geselbracht, and two daughters, Mrs. Louise Fox and Laura Geselbracht.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM DR. STEVENSON

Mrs. Karen Stevenson, 1510 North Dearborn parkway, was granted a divorce yesterday from Dr. Alexander F. Stevenson, well known physician, before Superior Judge Williams. Mrs. Stevenson testified her husband deserted her in August of 1927. She is a leader in art and dramatic projects of Chicago society.

Mrs. Stevenson is the former Karen Nielsen, a noted beauty of Copenhagen, Denmark. Her romance with the physician began in Copenhagen while he was attending a medical convention there. They were married on Feb. 7, 1910.

Dr. Stevenson is a son of the late Alexander F. Stevenson, a well known north side citizen. Dr. Stevenson was born in Chicago and was educated at Harvard university and Rush Medical college. He is a member of University, Saddle and Cycle, Onwentsia, Racquet, and Chicago Yacht clubs.

Since their separation, Mrs. Stevenson declared, her husband has been giving her an allowance of between $300 and $400 a month. It was understood that a property settlement was arranged out of court.

Halder Henricksen, City Resident 50 Years, Dies

Halder Henricksen, 86 years old, 2155 North Talman avenue, a resident of Chicago for 50 years, died in his home yesterday. He came from Norway in 1880 and went to work for the Miehle Printing Press company, Robey and 14th streets, where he was employed until retirement in 1921.

100 APPLICANTS FOR DOG CATCHER JOBS EXAMINED

About 100 male applicants for five city dog catcher jobs were examined orally yesterday by the civil service commission while officers of the Illinois Humane Education society witnessed the test. Civil Service Examiners Herbert Teisler and Nellie Donovan were officially assisted by Mrs. Charlotte L. Hunt, president; Mrs. Julian Baldwin, vice president; Miss Flora Ehlman, secretary, and Mrs. B. Joseph and Mrs. Elsie Doe, members of the society.

In addition there were written examinations covering the applicant's knowledge of humane laws affecting dogs and his familiarity with animals likely to be encountered on the job. Cowboys, street car motormen, eviction bailiffs, teamsters, and men generally unemployed were among the classes who applied for the five posts. The Humane Education society officers took an active part in the examination. At the conclusion of the hearing the examiners took the matter under advisement and will announce successful applicants later.

Raise 28,000 Ton German Ship Scuttled 11 Years Ago

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 23.—More than 11 years after the proud German fleet was scuttled at Scapa Flow for 28,000 ton battle cruiser Hindenburg has been successfully raised and floated with her deck clear of water. Twice before the Hindenburg was brought to the surface, but owing to a dangerous list was allowed to sink again. This is the fifth vessel to be salvaged from the sunken fleet.

Chas. Ott, Du Page County Pioneer, Takes Own Life

Charles Ott, 65 years old, member of a pioneer Du Page county family, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head with a .38 caliber revolver in the bathroom of his home at 3330 East Wesley avenue, Wheaton. Friends said he had been in ill health and had worried because of that and financial reverses.

UNIFIED TRAFFIC SYSTEM OPPOSED BY SOUTH PARKS

The plan to place all traffic lights in Michigan avenue between 22d street and North avenue under a single system and thus speed traffic is not likely to meet with approval of the south park board, it was learned yesterday. A system of unified control instead of the present three systems was first proposed by Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer, two months ago.

South of Randolph street Michigan avenue is under the supervision of the south park commissioners, between Randolph street and the link bridge the city has control, and north of the bridge Lincoln park supervises traffic. Under a single system of traffic control, Mr. Sorenson asserts, the average speed of traffic during the rush hours would be increased more than 100 per cent.

Lincoln Park Approves Plan.

When the plan was first suggested to the Lincoln park board on May 15 the board agreed to enter into such an agreement. Mr. Sorenson promises coöperation of the city. The plan was then referred to the south park commissioners for consideration.

The south park board has taken no official action on the plan. At the board offices it was said yesterday that unifying the three systems would cost approximately $50,000, and the value at the present time was problematical in the opinion of the commissioners.

Doubt Value to South Parks.

The change in control would be more advantageous to the city and Lincoln park than it would be to the south parks, according to south park officials. Speeding up of northbound Michigan avenue traffic would relieve congestion in Clark street and Wabash avenue, as well as improve boulevard conditions in Lincoln park. Southbound traffic, however, would be little affected by the change, in the opinion of the south park board.

G. M. C. REPORTS $53,386,768 NET FOR 2D QUARTER

Six Months' Profit Is $2.15 a Share.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The General Motors corporation, one of the largest industrial concerns, again has demonstrated its ability to earn its dividends comfortably even in dull times. Its semi-annual report, issued yesterday, leads to the suspicion that the automobile industry hasn't been doing so badly this year, all things considered.

ALFRED P. SLOAN.

General Motors had net income of $53,386,768 for the second quarter of this year, which was equivalent to $1.17 a share on the common stock. In addition, there was a nonoperating and nonrecurring profit of $9,517,943 resulting from the sale of 1,375,000 common shares to the General Motors Management corporation. This was equivalent to 17 cents a share on General Motors common stock. Net income for the second quarter of 1929 was $89,949,323, or $2.01 a share.

Net income for the first half of this year was $9,355,355, equal to $2.15 a share, excluding the nonrecurring profit. This compares with $151,860,210, or $3.38 a share, for the first half of 1929. Dividend requirements for a half year on the common stock are $1.50 a share.

Deliver 657,829 Cars.

General Motors dealers during the first half of this year delivered 57,829 cars to consumers, compared with 847,751 cars in the first half of 1929. Sales to dealers were 764,219, compared with 1,171,868 cars a year ago. President Alfred P. Soan Jr. pointed out that the dollar value of sales declined 36.1 per cent, while net operating income receded 35.2 per cent.

"It is to be regretted," Mr. Sloan said in his report, "that knowledge of the fundamentals of economics and the philosophy of industry apparently has not yet developed to a point where the business cycle can be said to be under control. On the other hand, it appears to me that if we view the situation with the right attitude of mind, an opportunity is presented to establish higher standards of effectiveness.

"If we are frank with ourselves we must admit that during any long period of prosperity such as we recently have passed through inefficiencies will creep in; we become less sensitive as regards the relationship of expense and results; we become too self-satisfied; our attitude toward intensive work becomes less constructive. If we will recognize and capitalize these and other influences and thus establish new and still higher standards, then when the business adjustment has been completed, which is only a matter of time, we can go forward with renewed strength and still greater confidence in our ability to cope with the problems of the future."

Mr. Sloan reported that General Motors on June 30 had cash and United States government and other marketable securities amounting to $175,693,782, compared with $127,351,530 on Dec. 31, 1929.

Hupp Motor Earnings.

The Hupp Motor Car corporation reported that net earnings for the second quarter of this year were equal to 49c a share on the common stock, compared with 95c a share last year; while earnings for the first half of this year were equivalent to 33c a share, compared with $2.02 a share for the same period in 1929. However, the present share capitalization is somewhat larger than last year.

The Ford Motor company has extended its two week vacation shutdown another week and will resume on Aug. 4. It was originally planned to close on July 12 and reopen on July 28.

Steel men are showing greater confidence in the future, according to the mid-week trade reviews, although sentiment has improved more than actual business or plant operations.

"The opinion is gaining ground that industrial reaction is at its worst and that the only possible change is for the better," the Iron Age says.

Gov't Report Confirms Corn Crop Damage

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Confirmation of considerable damage to the new corn crop as the result of the recent excessively high temperatures accompanied by dry weather further stimulated the demand for corn futures, which advanced 7/8@1 1/4c yesterday over Tuesday's finish to a new high on the present movement, December at the top was 9 3/4c above the low of last week.

An overbought pit situation was disclosed on the advance, and the market weakened rather sharply toward the last on selling by scattered longs and locals. The close was somewhat unsettled with old crop months 1/2@7/8c higher and new 1/4@5/8c lower. July was 83 3/4@84 3/4c; September, 81 7/8@82c, and December, 76 5/8@76 3/4c at the last.

The government weekly weather crop report claimed there had been heavy damage to the new corn crop in parts of Kansas, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, southern Illinois and in Iowa, an official estimate placing the probable loss in the latter state alone at around 4 bu per acre, equal to 45,000,000 bu.

Southwest Receives Rain.

Reports of heavy rains were received during the day from parts of Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri and had some effect on sentiment in the late trading, while the forecast indicated scattered showers over a good part of the belt.

There was considerable buying of futures during the day, regarded as for investment on the part of outsiders. Professionals were on both sides of the market on a large scale. There was no material pressure on the old crop months throughout the day, although the country sold 200,000 bu to arrive. Shipping sales aggregated 160,000 bu.

Wheat Closes Easy.

Surprisingly strong cables from Liverpool with reports of unsettled weather in Europe gave the wheat market a strong start, but outside buying failed to follow the upturn, and toward the last there was free selling by locals and commission houses and the finish was at net losses of 1/4@3/4c, July being 88 1/4c; September, 91@91 1/8c, and December 96 3/4@96 7/8c.

A good part of the trade during the day was within a range of 1/2c, with hedgers selling September around 92c, and exporters taking the offerings around 91 1/2c. The foreign demand was again active with sales of 1,500,000 bu estimated in all positions, and since July 1 the total sales of hard winters, durums and Manitobas, exclusive of the Canadian Pool business, is placed by some New York handlers at 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bu, an average of around 2,000,000 bu per day.

Gulf Wheat Basis Higher.

As a result of the recent large export sales the basis at the gulf for hard winter has advanced 1/2@3/4c compared with the September, with No. 1 hard 4 1/2c over the future bid, while 5c over was asked. Movement in the southwest is rapidly decreasing, and arrivals at interior points fell below last year's for the first time. Liverpool after being 1/2@1 5/8d higher early on continental buying and further rains there finished 1/4d lower to 7/8d higher, with October there showing little change as compared with Chicago.

Russia is coming to the fore again as a factor in the wheat market and according to cables sold 5 cargoes for export Tuesday and more yesterday. A private report indicated that the European crop, exclusive of Russia, might fall 35,000,000 bu short of last year's harvest.

Another Day and No Rain Falls in Western Canada

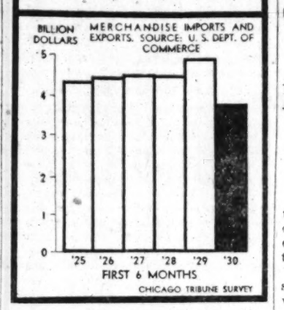
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winnipeg, Man., July 23.—Another day of hot weather in western Canada with no moisture falling was recorded today. Although wheat prices held gains for the greater part of today's session, Winnipeg market was disappointing to bulls in view of dry western weather map for the prairie provinces and reports that rust was prevalent in large sections of Manitoba and in eastern Saskatchewan. The latter province received little week-end moisture and has been recording quite high temperatures the last two days, resulting in further deterioration in alleged badly damaged crops.

Approve Chicago Phone Plant to Cost $787,549

Directors of the Illinois Bell Telephone company have approved the expenditure of $787,549 for a new plant in Chicago and $313,743 for Illinois outside of Chicago. Total expenditures approved so far this year are $15,560,165.

UNITED STATES FOREIGN TRADE IS BELOW OTHER RECENT YEARS



OPEN MARKET MONEY RATES ARE AT LOWEST POINT IN FIVE YEARS

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(AP)—Open market money rates have declined to the lowest point in more than five years and the rates charged customers to the lowest level in two years.

The federal reserve board said today in its monthly review of financial and business conditions the drop was due chiefly to the continued policy of ease on the part of federal reserve banks, represented in June by the purchase of $50,000,000 of government securities in the open market, reduction of reserve bank buying rates for bankers' acceptances, and further reduction of discount rates at Cleveland, New York, and Chicago.

"The discount rate at the federal reserve bank of New York, as reduced on June 20, from 3 to 2 1/2 per cent, is now the lowest that has ever been established at any federal reserve bank," the board said. "Reserve bank credit outstanding decreased in June by about $22,000,000 and at $977,000,000 for the week ending June 28, was $344,000,000 lower than a year ago, with discounts for member banks at $257,000,000, nearly $750,000,000 lower than a year ago.

"Member bank credit outstanding, which has been increasing since February, increased further in June to a level higher than at any other time except at the end of 1929 and during the October-November break in the security market.

"From the middle of May to June 25 the increase in the loans and investments of reporting member banks in leading cities amounted to about $525,000,000, including for the last half of June an increase in all other loans and for the period as a whole a further substantial growth in loans on securities and in investments."

UNIVERSAL ATLAS CEMENT WORKERS ON 8 HOUR DAY

More than 6,000 employés in the plants of the Universal Atlas Cement pany, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, are being put on an eight hour working schedule, it was announced today by A. C. Wilby, assistant to B. F. Affleck, president of Universal Atlas.

B. F. AFFLECK. [Walinger Photo.]

The change is in accordance with the eight hour policy of the Steel corporation, Mr. Wilby said. When the Steel corporation took over the Atlas Portland Cement company in January and merged it with its subsidiary, the Universal Portland Cement company, under the name of Universal Atlas, the men were working 12 hours a day. The Steel corporation, through the acquisition of Atlas Portland Cement, became the largest production interest in the Portland cement industry.

BUSINESS PICKS UP IN CHICAGO STOCK TRADING

Investment Trusts Show Strength.

Business picked up somewhat on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, and when the close came general advances were noted all along the line.

Perhaps the most active of the shares dealt in were those of the investment trusts, which during the past few days have been giving evidence of strength. While there were no spectacular changes in this division, there have been consistent fractional gains. Chicago Corporation, advancing 3/8 to close at 11 1/2, was the most active stock of the day on a turnover of 19,000 shares.

Commonwealth Edison took a leap upward of 12 points to close at 304. Public Service of Northern Illinois $100 par jumped 11 points to 284, while the no par was up 7 points at 280. Other utilities were better, though fractionally for the greater part. Middle West on a turnover of 14,300 shares was up 1/4 to close at 30 3/4. National Public Service was 2 points to the good at 47 1/2 on limited trading.

Pays Stock Dividend.

Missouri Kansas Pipe Line advanced 1/2 to close at 21. During the day directors of the company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 1/2 per cent, payable in stock on Aug. 20 to stockholders of record Aug. 2.

Among the automotives Auburn advanced 4 3/4 to 127 3/4. Houdaille Hershey A was up 1 1/4 at 21, while Bendix and Cord made fractional advances.

U. S. Gypsum in the general list went up 2 points to 44. A La Salle street brokerage house in an analysis of the corporation expressed the opinion that when the net earnings for the first half of 1930 are reported they will be one-third more than the $2,329,000 reported for the first six months of 1929 when building construction was more active than now.

The A. M. Castle company, iron and steel dealers, reports net earnings for the three months ending June 30 of $136,683, equivalent to approximately $1.14 per share on the 120,000 shares outstanding. For the first quarter the net earnings were $134,409 or $1.12 per share.

Pays Extra Dividend.

Altorfer Brothers company of Peoria, washing machine makers, announced an extra dividend of 65 cents on the common stock payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 21. This is the third successive extra payment.

Vortex, selling at 24 1/2, was up 1. P. T. Potts, president of this company, stated that net earnings for the first nine months of the fiscal year beginning Sept. 30, 1929, were $492,284, or $3.35 per share of common stock.

Grigsby-Grunow was up 1/2 point to 15 on 7,900 sales, while Majestic Household remained unchanged at 36 1/2.

The governing committee of the stock exchange approved the transfer of three dividend and one original membership. Francis P. O'Hearn of F. O'Hearn & Co., Toronto, in securing a membership is the first Canadian to be admitted to the exchange. Charles W. Wells has acquired a dividend membership from his son, Harold C. Wells, and will take part in the brokerage firm of Harold C. Wells & Co. The other two memberships were acquired by John A. Love of Love, Bryan & Co. of St. Louis and New York, and by Walter S. Aagaard of Clark, Childs & Co.

Retailers Say They Pass On Price Savings to the Public

BY SCRUTATOR.

Has there been anything like a buyers' strike against retail purchases so far in 1930, and if so, was the public justified in such an attitude by the failure of the retail merchant to mark his goods down as basic raw materials and wholesale quotations slumped?

An inquiry among executives of several large Chicago department stores yesterday brought a straightaway negative to both questions. Their reaction was that their goods have fallen in offered price as the wholesale markets required. Some pithy comments were:

"The public should be told that retail merchants realize they cannot successfully operate their stores if they fail to give immediate expression in their prices to any change of price in basic commodities."

"Regardless of the cost of his goods the merchant knows they are only worth their replacement value in the open market. If he doesn't act instantly his competitors will and he finds himself with frozen assets on which he will have to suffer terrific losses."

Don't Like to Be Undersold.

"If you try to sell something for $1.50 when the wholesale price only justifies a markup to $1.15 you are kidding yourself. You couldn't do it for a week without losing prestige and money, too. Merchants don't like to be undersold by their competitors on the same goods."

Certain classes of goods are, according to one of the Chicago executives, much cheaper than they were a year ago. Velvet and silk dresses, he asserted, were off 20 to 25 per cent; fur and cloth coats off 10 to 25 per cent; cotton sheets off 12 per cent; silk goods in the piece 15 to 20 per cent lower and towels of some kinds reduced by about 20 per cent from the corresponding 1929 sales figures. He added that the $1.50 women's hose were now selling at from $1.15 to $1.25 and the one time $1.25 variety for $1.10.

Another, who looked over this list, said it was about right for his store. He added that woolens were off about 15 per cent at wholesale from a year ago and that wool goods had taken their retail price slash, too. It was asserted that radio, lamp and furniture manufacturers who found themselves overstocked in the fall sold their goods at a sacrifice and the merchants themselves passed them on to the public at prices that were something under the actual cost of manufacture.

Maintain Unit Volume.

Federal reserve board figures show that fifty-seven department stores in Chicago, or seventh federal reserve district, had total sales in dollars that were 10 per cent under a year ago. Due to the cuts made in prices it is plain that the falling off in the actual amount of goods sold was much smaller, and at least one merchant averred that his unit volume of sales was larger so far in 1930 than in the some months of 1929.

No great lack of demand, such as would indicate a buyers' strike, has appeared, so far as the so-called wanted goods are concerned, the merchants said. Regular customers are buying their usual number of dresses and pairs of hose—and getting savings from the old prices, as the merchant is enabled to buy his own supplies more cheaply.

The retail mercantile attitude is that the final consumer is getting the low price which basic commodities and such disorganization as exists in the wholesale and manufacturing trade will justify, and that the merchant has to give it to him in order to stay in business.

GOLD SHIPMENT ONE OF LARGEST SINCE THE WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 23.—Arrangements were completed today for shipment of $16,000,000 in gold to France and Canada, speeding up the gold export movement to $25,000,000 since the exodus began last week. Today's shipment is one of the largest in one day since the war and is almost wholly "bound for Paris." Only $1,000,000 of the amount is destined for Canada.

Lazard Freres, international banking house, is sending $8,000,000 on the Europa, which sails tonight.

Packard Stockholders Number Around 70,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 23.—Stockholders of the Packard Motor Car company number about 70,000, it was announced today. On the last dividend record date, May 15, stockholders totaled 62,917, compared with 9,798 on May 12, 1929, an increase of 53,119, or 542 per cent. Since the increase in its outstanding stock to 15,000,000 shares from 3,000,000 by a five-for-one splitup less than a year ago, Packard stockholders have increased rapidly. Increase of small stockholders, owning 1 to 100 shares, alone accounted for 96 per cent of the total gain.

New York, July 23.—Bullish professionals continued to give three cheers and buy gilt-edged stocks today. Thanks to their activities, various issues of leadership caliber succeeded in negotiating new high ground for the recovery from the June lows. United States Steel did so and American Can and General Motors and Radio. Johns-Manville duplicated its previous high, while a host of other favorites, including Standard Oil of New Jersey, Westinghouse, National Biscuit, General Electric, and Electric Power and Light climbed back within striking distance of their previous peaks for the movement.

It was one of the best markets the bull party has been able to put on this summer. Trading was fairly brisk all day and at times became almost buoyant, the turnover mounting to 2,526,850 shares. Price gains of 1 to 4 points were numerous.

Pools Try Out Pets.

Pools gave their pets a whirl here and there and short covering helped to add to the gayety of the occasion. Wall street in general seems to be leaning more and more to the bull viewpoint. One of the biggest brokerage houses of the district came out today with a widely distributed display advertisement advising its clients and others concerned to buy stocks and thus bank on Uncle Sam's inevitable prosperity.

The news as it developed was of no particular moment as an influence on market operations either way. Credit conditions were a bit easier, accom-

PUBLIC UTILITY PREFERRED SHARES
A Logical Investment Under Present Market Conditions

Present market uncertainty, resembling the shifting of a compass needle before it finally points the future course, imposes definite restrictions on the investor who is seeking to keep his surplus funds constantly employed to best advantage.

Sound security... reasonable liquidity... minimum prospect of loss through market declines ... maximum yield... these are some of the factors that may well engage the investor's attention under such conditions.

He will find these factors particularly well met in selected utility preferred shares, in which it is possible to secure higher yields than from bonds together with greater safety than from common stocks.

Among our offerings are preferred shares of large, fast-growing public utility systems which are earning their dividend charges by conservative margins. The yield on these shares is over 6 1/2%.

modations being offered at rates as low as 1 per cent outside the stock exchange. The official call rate remained at 2 per cent.

Trading was not on as large a scale as the impressive gains featuring the final tables might seem to indicate, however. In fact, about 25 issues accounted for nearly half of the transactions. Radio was a feature, turning over in large blocks and scaling up to 46¼ points. Some profit taking came into the issue toward the last, however, and the closing price was about a point lower than the peak of the day. General Motors was likewise strong in fairly large turnover, selling to its highest price since the middle of last month.

Move Against Trend.

Several sometime speculative favorites made themselves conspicuous by moving against the popular trend—due to a lack of professional support. Among these were Industrial Rayon, which sold off some 7 points; Ingersoll-Rand, which dropped 6; Mohawk Carpet Mills, off 1½, and Island Creek Coal. American Natural Gas preferred, which is traded in 10 share lots, was also on the "off" side, sliding down some 7 points on an early selling wave.

The pool working in Briggs found the going smooth and on a heavy turnover able to boost the price to a new high for the year. Briggs' recent earnings statement was favorable, and the fact that the company has a big Ford contract is being used for all it is worth by its friends.

Case moved about in an erratic manner, but emerged showing a gain of 3½ points. Peoples Gas, another "fast mover," ran up 10½ points to 275¼. The utility and oil stocks did well as groups and the rails more than held their own.

HEARING ON OIL MERGER SUIT IS ADJOURNED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 23.—Hearing of the government's suit to restrain the proposed merger of the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil company was adjourned here today before Fred L. Williams, special master. It probably will be resumed Friday in Washington.

The adjournment came as the defense rested temporarily with the conclusion of testimony by Edward R. Robinson, president of the Magnolia Petroleum company, Socony subsidiary, who stressed the importance of crude oil supply ownership to any organization competing under present conditions.

Robinson declared that through the merger, Vacuum would have Socony sources made available to it and that the supplies controlled by Socony would be more than sufficient for the needs of both organizations.

A list, purporting to show the principal petroleum companies in the order of their importance, precipitated a spirited discussion at the final session. Harold F. Sheets, Vacuum director, submitted the list to prove that under the merger the Socony-Vacuum company would rank sixth in crude oil resources and fourth in refining capacity among world oil companies.

The government attacked the value of the list on the ground that it failed to take into consideration the financial resources of the various companies.

Mr. Sheets insisted his list gave a more accurate picture of the situation than if the balance sheets had been included.

Mr. Sheets' list gave 1929 crude oil production as follows: Royal Dutch Shell, with subsidiary, but not with associated companies, 175,992,000 barrels; Standard of New Jersey, 161,100,000; Gulf Oil corporation, 100,000,000; Standard of Indiana, 89,425,000; Standard of California, 51,534,000; Socony-Vacuum combined, 57,936,392, and Texas Oil company, 50,675,300.

RAILROAD NOTES

Frederick B. Williamson, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, said yesterday that car loadings on his road since July 1 have shown some improvement, as the grain movement for the first two weeks was about 25 per cent heavier than last year. The increase, he believes, probably will not be so large from now on, although the winter wheat crop in the road's territory is larger than last year. He said that in general corn and other crops are in good condition and that the total business of the road is running about 9 per cent below last year.

After a three-week shutdown the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has reopened its shops at Monclair, N. J., and at Cumberland, Md. Employes numbering 2,800 were involved in the Montclair shop shutdown, while 350 were affected by the closing of the Cumberland shops.

LEGALITY OF STEEL MERGER VOTES CONTESTED

Youngstown, O., July 23.—(AP)—Attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests today hurled specific challenges at the legality of 128,400 of the 857,812 shares of stock which last April 8 were voted to ratify merger between Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Bethlehem Steel corporation.

The challenges were a part of their fight in Common Pleas court to enjoin the merger, and the 128,400 shares attacked were only those voted by trustees, executors and guardians. They have announced they will attack the legality of other proxies later.

The total vote cast at the stockholders' meeting of the Youngstown company represented 949,730 shares and the margin over the two-thirds majority necessary to ratify the merger was 58,071 shares.

If data from which an audit of the Bethlehem corporation was prepared prior to the merger arrive tomorrow, the Eaton attorneys are expected to call George O. May of Price-Waterhouse company, accountants, to the stand for the third time and begin their intended inquisition into the fairness of the merger terms. May was on the stand long enough to say the data is on its way from New York.

SEES BUILDING REVIVAL UNDER WAY IN AUTUMN

E. M. Craig Tells of U. S. and Canada Survey.

BY AL CHASE.

American and Canadian builders report that construction activities in practically all of the large cities of both countries are steadily emerging from the building depression of the last twelve months, and are confident that a pronounced revival of all types of construction activities will commence early in the fall. This announcement was made last night by E. M. Craig, executive secretary of the National Association of Building Trades Employers, following a survey of conditions in the two nations.

"Reports from the builders reveal that tranquil labor conditions are prevalent and wage scales are stabilized, with an absence of any concentrated effort on the part of labor to procure a five day work week," the survey states. "Before the present decline of building there was considerable agitation for the establishment of the forty hour week.

More Home Building.

"In several of the large American cities builders report that the present volume of construction for this year promises to exceed the 1929 building programs.

"Chicago builders predict that the second six months period of this year will see a revival of construction activities. Contractors state that the passage of the recent traction ordinance will develop a home building boom in neighborhoods affected by the new transportation plan."

Plan $250,000 Building.

Excavation has been completed and work will start at once on a $250,000 four story general repair and service building at 1921 Indiana avenue, to be owned by Car Service, Inc. Plans drawn by Holabird & Root call for a stone front structure 90x143, which is scheduled for completion about Nov. 1. The Henry Ericsson company has the general contract. Forest O. Becker is president of Car Service, Inc.; Walter Crowdus is secretary, and John Flanigan is treasurer.

Directors of the Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday approved expenditure of $787,549 for new plant construction in Chicago and for $313,-740 for construction in Illinois outside of Chicago.

UNITED PLYWOOD CORP. FORMED IN 3 WAY MERGER

Consolidation of several companies prominent in the cabinet plywood industry was announced yesterday. The United Plywood corporation has been formed to take over the New Albany Veneering company, New Albany, Ind.; the Breece Manufacturing and United Veneer companies, Portsmouth, O., and the Gause-Beard Plywood company, Memphis, Tenn.

The new corporation will have a total output equaling 40 to 45 per cent of all cabinet plywood produced in the United States, according to E. V. Knight, who will be chairman. It will take over a large contract with the Grigsby-Grunow company, Chicago, radio manufacturers. It will have a daily capacity output of more than 250,000 feet of plywood.

United Plywood has authorized capital of $10,000,000 of preferred and 500,000 no par common stock, of which $3,500,000 preferred and 256,000 common shares will be outstanding. The merging companies will receive stock in the new corporation and there will be no immediate public financing.

FIRST JUNE RAIL REPORTS REVEAL LOWER EARNINGS

New York, July 23.—(AP)—The first eight railroads to report June earnings showed net operating income aggregating $10,368,000, a decrease of 26.7 per cent from $14,137,000 for the corresponding month last year. Net operating income for the same roads for May this year was $10,912,000.

Among the roads reporting, with comparative figures for June last year, were:

	1930.	1929.
M., St. P. & S. S. M.	$ 460,289	$ 877,393
Norfolk and Western	2,803,532	3,722,430
Lehigh Valley	788,739	930,085
St. Louis, San Fran.	1,180,443	1,570,838

A decrease of approximately $3,091,-000 in its net income for the six months ending June 30 as compared with a like period in 1929 is reported by the Norfolk and Western Railway company. The net income for the first six months approximated $14,747,478 equal, after deductions for taxes, charges and preferred dividends, to $10.15 a share as compared with $17,-656,429 or $12.24 a share in the first half of 1929.

Top yesterday, $9.85; average, $8.75.
Receipts at Chicago today, 6,000 cattle, 23,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep.

Declines in hog prices were checked yesterday and some sales at the close were strong to 10c higher, best kinds showing most gain. The extreme top moved up 10c at $9.50, while the general average showed 5c advance at $8.65.

Many of the 7,000 left at the close were being held off the market in hopes of broader shipping demand later in the week. Another decline in the wholesale market for fresh pork loins restricted buying by local interests. Larger houses refused to raise Tuesday's bids. Fresh pork loins at 16@22c were lowest in nearly a month and compared with 13@28c, less than two weeks ago.

Futures Recover Loss.

After a 10@15c lower opening yesterday, hog futures recovered the loss and most sales were made during the last hour of trading. July mediums were sold at $9.15 early, but finished at $9.30. Four carloads of September mediums sold at $9.50 at the close. November mediums were offered at $9.00 on the "specials" board, but $8.25 was the highest bid at the close.

Feeding lambs for August and September delivery were bid $6.75@7.00, black face medium wool 57@62 lb mountain lambs at the outside figure.

Top steers and yearlings held steady again yesterday, due to scarcity of well finished stock, while weakness prevailed in practically all other classes. Butcher stock showed most loss. Forty 1,419 lb steers topped the market at $10.85, while $10.50 was paid for nearly 200 averaging in loads from 945 lbs to 1,142 lbs.

Some medium quality 1,208 lb steers sold at $9.25 and common 650@900 lb averages were bought as low as $5.50. Calves slumped 25@50c. Cattle receipts at the 20 markets in three days at 139,000 show a decrease of 49,000, compared with a week ago, and are 66,000 smaller than a year ago.

Lambs Hit New Low.

Lamb prices hit a new bottom on yesterday's market. Prices reached the lowest level since October, 1921, and were lowest for July since 1915. Previous to 1915 the highest on record was $18.60. A band of range lambs of outstanding quality sold yesterday at $9.85, while bulk of fancy ewe and wether natives brought $9.00@9.25.

One lot to a city butcher reached $9.50. Buck lambs stopped at $8.00@ 8.25 and strong weight culls at $6.00 and below. Aged sheep showed strength, top ewes at $4.25 being highest in several weeks.

Yearlings slumped 25@50c in sympathy with the break in lambs. Feeders were dull and weak to lower at $5.00@7.00, according to quality.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 23,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep; against 6,411 cattle, 19,844 hogs, and 10,434 sheep on the previous Thursday and 6,358 cattle, 21,340 hogs, and 11,770 sheep a year ago.

PROVISION TRADE DULL

Interest in provisions was limited yesterday with little selling early, which eased lard values far a while, but despite the late weakness in wheat there was sufficient strength developed to close lard the same as the previous day after a range of 5c. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d higher. There were export clearances of lard of 478,950. Of bacon clearances were 15,000 lbs. There was no trade in bellies. Hog prices were generally steady with supplies lighter than a week ago but slightly more than a year ago. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter and egg futures closed steady on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, traders appearing inclined to sit back and wait for developments. Fractional gains were made by both commodities, but the advance failed to hold.

Two slightly bullish factors aided in keeping butter prices steady. These were the Land o' Lakes report on the make and prediction for warmer weather for the producing area. The creamery report showed a decline of 14.7 per cent from a year ago and 8.4 per cent from a week ago. Egg trading was the lightest of the year. Sales were: Butter, 89 cars; eggs, 23 cars. Receipts: Butter, 6,431 tubs; eggs, 8,617 cases.

LOWER CLOSE IN COTTON

Cotton prices were higher in the early trading yesterday, but broke toward the last, and closed around the inside, despite the fact that the only rains were in the extreme south and west Texas country, with only a few limited showers elsewhere. There were higher temperatures in interior Texas and southern Oklahoma. The forecast is for unsettled weather through the central areas, but the southeast is expected to be clear. Action of the market was disappointing to holders, especially in the face of the weekly weather crop report, which traders thought should bring in buying and advance prices. The support, however, was poor toward the last. Net losses on new crop futures at Chicago were 20@22 points, while other markets were off 20@29 points. July was weak in all markets, with losses of 25 points in Chicago, 49 points in New Orleans, and 30 points in New York. Trading, however, in the current month was light and supplies are in the hands of the government coops. Liverpool closed unchanged to 1 point net higher. Spots were off 25 points in New York to 12.90c. 20 points in New Orleans to 12.70c, with Galveston 12.50c and Houston 12.45c. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders in the main would like to see a good bull market, but until there is a decided let-up in hedging pressure and a broader outside trade they do not expect a well sustained advance in prices. After the winter wheat movement is over there will be the pressure of spring wheat hedges here and in the northwest. Export buying, while more liberal, is not creating broader speculative buying and most local traders have not sufficient courage or strength to stand long when there is a let-up in the buying.

A Chicago Board of Trade membership sold yesterday at $18,500, an advance of $1,500 over the previous sale. The seller was J. J. Schneltz and the buyer B. C. Kuhlmann.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Spot butter was steady to ¼c higher while fresh eggs were somewhat unsettled. Live hens advanced 1c with other poultry unchanged. Receipts 2 cars by freight. Potatoes steady with receipts 112 cars and 251 cars on team track.
